

YALE'S BOATING VICTORY.

Wisconsin Crew Defeated at Lake Saltonstall.

The University crew rowed their race against the University of Wisconsin at Lake Saltonstall, Saturday, May 29, and won by three or four lengths. The start was considerably delayed, partly owing to the necessity of changing the rigging in the Yale boat. The pistol did not announce the beginning of the race till 6 o'clock. For the first hundred yards there was no preference. The Yale stroke started at 40 to the minute, but gradually was lowered to 33, which was the average of the rest of the race. The Wisconsin stroke was kept pretty high during the entire race, and for the first half mile the Westerners held their shell very close to the Yale boat. Their stroke was shorter than the Yale stroke and involved less body motion. After the first half mile was passed Yale drew ahead and increased her lead to about two lengths at the one mile post. The Wisconsin men rowed an exceedingly plucky race, and for the last half mile prevented Yale from gaining at all. They were somewhat exhausted at the finish, but recovered immediately. The Yale crew made a strong finish, all the men being in excellent condition. Their time was 10 m., 54 s., which was considered by the Yale boating men fairly good in the face of a light head wind that blew up the lake. The water was otherwise as favorable as could have been asked for.

The names and weights of the crews were as follows:

WISCONSIN.

Stroke, M. E. Seymour	156
7 A. R. Anderson	172
6 L. F. Austin (Capt.)	164
5 H. A. Lake	184
4 L. Olson	150
3 H. R. Chamberlain	162
2 W. C. Sutherland	160
Bow, A. F. Alexander	154
Cox., H. R. Crandall	114

YALE.

Stroke, G. Langford	174
7 W. E. S. Griswold	172
6 F. W. Allen	184
5 P. H. Bailey	181
4 P. D. Mills	170
3 H. G. Campbell	171
2 P. Whitney	172
Bow, D. F. Rogers	166
Cox., L. F. Greene	107

Harlem Regatta.

A crew composed principally of the members of the second University eight took part in both the Junior and Senior eight oared one mile shell races, held under the auspices of the Harlem Regatta Association on May 31. The crew from Yale, known as the Harlem Club of Yale University, was made up as follows for the Junior race: J. C. McLaughlin, bow; R. Hitchcock, 2; J. C. Greenleaf, 3; W. P. Slocovich, 4; S. Paterson, 5; H. Parkhurst, 6; G. T. Marsh, 7; T. D. Hewitt, stroke; G. L. Ward, coxswain. The crew which rowed in the Senior race was slightly different, J. O. Rogers taking S. Patterson's place at 5, and Patterson supplanting J. C. Greenleaf at 3. T. L. Clarke was coxswain.

In the Junior race, the crews got off well and made a grand race throughout. The New York Athletics, Yale and First Bohemians forged ahead at the half. The finish was an exciting one, the New York Athletics winning from Yale by half a length, and the First Bohemians coming in third, only a length behind. Columbia finished a fair fourth, a length ahead of the Lone Stars. Time, 5 minutes, 36 1-2 seconds.

A very fair start was made in the Senior race. The Atlantas and Unions showed the best form and began to draw away from the others. No. 4 in the Yale boat broke his stretcher which threw his crew out of the race. The Atlantas won by two lengths from the Unions with the First Bohemians and Columbia, third and last respectively. Time, 5 minutes, 4 1-2 seconds.

Crew Leaves for New London.

The University crew and substitutes left for New London Wednesday, June 2. They will remain there till June 19, and then go to their quarters at Poughkeepsie. The men will be at Christopher Brown's house, at Gales Ferry. The shells and launch were sent at the beginning of the week. The Freshman crew will join the University crew on June 9. The following men comprise the University crew and substitutes: P. H. Bailey, '97 (captain); G. Langford, '97S.; P. Whitney, '98; D. F. Rogers, '98; J. C. Greenway, 1900; F. W. Allen, 1900; H. G. Campbell, '97; W. E. S. Griswold, '99; G. T. Marsh, '98; P. D. Mills, '97S.; coxswain, L. F. Greene, '99.

CRIBBING.

instances of punishment for this misdemeanor, but these instances are of too small proportion to the number of cases actually occurring, or else are not sufficiently severe to have the desired deterrent effect. There is much of suspected cheating that is never reported, and much more that is never suspected; until, among many men, the feeling has grown up that cheating may be done with impunity.

I submit that this should cease to be the case, and that the same high standard of personal honor essential to the character of a true Yale man should be insisted upon in the classroom as well as on the field; and that, so long as different standards exist, there remains a standing appeal to all alumni and undergraduates who feel that cheating is dishonorable for such a change of attitude and expression of sentiment as to create an atmosphere in which it can not live.

Respectfully,
Clement G. Clarke.

New Haven, May 31.

Base Ball News.

Early this week Goodwin, 1900, who had been expected to catch for Yale in the game with Princeton on Saturday, suffered a quite severe attack of indigestion, from which, as the WEEKLY goes to press, he is rapidly convalescing. He is, however, quite weakened by the attack and can not resume ball playing at present. Under these circumstances F. T. Murphy, '97, who caught last year, has joined the base ball squad and will in all probability be Yale's back stop in the game on Saturday.

The rest of the nine are in quite good condition, and the University expect a good showing from them in the coming games with Princeton and Harvard. There is no doubt of hard battles ahead with both, and there is no over-confidence, but a generally hopeful feeling. Neither the Harvard nor Princeton players showed as good form as was expected of them in the tie game played on Tuesday in this city, but it is felt that both may much improve their form before the games with Yale.

YALE 22, LEHIGH 3.

The University nine administered an overwhelming defeat to the Lehigh team in an uninteresting and loosely played game at the Field Wednesday, May 26. The final score was 22 to 3. The home team had no difficulty in hitting the Lehigh pitcher, and batted out 23 hits with a total of 38 bases. The fielding of Lehigh was very poor, and their batting very ineffective. Greenway held them down to four hits in five innings, and then gave way to Keator, who finished out the game. Yale's fielding was very clean, Camp being the only one to score errors against his name. Reed, Farnham and Keator played much of the game for Yale, and Goodwin showed up well behind the bat. His throwing especially was quick and accurate. The score:

BROWN 19, YALE 9.

The University base ball team was defeated by Brown in the third game of the series at Providence on Saturday, May 29, by a score of 19 to 9. The Yale team played well together and their batting was exceptionally good. The Brown team batted very hard and earned a good part of their runs. The fielding of both teams was excellent.

The features of the game were the batting of Letton, Wallace, Fultz and Phillips, and the brilliant work of Camp at short stop.

Score by Innings.

Yale	0	1	0	3	2	3	0	0	0	—	9
Brown	4	1	6	5	0	3	0	0	1	—	19

Summary.—Earned runs, Yale 2, Brown 5. Two-base hits, Letton 2, Finecke, Wallace 3, Phillips, Fultz, Cooke, Lauder, Gammon 2, Rodman, Cassey. Bases stolen, Yale 1, Brown 4. Bases on called balls, off Hecker 3, off Hamlin 4, off Sedgwick 6, off Summersgill 2. Struck out, by Hecker 1, by Hamlin 3, by Sedgwick 2, by Summersgill 2. Passed balls, Goodwin, Dunn. Wild pitches, Hamlin. Time of game, 2 hours, 15 minutes.

Harvard vs. Princeton.

In the third game of the Harvard-Princeton series, played at the Yale field on Tuesday, June 1st, Princeton won by a score of 2 to 0. The afternoon was cold, a brisk north wind blowing. The side grand stands were well filled and a number were in the covered stands. Princeton was represented by about fifty men, who supported their team well with cheers. The Harvard delegation was not so large. Jayne played a very good game for Princeton, giving very few men bases on balls and fielding his position well. Houghton played the best game for Harvard and was applauded often when at the bat.

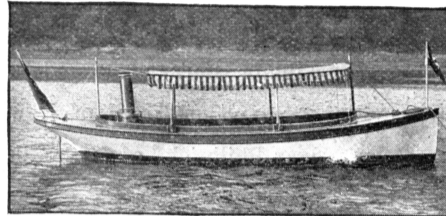

Following are the batting orders:

Harvard—Rand, l. f.; Houghton, 1b.; Beale, c. f.; Scannell, c.; Stevenson, 3b.; Burgess, r. f.; Dean, 2b.; Chandler, s. s.; Paine, p.

Princeton—Bradley, c. f.; Wilson and Jayne, p.; Altman, r. f.; Butler, s. s.; Kelley, 1b.; Smith, 2b.; Kafer, c.; Hillebrand, 3b.; Sankey, l. f.

Princeton made one run in the first inning, the other in the sixth. Harvard played an errorless game, but made only three hits. Princeton made three errors and six base hits, of which three were made by Kelley.

The Lampson Will.

The will of the late William Lampson, '62, will come up for probate on Monday, June 28, at which time all objections to his disposal of the estate may be publicly brought forward. A report is current that it will be contested by Mrs. L. A. Brooks, of St. Paul, Minn., an aunt of Mr. Lampson, on the ground that the will was executed when Mr. Lampson was of unsound mind, caused by the shock of the news of his brother's death, ten days before. With the exception of about $35,000, the entire estate was left to Yale University.
