

ALUMNI NOTES.

Conducted by JOHN JAY.

[Graduates are invited to contribute to this column.]

'61—Hon. Simeon E. Baldwin, of the Yale Law School, has prepared a series of selected cases on the subject of railroad law, which are being published by the West Publishing Company.

'74—Peter A. Porter has published a small volume, entitled, "A Short History of Old Fort Niagara."

'83—Miss Sarah Fletcher Blakeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell R. Blakeman, was married to Everett James Esselstyn in New York City, on Thursday, October 29. Willard C. Reid, '85S., Lewis T. Knox, '91, and Dr. Arthur L. Fisk, '83, were among the ushers.

'86S.—William W. Gordon, Jr., was recently elected a member of the Georgia Legislature. He has formed a partnership with A. H. MacDonell, for the practice of law, at Savannah, Ga.

'87—The marriage of Miss Mary Dows Brewster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brewster of New York City, to Oliver G. Jennings, will be solemnized in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City, on Wednesday, December 16.

'87 L. S.—E. F. Thompson, formerly of Thompson and Curtis, has entered into partnership with Messrs. G. W. Delamater, F. H. Clark and W. H. Wilkins, for the general practice of law, under the firm name of Thompson, Delamater & Clark. The offices of the firm are Rooms 19, 20 and 21, No. 184 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

'88—Frank L. Thompson published a communication in "The Dial," of October 16, on the subject of "A World Anthology of Lyric Poetry."

'89—The wedding of Miss Helen M. Hyde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Hyde, of New York City, to Charles A. Valentine, will take place at 4:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, November 25, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York.

'90—Ryland M. Kendrick was married in Athens, Greece, May 14th, 1896, to Miss May S. Cooper, of Rochester, N. Y.

'91—Tra E. Seidle has entered into a partnership with Nathan M. Balliet, of Leighton, Penn., for the practice of law in that place.

'91—James Eugene Farmer is the author of a book entitled, "Essays on French History: the Rise of the Reformation in France; the Club of the Jacobins," to be issued shortly from the press of G. P. Putnam's Sons, N. Y.

'91S.—The engagement is announced of Miss Helen W. Smith to Mr. Homer S. Cummings. Miss Smith is the daughter of Commodore James D. Smith, formerly President of the New York State Exchange. Mr. Cummings is a member of the law firm of Fessenden, Carter & Cummings, of Stamford, Conn., and was the candidate of the silver Democrats for the office of Secretary of State of Connecticut. He was graduated from the Law School in the class of '93.

'92—William S. Haskell has become organist of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal Church of Brooklyn, N. Y.

'92—John K. Tibbits, who has been an instructor at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., has resumed his studies at Exeter College, Oxford, England.

'93—The future address of Ross Burdard will be 115 Worth Street, New York City, care John V. Farwell & Co.

'93—W. B. Boardman, who has been teaching in Bridgeport, Conn., for the past three years, has entered the Yale Law School.

'94—Charles P. Bowley is acting as salesman in the house of James G. Johnson & Co., of New York City.

'94—Albert T. Ryan has been appointed Secretary of the Public Lands Committee of the United States Senate.

'94S.—George R. Brewster was admitted to practice as an attorney of the New York State Bar, October 29, 1896.

'94—Arthur G. Dickson is one of the Board of Editors of the American Law Register and Review, the publication of the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania.

'94—F. T. Persons has become Principal of the David M. Hunt School, Falls Village, Conn.

'94—William R. Moorhouse, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moorhouse, of Chicago, Ill., is to be married to Miss Merry Mitchell, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride on Tuesday, November 17.

'95—William H. Scoville is at his home in Stamford, Conn., recovering from an attack of typhoid fever.

'96—E. S. Oviatt has resigned his position as an editor of George W. Cable's new magazine, "The Symposium," and will go into journalistic work in New York City.

'96 L. S.—C. C. Gilbert has entered the office of Henry G. Newton, of New Haven, Conn.

'96 L. S.—W. L. Tibbs is in the law office of Moran, Kraus and Mayer, of Chicago, Ill.

'96 L. S.—S. G. Meeker is Secretary and Attorney of the North American Investment Company, with offices at Bridgeport, Conn.

'96—J. C. Hollister is studying medicine at the University of Chicago.

'96S.—Earl S. Edgerton is studying law in the office of V. Munger at Ansonia, Conn.

'96—John E. Breckenridge is now chemist for the Liebig Manufacturing Company, Carteret, New Jersey.

'96S.—Daniel E. Brinsmade, Jr., is studying civil engineering in the office of his father in Derby, Conn.

'96—Charles E. Park is taking a post graduate course at the Chicago University.

'96 T. S.—Rev. G. A. Bushee has been ordained Pastor of the First Congregational Church of Roxbury, Conn.

'96—H. A. Spalding has entered the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

'96 T. S.—W. M. Short has become pastor of the Congregational Church at Evansville, Wis.

'96—William R. Cross is in the office of Morton, Rose & Company, London, England.

'96—Edward L. Trudeau, Jr., is attending the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York City.

'96—W. P. Paret is studying at the New York Law School.

Obituary.

AUGUSTUS W. DUNNING, '76.

Augustus Wynkoop Dunning, '76, died of consumption in Orange, New Jersey, on Sunday, October 18, 1896. He was born in New York city, October 3, 1855, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dunning. He prepared for college at the Collegiate School, New York City, and graduated from Yale with the class of 1876. Two years after graduation he went into the dry goods business, and has continued in that line ever since.

Until his marriage, April 12, 1888, to Miss May Bolles, daughter of Thomas N. and Matilda Bolles, of New York, Mr. Dunning had lived in New York City. Since then he has resided in Staten Island, N. Y., and Orange, N. J., where he died. He leaves a widow and two children, Abby Faber Dunning, born in 1889, and Alexander Gilbert Dunning, born in 1890.

The Late Mr. Winthrop.

Of the late H. R. Winthrop, '30, whose obituary appeared in the last issue of the Weekly, it should have been said that he studied law in the office of Chief Justice Daggett, of Connecticut. He was the eldest son of John Still Winthrop, Yale, 1804, and Harriet (Rogers) Winthrop. He left one son, Buchanan Winthrop, Yale, '52, and three grandsons, Winthrop McKim, Yale, 1894, LeRoy McKim, Yale, 1897, and Henry Rogers Winthrop, Yale, 1898.

Last Sophomore Political Club Meeting.

The last meeting of the Sophomore Debating Clubs was held Monday evening, November 2d, at 7 o'clock. The subject of the debate was the currency question. E. B. Boise and G. D. Graves spoke for the McKinley Club; A. E. Jones and E. T. Noble spoke for the Bryan Club. The presiding officer was C. L. Darlington, of the Palmer Club. No decision was rendered.

HARVARD VS. PRINCETON.

A Remarkable Contest Expected at Cambridge—Chances for Princeton.

Cambridge, Mass., November 3.—Only four days intervene before Harvard meets Princeton on Soldiers' Field in what promises to be the greatest football game played here in seven years. It was seven years ago that the last game between the Crimson and the Orange and Black was played in Cambridge, and that game resulted in the breach between the two colleges which kept them apart in athletics until two years ago. Before the game, Princeton had protested some half dozen or more of Harvard's players on the ground of professionalism. Harvard responded by protesting every man on the Princeton eleven. With such bad blood manifest, the game could hardly have been otherwise than it was. In the first half the home team more than held its own, but after the intermission the Princeton forwards ripped up the Harvard line and so demolished the defensive game of their opponents that the backs were able to score almost at will. The final result was, Princeton 41, Harvard 15. After the game Harvard students held a mass meeting and resigned from the Intercollegiate Football Association. This year the teams will meet on a new field across the Charles. The men who were spectators at the previous game have long since graduated, and the game has become ancient history. Last year the meeting of the two universities at Princeton was signally free from any objectionable features and the Princeton team will be cordially welcomed to Harvard next Saturday.

GOOD SHOWING AGAINST THE INDIANS.

The game between Harvard and the Indians last Saturday was the first strong showing of the home team this season. It insures a good game with the Tigers. In spite of the absence of Wrightington, Cabot, Wheeler and Haughton, Harvard stood up well before the strong Carlisle team and showed unexpected steadiness at critical moments. The fierce plunges of Cayou, Metoxen and McFarland made many gains, and several times drove back the Harvard line for forty yards or more, but the Crimson never failed, when the situation grew dangerous, to promptly call a halt. The splendid stand which the team made in holding the Indians on the five-yard line was especially worthy of remark. The weak places in the Harvard line were at left end and guard, and the two tackle positions. Cabot will be in his old place at left end on Saturday and there will be no weakness in that quarter then. Wheeler may be able to play one of the tackle positions. It is Harvard's misfortune that, with Newell and Waters, two of the greatest tackles that ever played football, as active coaches, she has yet been unable to strengthen these places in the line. Wheeler, Donald, Haughton and Merriman have all been disabled and compelled to withdraw, and in consequence there has been no opportunity to perfect the play in these positions.

Behind the line, Beale at quarter showed improvement last Saturday, as he always does in a big game, and Dunlop played the best game of his football career, making brilliant runs repeatedly and showing that he is capable of taking a place among the best half-backs of the year. If he duplicates his performance next Saturday and Wrightington is able to play, there will be no longer any ground for apologizing for Harvard's backs. Brown at fullback punted well last Saturday and will not suffer greatly by comparison with Baird if the line protects him as well as it did last week.

THE PROBABLE CHARACTER OF THE GAME.

The probable line-up of the Harvard team is after this order: Cabot, left end; Wheeler or Mills, left tackle; Bouve, left guard; F. Shaw, center; N. Shaw, right guard; Merriman, right tackle; Moulton, right end; Beale, quarter-back; Wrightington, or Sullivan, left half-back; Dunlop, right half-back; Brown, full-back.

There is no question that Princeton is stronger than Harvard, and the game on Saturday should result in a Princeton victory. But the score should be close and touchdowns will be few if Harvard succeeds in handling Baird's punts cleanly and preventing Brown's kicks from being blocked. But although Har-

E. W. EMERY

246 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK

Tailor...

Correct Styles for

Dress, Business
Golf, Riding
Bicycle Suits

TIFFANY & CO.

Makers of Corporate and Fraternity Seals and Dies Silver Testimonials Athletic Prizes Class Pins Society Emblems Engraved Invitations and Stationery for the Leading Universities Colleges and other Educational Institutions.

Cuts of Watches and Chains sent upon request.

UNION SQUARE
NEW YORK.

vard should keep Princeton's score down to small figures, it is very doubtful whether she will be able to reach the Princeton goal line. Her backs are strong, but her play on the offensive is not sufficiently perfected to be effective against a strong opponent.

In the game on Saturday, Princeton's best gains are likely to be made between center and left end and through right tackle. It may prove, also, that Moulton will not be equal to preventing gains around his end, and as he is better at getting through interference from behind than meeting it when it is headed in his direction. Harvard's best gains are likely to be made, as for some years past, by forcing the opposing ends out of the play and sending the runner behind interference around the tackles.

If Harvard loses, and she probably will, it will be, in large measure, because she has not sufficiently mastered the kicking game. Her coaches are not lacking in knowledge, but owing to the necessity that they have been under of instructing a large number of players in those essentials which must be mastered before a kicking game can be attempted, they have been unable, thus early in the season, to obtain any such mastery of punting tactics as marked Yale's play and baffled the Tigers in the New York game last November.

J. WESTON ALLEN.

University Association Formed at Hawaii.

The University Association of Hawaii was organized about two weeks ago in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall, Honolulu. Professor J. T. Crawley, of Harvard, who may be said to be the founder of the Society, opened the meeting, at which about twenty college graduates were present. Rev. Douglas P. Birnie, '78, was elected temporary chairman and Professor J. T. Crawley, Secretary. Among the names enrolled as members were those of the following Yale graduates:

- A. F. Judd, Yale University, A. B. 1862, A. M. 1865; LL. D. 1894.
- D. P. Birnie, A. B. Yale University, 1878.
- W. D. Alexander, Yale University, B. A. 1855, M. A. 1858.
- Lyle A. Dickey, A. B., Yale University, 1891, LL. B., Lake Forest University, 1894.
- W. F. Frear, Yale University, A. B. 1885.

The following were chosen officers for the period of one year: A. F. Judd, '62, President; D. P. Birnie, '78, Vice-President; J. T. Crawley, Secretary and Treasurer; A. F. Judd, '62; J. T. Crawley, W. R. Farrington, C. M. Hyde and S. M. Ballou, Executive Committee.