

THE NINE WINS TWICE.

Best Game of the Season Played Against Brown.

Yale's play against Brown on Saturday, in which she gave the Providence nine their first collegiate defeat of the season, stands out as a most encouraging incident in the athletic situation. It was good base ball on both sides and the best of it was that Yale won on her batting. The story of the game is told below.

There is some chance, as the WEEKLY goes to press, that Goodwin, 1900, will soon be in good physical condition again and be able to rejoin the University squad and become one of Yale's catchers. This would mean a strengthening of the nine, but the matter is unsettled yet.

Mr. George B. Case, '94, coached the nine Tuesday in preparation for the Lafayette game. The practice was sharp and hard.

YALE, 9; AMHERST, 2.

The University nine defeated Amherst at Amherst, Wednesday, April 28, by the score of 9 to 2. The game was very one-sided from the beginning, Yale scoring a winning lead of three runs in the first inning. Yale's batting was fairly strong, but her fielding was very uncertain. The game was lost by Amherst by some very bad errors made at critical points. Hamlin and Fincke led in the fielding for Yale, and Hamlin, Keator and Letton at the bat.

YALE, 6; BROWN, 2.

The University Nine played the first important home game of the season, against Brown University, Saturday, May 1, and won by the score of 6-2. A very close game had been expected and Yale's strongest team was in the field. No score was made in the first four innings and good base ball was played by both sides. The interest was keen during the entire game, and though Brown was never in the lead, yet no confidence of victory was allowed the home team until the last man had been retired. The teams were very evenly matched in the field, but at the bat Yale was much more successful.

The work of the Yale team showed the effects of hard practice and careful coaching in the field. A very pretty play was made in the second inning. Gammons and Cook, of Brown, were on third and first bases respectively. The latter tried to steal second but Bartlett threw down to Hamlin, who attempted to catch him between first and second. While he saw them occupied in this play, Gammons thought he saw a chance to steal home, but Camp was watching him and threw to Bartlett just in time to put him out. This play was executed with considerable confidence and very smoothly. The Yale men understood what they were about all the time.

The work of both pitchers was excellent. Greenway allowed only three hits and Fearey only four, and both showed excellent head work. The fielding of both men was also faultless. Fincke, Camp and Hamlin filled their positions well, all making brilliant plays and working carefully and confidently. The work of the outfield was flawless, except for a muff by Hazen of a rather difficult liner. His error was not costly. Bartlett proved an excellent back stop except on two occasions. He had one passed ball, which gave Brown a base, and muffed an easy throw home, allowing Lauder to score Brown's second run. He seemed well able to hold both Greenway and Fearey, but has a disposition to become nervous at critical moments.

In batting, the Yale nine hit hard and often safe, in spite of the fact that eleven men were struck out by Brady. Keator, Greenway and Fearey were the strongest in this line. The Yale Captain's record in this respect was flawless. He seemed able to hit just as he wished to. Greenway drove to right center for a home run in the ninth inning, with one man on base, and clinched the victory. The weakest point in Yale's work was in base running. Once the fault seemed to be in the coaching and at other times the runners took too many chances, when only one man was out. In a closer game, this carelessness would have been more costly.

Brown played a strong and steady fielding game but was not able to obtain safe hits at critical points in the game. They had several chances to score by the addition of batting, but the Yale pitchers and strong fielding prevented. In the field Phillips, Fultz and Brady did the best work, while Lauder, Rodman and Dunne led at the bat. The score:

THE FRESHMAN GAMES.

The Freshman Base Ball Team defeated the team of the Hillhouse High School in a very loosely played game at the Edgewood Field, Wednesday, April 28, by the score of 15 to 3. Clarkson and Eddy played with the Freshmen for the first time. The pitching was somewhat better than in previous games, although there is still room for improvement. The batting order for Yale, 1900, was as follows: Newcombe, c.; Bronson, s. s.; Ferguson, r. f.; Lyon and Clarkson, c. f.; Eddy, i. f.; Crawford, 3b.; Russel, 1b.; Norton, 2b.; Dunleavy and Whittlesey, p. The score by innings was as follows:

Yale, 1900	3	4	0	0	1	4	1	2	0	15
Hillhouse	0	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	3

YALE, 1900 VS. DEAN ACADEMY.

The Freshman base ball nine was defeated by Dean Academy, Saturday, May 1, by a score of 11 to 5. The game was played on the Dean Academy grounds at Franklin, Mass, which were in very poor condition. The Freshman team was crippled by the loss of Norton, Dunn and Eddy, who were prevented from going by examinations in the Scientific School. The game was loosely played, the batting was weak, the base-running very poor, and the throwing wild. The pitching was unsteady. The Dean Academy nine was strong at the bat and fielded fairly well.

SPRING ATHLETIC GAMES.

Good Records in the Track Events. New Material Developing.

The annual spring games of the Yale Athletic Association were held at the Yale Field, Wednesday, April 28, and proved more successful than had been generally expected. The time of 10 1-5 seconds in the 100-yard dash, made in both the final heat and the first of the trial heats, by Graff and Byers respectively, was very good, considering the light wind that blew down the track against the runners. In the quarter mile run also Fisher made the circuit of the track in 57 seconds in spite of the wind. The finish in the 220 yard dash was the closest of the afternoon, the three first men finishing not two feet apart. Butler, 1900, walked a fine race, covering the mile in 7 minutes and 2-5 seconds. The half mile run was another race deserving of mention. Hinckley won in 2 minutes, 3-5 seconds, but was not pushed at all. In the pole vault two men were tied for first place with the bar at 11 feet, and Cheney covered the very creditable distance of 22 feet 2 inches, in the broad jump. The other field events showed no very good material.

The full list of events with times of the winners, follows:

100-yard dash—First, Graff; second, Byers; third, Garvan. Time 10 1-5 seconds.

120-yard hurdle—First, Perkins, '98; second, Thompson, '97; third, Van Ingen, '97. Time, 16 1-5 seconds.

Throwing the hammer—First, Hickok, '97S.; second, Marshall, '99S.; third, Chamberlin, '97S. Distance, 115 feet 9 inches.

All who competed in these games will be entered for the dual meet with Harvard, and the final choices will be made shortly before that meet takes place. The following additional men have been taken to the athletic team training table at 250 York Street: F. V.

The spring designs for colored shirts shown this year in the haberdashers' windows include some of the most boisterous and disorderly patterns ever exhibited in New York. The possibility of seeing them flaunted in public by American citizens is not to be faced without forebodings and dismay.—E. S. Martin in Harper's Weekly.

Yale Winners at Princeton.

Yale entered the eighth annual handicap field and track athletic games open to all amateurs under intercollegiate rules, held at Princeton, Saturday afternoon, May 1, under the auspices of the Princeton University Track Athletic Association. The points scored by the different colleges entered were as follows. Princeton 35, Yale 17, Lawrenceville 17, Columbia 11, Harvard 10, Pennsylvania 9, Haverford College 10, Swarthmore 1.

The following are the places in the events won by Yale men: Two-mile bicycle race—Won by E. Hill, Jr., handicap 20 yards; time, 4 minutes, 58 seconds. One-mile walk—Third place, by J. P. Adams, 1900; handicap 60 seconds. 120-yard hurdle—Second place by F. T. Van Beuren, '98; handicap 3 yards. 220-yard dash—Third place by F. V. Chappell, '98 S.; handicap 11-2 yards. 220-yard hurdle—Won by P. Van Ingen, '97; handicap 3 yards; time, 25 4-5 seconds. Second place by E. C. Perkins, '98, scratch.

Spring Football Practice.

The Spring football practice began April 22, under the supervision of W. T. Bull, '88S. The 20 candidates for positions back of the line who reported were divided into two squads, one practicing at 10 a. m. and the other at 4 p. m. After this week the work will be optional and will be held three times a week. The kicking has steadily improved, and Mr. Bull's assistance at this time will prove of especial benefit next year, as he has started the candidates along lines of practice which they can carry on by themselves to great advantage. A kicking contest will be held, May 24. P. T. Stillman, '95S., is expected soon to coach the candidates for center.
