

YALE'S FOOTBALL OUTLOOK.

Murphy and Butterworth Coaching.
Capt. Rodgers Improving.

On Saturday, the 25th, Mr. F. T. Murphy, '97, finished his work as coach for the Yale eleven, at least for the present. He had taken care of the men during the preliminary practice up to that time and had made considerable progress in the examination of the early candidates, and in starting the training along certain fundamental lines. Mr. Murphy enters the Harvard Medical School this Fall and will have little time to do any further coaching.

Before he left for Boston, however, he and all other Yale men were glad to welcome in New Haven Mr. Frank Butterworth, '95, who is to be with the candidates for some time at least, and it is hoped for a long while. He has already put a great deal of life into the action of the men. His appearance here, together with the return of Captain Rodgers, who is apparently in most excellent health, have been two very encouraging features in the situation since the last issue of the WEEKLY. Mr. Rodgers quite amazed his physician by the rapidity of his recovery. He weighs over 190 pounds, more than ever before in his life, and looks unusually well. He puts on his football clothes every day and coaches, but does not think of playing immediately.

At the time of the last issue of the WEEKLY, Mr. Benjamin, from whom the facts about the eleven were secured, did not expect to see Chamberlin of last year's eleven among the candidates. The report had come from apparently excellent sources that he had changed his purpose of last year. Hence the statement in this paper that Mr. Chamberlin would not return. It was since learned that Mr. Chamberlin cherished his original plan and his appearance among the candidates is another agreeable fact in the news of the last two weeks.

As to the candidates, it is worth while to say that considerable weight for the line has appeared, and if the policy shall be to develop a line of great avoids, there will probably be considerable material for it which will average well towards the Harvard and Princeton figure. For the center positions, the two principal candidates so far are Cutten of the Theological School, weight 210, and McFarland, of about 190. Richard Sheldon, '98 S., Cadwallader of the incoming Freshman Class in the Academic Department, whose weight is 240, and Charles Chadwick of last year's team, who has just entered the Law School, are the principal candidates for guard. Mr. Sheldon's health is improved over last year and it is thought he will be in good condition for the game. A large number of men of upwards of 180 pounds in weight appear as possible tackles. Among them may be mentioned McGee and Allen of last year's Freshman crew; Marshall, a Scientific School Junior; Durston and Sutphin.

The possibilities back of the line depend largely, as it looks at present, upon Mr. Butterworth's ability to develop men in the department of football in which he was pre-eminent. One of the recent changes is the playing of Chamberlin, last year's center, at full-back.

Mr. Wallace, '89, has already taken a look at the candidates and he is expected over from Ansonia frequently to contribute to the coaching.

Until college opens the football management is running a temporary training table at 250 York st., giving board to the football candidates at a moderate price until the college eating clubs open up.

After college opens a regular training table will be started at 250 York st.

The line-up, as arranged for the Trinity game, at Hartford, Sept. 29, was as follows: Schweppe, l. e.; Sutphin, l. t.; Allen, l. g.; Cutten, c.; Sheldon, r. g.; Durston, r. t.; Hall, r. e.; Ely, q. b.; Benjamin, h. b.; McBride, h. b.; Chauncey, f. b.
