YALE'S NEW TEACHERS.

Sketches of the Men who Enter and of Those who Leave.

The recent meeting of the Yale Corporation put into effect a large number of changes in the Yale Faculty, which will materially add to the number and strength of the teaching staff of the University. Brief sketches of those men who are to come to Yale, of those in new positions, and of those who are to leave here at the end of this year, are given herewith:

PROFESSOR LINDSLEY.

The retirement of Professor Charles Augustus Lindsley from the Faculty of the Yale Medical School takes away from the corps of instructors of that department a valued member. Professor Lindsley has been connected with the School for thirty-seven years. For twenty-five years he was dean of the Faculty. Last year he tendered his resignation, wishing to give up active work in the School, but, by special request of the Corporation, he remained as the incumbent of his professorship till the close of the present year, when he will retire. The Corporation have made him Professor Emeritus.

PROFESSOR ELY.

Dr. John Slade Ely will succeed Dr. Lindsley as Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine. Dr. Ely graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School in 1881, after which he spent two years in Post Graduate work under Professors Lounsbury and Chittenden. He then went to Johns Hopkins University where he studied Chemistry and Physiology and from there he went to the College of Physicians and Surgeons, from which institution he obtained the degree of M. D. After obtaining his degree he received the appointment of interne at Bellevue Hospital, New York. He has spent eighteen months studying in the principal cities of Europe and held professorships at the College of Physicians and Surgeons and at the Woman's Medical College of the New York Infirmary. He comes from the later institution. His writings and experience indicate him as unusually well qualified for his new position.

PROFESSOR GRUENER.

Professor Gustav Gruener graduated from Yale in the class of 1884. During the year of 1884-5 he was a scholarship student at Yale, at the end of which time he was appointed instructor in German, which position he held until June, 1887, resigning to pursue his studies in Germany. After spending two years abroad he returned, and was appointed a tutor in German. In 1892 he was made assistant professor.

It is only necessary to add that there is no difference of opinion as to the wisdom of the Corporation's action in Professor Gruener's case and a large amount of personal satisfaction and pleasure among other members of the Faculty and both graduates and undergraduates.

PROFESSOR WURTS.

Professor John Wurts, who has been made a full professor in the Law School, was graduated from the Law Department of the University in 1884. He spent several years in Florida, where he was most successful in the practice, particularly of corporation law. Two years ago he returned and was installed as an instructor. For the past year he has been assistant professor in elementary law, contracts, and real property.

PROFESSOR RICHARDSON.

Professor Oliver H. Richardson was graduated from Yale in the Class of Eighty-nine, in which he took high scholarship rank. After graduation he taught at Colorado College, Colorado Springs, for a year or two and then studied in Germany for a year. He then went to Drury College, where he held a Professorship in History. For the last two years he has been abroad. He took his Doctor's degree at Heidelberg, in 1897.

Professor Richardson has published a work on the National Movement under Henry III, which has received very high commendation. His work at Drury was rated most valuable, and great regret has been felt there that he should leave. Professor Richardson's home is in New Britain.

E. F. GALLAUDET.

Edson F. Gallaudet, who has been appointed instructor in physics, was graduated from Yale in the class of 1893. Since then he has spent three years at Johns Hopkins University, studying electricity and physics. From this university he obtained a Ph. D. He then went to Pittsburg, and entered the office of the Westinghouse Electrical Company for the purpose of obtaining a practical knowledge of electrical appliances. He will sail for Europe shortly, and will return to take up his work next Fall.

E. B. REED.

Edward Bliss Reed was born in Lansingburgh, N. Y., on August 19, 1872, and soon afterward his family moved to Holyoke, Mass., where their home has been ever since. Mr. Reed's father was a clergyman. Soon after his graduation, at the age of 22, he went abroad, and he has been pursuing his studies in European countries. He will return in the Fall to take the position of tutor of English in the University. At Yale he was elected Fence Orator in Freshman year, and in Junior year was one of the speakers at the Junior Exhibition. Mr. Reed was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and occupied the position of Chairman of the Yale Record and editor of the Yale Literary Magazine. He was the class poet at the Commencement exercises.

DR. THOMPSON.

Dr. Guy V. Thompson, who has resigned his position as Tutor in Latin, was born in Grand Rapids, Mich. He prepared at the Grand Rapids High School and then entered the University of Colorado from which he graduated with the Class of 1888. After graduation he came to Yale as a post-graduate student for a year and then returned to Grand Rapids, where he taught for two years at the High School, from which he had been graduated. He returned to Yale and devoted a year to post-graduate work and in 1892 was appointed Tutor in Latin. Dr. Thompson received his degree of Ph.D. from Yale in 1894. In December, 1896, he married Miss Uhl, daughter of the former United States Ambassador to Germany.

Dr. Thompson feels obliged to leave New Haven on account of his health, which is in such a condition as to indicate a dryer and more stimulating climate as the proper one for the present. He will take a position in the Latin Department of the University of Colorado, at Boulder. Dr. and Mrs. Thompson will leave New Haven during the last of this week or the first of next. They leave a very large number here, both of Dr. Thompson's pupils and of the college family of New Haven, who very much regret their going, and will hope to see them here again before a very long time has gone by.

MR. JOSEPH BOWDEN.

Joseph Bowden, who has resigned his position at Yale, was born in Cornwall County, England, February 10, 1869. Shortly afterwards, his parents came to America and settled in New Haven, where he later entered the public school, graduating from the Hillhouse High School in 1887. He took his degree from Yale in 1891, standing sixth in his class. He took the first prize in mathematics during his junior and senior years and for two years after graduation, held the Foote Scholarship. During the year 1892-1893, Mr. Bowden was an assistant in mathematics in the Sheffield Scientific School, and in the following Fall was appointed Tutor in mathematics in the Academical Department, a position which he has since held. Mr. Bowden wrote the chapters on Solid Geometry in Phillips' and Fishers' Geometry, published in 1896. Mr. Bowden's plans for the future are not announced. There is not a little reason to regret his departure from Yale, where his work has left a very excellent impression.

ANOTHER CHANGE.

The resignation of Professor Cameron has already been treated of in the Weekly. The changes subsequent thereto in the Scientific School, have not been announced.

SENIOR SOCIETY ELECTIONS.

Names of Juniors Chosen on the Campus Thursday.

The elections to the three Senior Societies were given out last Thursday afternoon on the Campus in front of Durfee. The elections were begun promptly at five o'clock and were all finished a few minutes after six o'clock. The usual crowd, including a number of ladies, but mostly made up of undergraduates and graduates, thronged the end of the Campus and the windows of the adjoining dormitories. There were no refusals and only one unusual incident. Williams, who was later taken to Wolf's Head, was "slapped" by mistake early in the afternoon by Gillette, of Skull and Bones. The error was noticed by the Senior, when the two had proceeded some distance towards the Junior's room, and Williams was notified of it. The latter returned later to the crowd, where he subsequently received an election, as noted above. The incident has been used by the Hartford Courant to call attention to what it calls an improper method of announcement of elections. The criticism is based on the publicity of the action, as intensifying the disappointment of those who fail to receive elections.

Below are given the names of the men chosen, and of those who gave the elections, with a brief statement of the college record of each candidate. The societies are named in the order of their foundation and the names of the new men are printed according to the order in which the elections were given out:

SKULL AND BONES.

James Wolcott Wadsworth, Jr., Genesee, N. Y., given by George Clymer Brooke. Mr. Wadsworth prepared for college at St. Mark's School. He is a member of He Boule, Delta Kappa Epsilon, the Delta Kappa Epsilon campaign committee and the University Glee Club, and played on his Freshman baseball team.
