

THE YALE-PRINCETON GAME.

The Line-up—The Officials—Special Trains To and From New Haven—Directions for Reaching Field.

The annual Yale-Princeton football game will be played at the Yale Field on Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock. This will be the first championship match played in New Haven since the completion of arrangements for college football games on college grounds, and hence will mark an important era in the history of Yale athletics. The final arrangements for disposing of the immense crowds which will assemble have been completed, and at each university, captains and coaches are making every effort to add the finishing touches to their elevens.

The teams will probably line up as follows:

PRINCETON
	x Wheeler
Reiter or Kelley x		Bannard x
	Baird x
Hazen x Cochran (Captain)	Rogers x Hillebrand (Captain)	Chadwick x Edwards or Marshall
Dudley x	Cadwalader x Booth	Brown x Crowdis
	Chamberlin x Holt	Hall x Creigh
	desautels x	Benjamin x
	McBride x
YALE
THE OFFICIALS.

Paul J. Dashiell of Lehigh, who has been selected to act as umpire, has officiated in championship games for the past five years. William Langford of Trinity, who will act as referee, has been an official in a number of large games during the past season, notably the Princeton-Lafayette game.

The minor officials have not yet been decided upon.

SPECIAL TRAIN ARRANGEMENTS.

Special trains will run to and from New Haven on Saturday, as indicated below:

A train composed of parlor cars will be run from New York to New Haven in sections, Saturday morning, the first section leaving at 10.15. Other New York specials will be run as sections of the 10.03 train.

The special New York trains returning, will begin running at about 5.15, and the various sections will go as soon thereafter as they are filled.

The Princeton Club has a special train leaving New York at 10.35 Saturday morning. The Princeton undergraduates have a special train leaving New York at 10.40 Saturday morning. Both of these trains will return shortly after the close of the game.

A train will be run from Springfield Saturday morning at 10.15, stopping at Hartford, Berlin and Meriden. Returning, this train will leave New Haven at 5.30.

A special train will be run from Stamford, leaving there at 10.45 Saturday morning, stopping at South Norwalk and Bridgeport. It will leave here to return, at 5.20.

Directions.

The gates of the Yale Field will be open at twelve o'clock.

At noon special cars will leave from Temple street and the New Haven House, and will run continuously, as the size of the crowd requires. The service will be as satisfactory and complete as it is possible to make it; but it is urged that those to whom it is convenient will make an early start. Carriages will be required to go out Chapel street, across West river, Central avenue, Perry street and Tryon street to Derby avenue. No carriages will be allowed to go beyond the intersection of George street and Derby avenue.

Each stand will have a special colored ticket. The color of the East stand tickets is blue; of the South stand, yellow; of the North stand, pink; and of the West stand, green. The main entrance is so divided that those having tickets for the East and South stands will take the road fenced out to the left, and those having tickets for the North and West stands will take the path to the right. In order that no confusion can possibly take place, a large corps of policemen will be at hand, to assist in directing the crowd. Besides the New Haven police force, which will be sworn in as special constables by the Orange authorities, there will be the whole constable corps of Orange. Ushers have been appointed for each stand, and can be easily distinguished by their white badges.

Nearly 16,000 seats have been sold. The large seating capacity of the grand stands has made it possible to fill all undergraduate and graduate applications for seats, although some of those who applied for side stand seats have been allotted seats in the end stands, because of the larger demand for the former.

There will be no general admissions.

Yale's Condition.

The Yale eleven are in excellent condition and apparently show no ill-effects from their hard battle with Harvard. The work on Monday was light, consisting principally of work on the signals. Tuesday, an hour was spent in secret work, followed by a short but hard practice half against the College. Dudley returned on Monday and was played in his former position at half-back. Marshall took Chadwick's place at left-guard in Tuesday's practice.

Yale 1901 10—Princeton 1901 0.

The Yale Freshman eleven defeated the Princeton Freshmen in their annual football game at Yale Field last Saturday. The playing of both teams was loose. Princeton used mass plays constantly, but were frequently thrown back with a loss. Considering the poor play of the Yale Freshman team during most of the season, the strength of the line was at times surprising. Townsend, Auchincloss, White and Dupee behind the line did good work. Townsend's run of 20 yards through the visitor's team was one of the features.

Darkness stopped the game with several minutes of playing time unused.

The line-up and summary follows:

Thompson left-tackle-right	Hart
Richards left-guard-right	Rand
Hale center	Coyle
Richardson right-guard-left	Swartz
Kelly right-tackle-left	Mattis (C)
Coy right-end-left	P. Jones
Ware (C) quarter-back	Duncan
Townsend left-half-right	C. Jones
White
Dupee full-back	Black

The officials were: Umpire, Irving Brink of the Central University, Kentucky; referee, E. J. Little of Trinity; linesmen, T. S. McClane of Yale, and H. O. Homans of Princeton; touch-downs, Richards one, and Townsend one; goals, Richards one. The first half was thirty-five minutes; the second, thirty minutes. Final score, Yale Freshmen 10, and Princeton Freshmen 0.

Yale Freshman Statistics.

The following are the statistics of the Yale Freshman eleven:

THE ONCOMING OF PRINCETON.

All Players but Kelly are Fit—The Harvard's Score is Pleasing to Princeton—The Registration Rule Probably Waived.

[Correspondence of YALE ALUMNI WEEKLY.]

Princeton, November 16.—The Yale game next Saturday is the absorbing topic of discussion at Princeton just at present. Scarcely anything else is talked of at the eating clubs or by the coteries of undergraduates who gather at various places during the day. The result of the Yale-Harvard game has only intensified the feeling. Princetonians shared the feeling of a great many others previous to that game, that Harvard would win. They had a selfish interest, however, in desiring Yale at least not to be defeated, in that their own game with Yale would thereby be made the more important. The result, therefore, was quite satisfactory to Princeton men in general, though it must be said that the remarkably strong showing of Yale was an excellent antidote for the feeling of overconfidence that had shown itself.

It is altogether likely that the majority of Princeton undergraduates would have much preferred to have had the Yale-Princeton games continue to be held in New York City. The extra inconvenience, however, of the trip to New Haven will do little, if anything, to diminish the crowd of Princetonians that will attend the game this year. A portion of the grand stand at the Yale Field has been reserved for a "Princeton Cheering Section." Only one ticket to an applicant is allowed in this section, and the applicants must be Princeton undergraduates or alumni. Eleven hundred seats were sold for this cheering section, so it is quite probable that Princeton will be heard from next Saturday. Cheer leaders have been appointed, and several new parodies on old and well-known songs have been composed for the occasion. The University Glee Club will sit in the middle of the cheering section and lead the songs.

A mass meeting of the undergraduates was held in the gymnasium Monday night of this week, to practice the new songs and stir up general enthusiasm for the game. The meeting was aimed to let the team know that the undergraduate body was heart and soul back of them, as well as also to warn the members of the eleven against the slightest degree of over-confidence. The meeting was addressed by Dr. Wilton W. Smith, and Mr. Job Hedges, of New York City, Mr. Alexander Moffatt, and others. These meetings are held every year shortly before a championship game, and always do a great deal of good.

PRINCETON TEAM PLANS.

The University team and substitutes will leave Princeton next Friday afternoon and spend the night at New Haven, probably at the New Haven House. The expenses of each member of the Scrub team will also be paid to New Haven and return, although the men will be under no special care. The Scrub team will break training Thursday afternoon. The University players and substitutes who will be taken to New Haven under the special care of Trainer McMasters will be as follows: Ends, Cochran, Creigh, H. Lathrope and Schwartz; tackles, Holt, Hillebrand, Geer and Potter; guards, Crowdis, Edwards and Dickey; center, Booth; quarter-backs, Baird and Rosengarten; half-backs, Bannard, Kelly, Reiter, G. Lathrope and Crane; full-backs, Wheeler and Ayres. Several coaches will accompany the team, as will also the University Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs. The team will have a special car for the trip, both from and to New York and New Haven, the train to leave New Haven at 6:35 Saturday evening. Upon their arrival in New York all who have played on the University team at all this year will be tendered a dinner.

THE UNDERGRADUATE PILGRIMAGE.

The undergraduates who will attend will be leaving Princeton all day Friday and Saturday morning. Most of them will spend the night in New York and go up to New Haven by the "Princeton special," which will leave New York about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. This train will carry no one except Princeton undergraduates, and most of these will return by the same train, leaving New Haven at 6:35 P. M., to which will be attached the car containing the members of the eleven. It will be impossible, under the circumstances, to enforce the old rule requiring students to register in Princeton before midnight the day of the game, so it is quite likely that no registration will be required this year.

PRINCETON'S STYLE OF PLAY.

The style of game Princeton will utilize at New Haven will differ little from that used on Manhattan Field last year. It is hardly likely that this will be such a rushing game as was that one, as Princeton has learned a lesson from last year and knows how to protect her full-back for punts. With two such able punters back of the line as Baird and Wheeler, therefore, Princeton will attempt to make good use of their abilities. The ends back formation with the mass on tackles and ends is a play as characteristic of Princeton as is the guards back formation of Pennsylvania, and in mass plays this year Princeton will probably be found true to her traditions. Several trick plays have been experimented with during the season, but these have all been more or less hazardous in execution, and have consequently been abandoned in favor of the good old-fashioned method of hard straight football. All emphasis will be put upon team play and sure work. The men will be discouraged from attempting any "grand stand" work, but Captain Cochran will urge upon his men to play carefully and steadily. Previous to the captaincy of Garrett Cochran it used to be a well-known fact that Princeton had one or two "quitters" upon her eleven. Cochran, however, has thoroughly demolished that custom, and Princeton's team this year, as was the one of last year, will be prepared to do or die.

THE CONDITION OF THE PLAYERS.

At the present writing all of the players except Kelly are in good condition. Armstrong is no longer counted as a member of the squad. He was severely injured several weeks ago and is permanently out of the game. Kelly came on the field the first of last week, after having been in the infirmary for a couple of weeks, and showed excellent form, but in Wednesday's practice his neck was wrenched and he had to be sent to Philadelphia to be treated. He will practice this week, however, and may be able to go in at the first of the game next Saturday. He is one of the best line-buckers and tacklers on the gridiron to-day, and if he is in any sort of condition his services will be well worth utilizing for at least a part of the game.

Three days of hard practice followed by two days of easy work was the schedule for this week. Thursday a short half will be played, and Friday merely the signals will be gone through with. Especial care will be taken of the men, and no risks will be taken. At present none of the players seem to be overtrained, and the trainer will exert himself to the utmost to see that this does not occur on the part of any of his protegés.

The line-up as stated last week still holds. The only question now is as to who will start in as right half-back, Kelly or Reiter. Otherwise the team will be: left-end, Creigh; left-tackle, Holt; left-guard, Crowdis; center, Booth; right-guard, Edwards; right-tackle, Hillebrand; right-end, Cochran (captain); quarter-back, Baird; left half-back, Bannard; full-back, Wheeler.

Facts About Princeton Players.

[From The Princetonian.]

Garrett Cochran, '98, Captain, played end on the Lawrenceville team three years before entering Princeton, and captained the team during his last year. Since entering college he has played on the University eleven at end and full-back. This is his second year as captain. He is 21 years old, 5 feet 11 inches high and weighs 176 pounds.

A. Hillebrand, 1900, prepared for Princeton at Andover, where he played guard on the team. He is now play-
