'89 Ph. D.—Professor William O. Krohn, who holds the Chair of Psychology in the Illinois State University at Champaign, has recently perfected a very delicate piece of machinery for measuring thought. It is called the chronoscope. It is thought the instrument will be particularly valuable in the treatment of mental disorders. A branch experimental laboratory has been established at the Kankakee Hospital for the Insane, where already 25,000 experiments have been made. The Chicago Sunday Tribune says: "It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the scientists interested in the experiments that the presence of insanity is made discernible by the machine before acute symptoms have manifested themselves, thus pointing the way to prevention, which is always better than cure. But its use is not limited to this purpose merely, for with it a diagnosis can be made in cases of pronounced mental alienation that could be made in no other way, and with an accuracy that will distinguish the one-hundred-thousandth part of a second as exactly as the anatomist can measure the one-thousandth part of an inch."

are preparing to earn their own livelihood—some in professions—others in the BUSINESS WORLD.

Many of these on leaving the University will want to know what will best promote their prospects in a business way. A young man receives the best general education at Yale, but even after graduating he may need to specialize in the vocation he intends to follow. In preparing for a business career it is of course advantageous for him to fit himself adequately for his chosen pursuit.

Many College men have found profit in taking one or more of our special courses. It is therefore not unreasonable to suppose that others would be glad to know of
