The Sheff. "Rush."

The wrestling matches between the Sophomores and Freshmen in the Scientific School, which, like those in the Academic, are the sole survivals of the old time rushes, occurred last Saturday night. In the lightweights, Grey, 1900 S., overcame Verrill, 1901 S. the strong man. In the heavy weights Richards, 1900 S., won from Hurr, 1901 S. The middle weights Clapp, '99 S., threw Knowlton, 1900.

A large part of the Scientific School joined the parade which started for the grounds on Cold Spring st. at eight o'clock. The line of march was through Hillhouse ave., Trumbull and Temple streets to Whitney ave. The Second Regiment Band led the procession. A score of students burned red fire and shot Roman candles, and a very grotesque and not altogether pleasant effect was given by the costumes of the vanguard, numbering thirty or forty, who tried every form of unbecoming and highly colored array, which is affected by either sex.

Obituary.

JAMES P. GRAY, '47.

James Presley Gray, '47, died at Benoit, Miss., September 25, of sorosis of the liver. He was the son of Ben Presley Gray and Ann Eliza (Offut) Gray, and was born at Newtown, Scott Co., Kentucky, December 16, 1824. When ten years of age his parents removed to Versailles, Kentucky, from which place he entered the Sophomore class of Yale in 1844.

From 1847 to 1855 he was engaged in buying and selling bank and railroad stocks. He then became a cotton planter in Mississippi. After the civil war, in which he took an active part, he became a contractor, building railroads and levees. He retired from business a few years ago on account of ill health.

On December 2, 1856, he married Miss Louise Hoyt of Woodford Co., Kentucky, who is now deceased. They had six children, of whom three daughters are living. One of his sons, who died in 1873, was preparing to enter Yale. The oldest of his daughters is married to Mr. S. T. Rucks, of Memphis, Tenn.; the second to Mr. H. W. Wiggins, of Benoit, Miss.; the third to Mr. L. T. Wade, of Mayerville, Miss.

Distance and ill health prevented Mr. Gray from attending the Jubilee anniversary of the class at New Haven last June.

W. F. SANDFORD, '72.

W. F. Sandford, a member of the Class of Seventy-Two, died at the Mulanphy Hospital, St. Louis, June 13, 1897, of nervous prostration following an attack of paralysis. Mr. Sandford went to St. Louis in 1872 and became a teacher in the Branch High School. In 1881 he became principal of the Polytechnic School, and when all the schools became centered in the Grand Avenue Building he was made assistant principal, which position he held with great credit till the time of his death.

His remains were buried in Bangor, Maine, where he had formerly lived.

WM. T. BARBER, '73.

William T. Barber, '73, died September 24th, at his home at West Chester, N. Y.

William Townsend Barber was a son of the late William E. Barber, of West Chester. He was born December 14th, 1853. He entered Williston Seminary, at East Hampton, Mass., where he graduated in the Classical Department in 1869. At Yale, from which he was graduated in 1873, he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

On leaving college he made a trip to Europe for the benefit of his health. He began the study of law in the office of William E. Barber, Esq., his father, on December 15th, 1873, and was admitted to the bar of Chester county on December 16th, 1876.

Mr. Barber went at once to New York City, and for a year practiced law there, residing during that time at Yonkers, on the Hudson, but returned to West Chester at the close of the year 1877, and has since then been engaged in the practice of his profession in this place until within a few days of his death.

Mr. Barber was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of West Chester, of which he was a Trustee since January, 1884. He was Secretary of the Bar Association of Chester County for six years prior to January, 1897, when he resigned on account of ill health. He was for a number of years a member of the Examining Board for admission of students to the bar, and a member of the Committee on Rules. He was also a member of the West Chester Trust and Relief Society, and was on the Executive Committee for a long period prior to October, 1896, at which time he resigned because of failing health.

Mr. Barker married, in 1875, a daughter of the late John Haldeman, of Lancaster county, Pa., who, with one daughter survives him.

The papers speak highly of his legal attainments. A fellow lawyer, writing of him, says: "He was of great aid to the Court in the consideration of a cause. He was frequently chosen by the Court as auditor and master in important cases, and was on the examining board, both in preliminary examination for the study of the law and

"A New Haven House Dinner."

That's the synonym, in the vernacular of Yale, for satisfaction to the inner man.

Not only when economy, real or fancied, has been practiced at the expense of digestion and with a daily threat at appetite, but even when well pleased with his "joint," the student seeks about so often every term this tonic and luxury.

That only indicates how things have been done at this well known hotel for the more than a quarter of a century in which it has been under the management of Mr. Seth H. Moseley and his son, Mr. William H. Moseley.
