sympathy and helpfulness. His affection for his College was shown in the most practical manner, and to his work Yale largely owes the Gymnasium. He was for many years an officer of the Yale Alumni Association of New York City.

The funeral took place at Weatogue on Monday afternoon.

The New York Tribune of Sunday said, editorially:

"Arthur M. Dodge, who died on Friday night after a long illness, endured with cheerful fortitude, was an example of perfect fidelity in all the relations of life. He was generous, joyous, hospitable, affectionate. He dearly loved his family, his home, his friends, his College and his country. He was always helpful to his fellow-men, less by a conscious effort than through the sweetness of a nature that could not be unkind. His death will grieve many hearts and sadden many lives."

JOHN FRANK BABCOCK, '85S.

John Frank Babcock, '85S., died on the evening of July 9th, 1896, at his home in Elmira, aged thirty-three years. After graduating from the High School in Elmira he took a year's course at Mt.
