NOTES-ON THE GAME.

Management, in their arrangements for the game, were most effectively assisted in the care of the newspapers by Julian W. Curtiss, '79.

As to the condition of the field, every one wondered at it. The two feet of straw that had been spread over it had done wonders. Mr. Garrison, of last year's management, came up from New York to aid in the last hours and gave great help.

The only flaw in the handling of the crowds at the game was the apparent inability of the police to prevent men from standing in the open place before the stands.

The celebrations after the game didn't injure New Haven. A bonfire was kept upon the Campus until two or three o'clock in the morning, and nearly the entire College joined the celebration sooner or later.

The team was given an impromptu banquet at the New Haven House after the game. All the coaches and many alumni were present.

Football Suits.

The following members of the University football squad have been given suits: M. U. Ely, '98; E. E. Marshall, '99 S.; M. L. McBride, 1900; J. O. Rodgers, '98; Charles Chadwick, L.S.; F. G. Brown, 1901; John Hall, P.G.; C. A. deSaullles, '99 S.; C. T. Dudley, 1900 S.; B. C. Chamberlin, P.G.; G. L. Cadwalader, 1901; A. F. Corwin, '99 S.; H. F. Benjamin, '98 S.; J. J. Hazen, '98; A. S. Post, '98 S.

A Boston View.

[Editorial in Boston Herald.]

Some describe it as Yale spirit, and others call it Yale grit. By whatever name it is designated, there is no doubt that the collegians of New Haven have a way of surmounting difficulties in athletics that is not adequately explained by the calculations of those who undertake to measure the chances of victory by sizing up the qualifications of individual players. Ten days ago the Yale football players were regarded as inferior to their rivals by experts everywhere, as well as by their own followers. Now they are fairly entitled to the place at the top of the list. Let the exponents of the game seek to explain things as they choose, it is, nevertheless, a fact that Yale's dogged determination to go in and win against any odds accounts in a large measure for most of her triumphs.

Freshman Game.

The Yale Freshman team was defeated by the Harvard Freshmen by a score of 34 to 0 at Cambridge Saturday afternoon, November 20. Harvard's interference was much the better of the two and they had a slight advantage in weight. Yale relied greatly upon mass plays and these met with success until Harvard mastered this style of play. For Yale, the best playing was done by Coy, Auchincloss and Richards; for Harvard, by Reid, Talbot and Kasson. The ground gaining was by straight line-bucking. Harvard's first touchdown was scored by Reid, and Lawrence kicked the goal. Talbot made the next touchdown, but Lawrence failed to kick the goal. The half ended with the ball in Yale's possession; score, 10 to 0.

In the second half Auchincloss and Hallowell were both hurt, and were replaced by White and C. Daly respectively. Reid secured the ball on a fumble and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Lawrence again kicked a goal. The other three touchdowns were made by Kendall, Reid and Ellis. All three goals were kicked by Lawrence.

Pennsylvania Defeats Harvard.

The football eleven of the University of Pennsylvania defeated that of Harvard on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on Saturday, by the score of 15 to 6. The play throughout was very fast, and the Quakers won only by superior team work. Harvard's touchdown was made by Parker after a sensational run of sixty yards. Captain Minds, Pennsylvania's full-back, far outclassed Haughton. Every exchange of punts gave the former a gain of from five to fifteen yards. Shortly after the game opened Minds kicked a goal from the field, and ten minutes later he was pushed over for a touchdown. Hare made the last touchdown for Pennsylvania in the second half.

Ninety-Five Smoker.

The members of the Class of Ninety-Five held a smoker at Heublein's on Wednesday evening, November 17. The following men out of thirty members of the class now in New Haven were present: Walter H. Allen, Edward W. Beattie, Edward C. Baldwin, Frederick S. Franklin, John J. Dunn, Clarence W. Halbert, Hugh T. Halbert, Clement G. Clarke, Frederick Ives, George D. Kellogg, Norton A. Kent, Lloyd Lowndes, William G. McCann, John K. Moore, Phelps Montgomery, Samuel Peterson, Charles G. Morris, Edward C. Jones, H. S. Scarborough, Edward G. Kendall, James M. Kendall, Roger W. Tuttle, and Benjamin I. Spock.

Semitic Club.

The 10th annual meeting of the Semitic Club was held November 16. This club was organized by Professor W. R. Harper, October 24, 1887. During the ensuing year a study of the Torah will be pursued. C. S. Macfarland, P. G. was elected President; J. P. Deane, '98 T. S., Secretary. These with Dr. H. W. Dunning, '94, form the Program Committee.

Junior Fraternity Elections.
