On account of the death of Patrick Murray, the veteran hackman, the carriage arrangements have been turned over to Mr. Kirk. The system of taking carriages to and from the concert, germans and Prom. will remain the same as under Mr. Murray's management.

As usual, the Prom. will be held in the Armory on Meadow street. Last year a new floor was laid which, when polished, proved a better dancing surface than that afforded in previous years by covering the floor with crash or canvas. This year the floor will be thoroughly cleaned and waxed, and should be in even better condition than last year.

THE DECORATIONS AT THE PROM.

Koster of New York has had charge this year of the interior decoration of the Armory. The prevailing colors he has chosen to use are Turkey red and white. The ceiling will be festooned with light blue. Combinations of the red and white will cover the walls and will be brought into contrast by black and gold Japanese hangings so arranged as to form alternating panels.

Smilax will be used to cover the girders which support the roof and for the floral trimmings in general. Banks of palms and both cut and potted flowers will be used for decorations at the entrance, stairways and background. All the floral decorations will be furnished by Champion of New Haven.

The supper arrangements are to be in the hands of Maresi of New York.

As usual, there will be eighteen regular dances, eighteen intermissions and five extras. The music for the Prom. will be furnished by Landers of New York. His orchestra will play the waltz music and his band will play for the two steps and in the intermissions.

The dance orders for the ladies are white leather, having a blue and gold seal, with gold streamers on the front and the word "Yale" woven about a wooden spoon. The orders for the men are slightly smaller, of dark russet leather, with the same seal. Both contain the regular dances with composers and spaces for dances, intermissions and extras.

NO FLOWERS.

In the line of eliminating unnecessary expenses, the Ninety-Nine Committee has followed the lead of previous Prom. Committees in voting that flowers should not be sent to the young ladies. It is to be hoped that the men who attend the Prom. will abide by their decision, so that the custom may be well established.

D. F. Brennan Dead.

Daniel J. Brennan, the proprietor of Osborn Hall Pharmacy opposite Osborn Hall, died suddenly of heart disease Monday night, January 17, at his home in this city. He was about 26 years of age and was widely known by Yale men. He was unmarried.
