college he studied medicine, for some time at the Yale Medical School, and in after life was engaged in the practice of his profession at Moodus and Colchester, Conn.

In 1865 he was married and had one child, Rexford Ruel, born November 26, 1866, at East Haddam, Conn.

CHARLES EDGAR SMITH, '65.

Charles Edgar Smith, '65, died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., on December 8th, very suddenly of pneumonia.

He was born at Machias Me., on December 25, 1839. He prepared for college at Phillips Academy, Andover and was graduated from Yale in 1865. While in college Mr. Smith was one of the editors of the Yale Literary Magazine. In July, 1864, he enlisted in the Sixtieth Massachusetts and served three months in the army, returning to college in November.

After graduation Mr. Smith began the study of law in Boston, where he was admitted to practice. He soon left Boston, finding the climate too rugged for his constitution and removed to Northampton, Mass., where he continued the practice of his profession until the fall of 1872, when he removed to New York City to open an office with James E. Chandler, '65. At Northampton he held the position of Trial Justice for several years. He removed to Colorado in 1880, and practiced law in Denver until 1885, when he became engaged in mining and real estate. Mr. Smith was for several years the editor of the "Boulder Sentinel." On November 12, 1874, he married Miss Margaretta W. Moffit. Two children were born to them.

CHARLES THEODORE WEITZEL, '69.

Rev. Charles Theodore Weitzel, '69, assistant pastor at Plymouth church, Brooklyn, died in that city on Sunday, Dec. 20, 1896, of meningitis, resulting from an attack of malaria.

He was born in Buchan, Wurtemberg, May 12, 1847, but came to this country in his early boyhood and lived in Hartford, where his father was for many years a practicing physician. He was prepared for college at the Hartford High School. After graduation he taught school for three years in Yonkers, N. Y., and then went abroad for two years of study. He completed his theological studies at Union Theological Seminary, New York in 1875, and was for ten years pastor of the First church of Norwich, Conn. In 1885 he moved to Santa Barbara, California, on account of his wife's health, and remained there for eight years as pastor of the First Congregational church. His wife died in 1892, and a year later he left Santa Barbara, and spent a year in travel in Europe and the East.

While in Germany he met Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, and soon after his return to this country was offered the position of assistant pastor of that church. He had been actively engaged in that work from the Fall of 1894 until his death a fortnight ago.

The Outlook says of him: "Mr. Weitzel was a man of unusually winning personality. His genial disposition, human sympathy and cultivated attainments peculiarly fitted him for the purely pastoral side of parish work, which was his special charge in Plymouth church. His wife whose literary work done under the pen name of 'Sophie Winthrop,' readers of the pages of the Christian Union and The Outlook will recall with interest and affection, died in Santa Barbara a few years ago."

He was married in 1872 to Sophia Winthrop Shepherd. Two children had been born to them, but both died, one in Germany and one in Norwich.

WILLIAM LYMAN, SPECIAL '72 S.

William Lyman, special '72 S., of Middlefield, Conn., died in New York on Friday, December 20th, of pneumonia. Mr. Lyman has for several years suffered from lung trouble, and had an attack of pneumonia last October, from which he had but partially recovered.

He received his early education at Durham Academy, Conn., and in 1871 entered the Sheffield Scientific School for special work. He was the inventor and manufacturer of the famous Lyman rifle and shotgun sights, which have practically superseded all other special sights.

For the past two years he has been interested in perfecting gun sights for military use, and has spent most of that time in Europe, introducing his principles in England and Germany, with considerable success. In 1891 Mr. Lyman represented Middlefield in the Connecticut Legislature. He was unmarried.

CHARLES P. WOODBURY, '78.

The death of Charles Putnam Woodbury, '78, occurred at East Morris, Conn., last Wednesday of pneumonia. He was connected with the Connecticut Building and Loan Association in Hartford, and was taken ill at East Morris, while on a visit.

He was born at Norwalk, Conn., July 11, 1857. He fitted for Yale at East Hampton, Mass., and during his Senior year at college was captain of the Dunham Boat club. After graduation he assumed charge of the Staples Free School at Easton, Conn., for one year, at the same time pursuing the study of the law. He graduated from the Yale Law School in 1881, and began practicing at Norwalk Conn. In 1882 he was elected Assistant Clerk of the Connecticut House of Representatives and in 1883 was made Clerk of the Connecticut Senate. Owing to the breaking down of his health he was obliged to give up his law practice and move to a milder climate. In 1885 he settled in Ashland Kan. and soon became engaged in the business of banking and negotiation of mortgage loans, as president of a mortgage loan company. He returned East about three years ago and settled in Norwalk, Conn.

Mr. Woodbury was the son of I. B. Woodbury of Norwalk and leaves three brothers and one sister. They are: Mrs. Mary P. Nelson of New Brunswick, N. J.; I. B. Woodbury of San Francisco, Cal.; R. P. Woodbury, secretary of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange at Kansas City, and F. H. Woodbury of Kansas City.

DR. F. ARNOLD MANNING, '81.

Dr. F. Arnold Manning, '81, of whose death an announcement was given in the Weekly of December 10th, took the medical course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, graduating in 1884, and then received after examination an appointment to the staff of the New York Hospital, paying special attention to the surgical work there. In 1887 he was appointed attending surgeon to the Manhattan Hospital. He developed a good private practice and had made an excellent name for himself both as a man and a surgeon, when, in 1894, he developed tuberculosis and had to give up his work. He went to the Adirondacks for one year and from there to Denver where he died as has already been announced on the 3rd of last month.

The funeral was in South Coventry, Conn.

GEORGE D. COLTON, '88 S.

George D. Colton, '88 S., died on New Year's Day at his home in Collinsville, Conn. He prepared for College in the High School of Collinsville, graduating in 1882. A few years later he entered the Sheffield Scientific School, from which he graduated with the class of 1888. After graduation he held many positions as draughtsman, being employed at different times by the Coe Brass Company of Torrington, the Waterbury Brass Company and the Pope Manufacturing Company of Hartford. He has suffered for a number of years with consumption, which became worse until he was forced to give up work. For several months he had been confined to his room. He was about 35 years of age.

Intercollegiate Golf.

A meeting of representatives of Yale, Harvard and Princeton was held at the University Athletic Club, New York, last Thursday, to consider the formation of an inter-collegiate golf league. Rev. Roderick Terry, chairman of the golf Committee of the Ardsley Casino, presided. The delegates drew up a rough draft of the proposed constitution which will be submitted to the different college clubs, but no definite organization will be formulated until later in the year. The United States Golf Association has indorsed the proposition to hold an annual intercollegiate match open to all colleges in the country, and will act in an advisory capacity.

A. R. E. Pinchot, '97, and R. Terry, Jr., '98, represented Yale. R. Terry was elected president of the association, and J. H. Choate of Harvard, secretary.

WHAT IS ### INHALER ?

X-ODE is a product of electricity. It forms on asbestos while being electrically treated in a solution. This asbestos is put up in a glass vial. When the cork of the vial is removed and the air comes in contact with the asbestos, it emits from the inhaler a soothing gaseous substance, which will penetrate any part of the body. When inhaled through the nose or mouth, it penetrates every nook and crevice of the mucous surfaces, kills the germ that causes the disease, and gives the tissues a healthy condition, thus effecting a permanent cure. It is unlike snuff, drugs or medicine. X-ODE penetrates parts that it would be impossible for drugs or medicines to do.

Catarrh, Asthma, Hay Fever, Coughs, Headache, Bronchitis, LaGrippe, etc., yield to its influence with marvelous rapidity.

This inhaler lasts from one to three years.
Trial size inhaler, 15 cents; large size inhaler, $1.00. All druggists or by mail.
