THE PROM CONCERT.

The Hyperion Theatre was crowded on Monday evening when the Glee and Banjo Clubs gave their thirty-second annual Prom concert. The audience was a typical Prom concert one, and lacked none of the enthusiasm of former years. The program rendered by the clubs was almost the same as that given on the Christmas trip.

The Freshmen in the upper gallery were much in evidence. They made more noise, let loose more cards and displayed more ingenious devices than for many years. Most of what they did was harmless, but not a little was in bad taste, and there was altogether too much of it.

As the Banjo Club came on the stage to begin the concert several pigeons bearing the Class numerals were let loose. Two large rag dolls, one dressed in crimson, and the other in blue, were also run out on wires and made to collide to the damage of the crimson doll.

"Brave Mother Yale," a new song, the words by C. E. Merrill, Jr., '98, and the music by T. G. Shepard, was heartily applauded, and as an encore "Neath the Elm" was sung. At this point the Sheff. Freshmen let loose their flag amid great cheers from the Class. This was soon followed by a much larger one raised by the Academic Freshmen, who tried to cover up the Sheff. flag, but were unable to do it.

Mr. Butler was compelled to respond to several encores after singing "Dawn," the best one being "Kitty." A whistling solo by A. R. Baldwin, '98, as an encore to "Chanson" made one of the hits of the evening. The solos of Mr. Parker, Mr. Sheehan and Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Van Beuren, were each enthusiastically received, and four and five encores had to be given in each case. "The Sweep Quartette" which made such a hit on the Christmas trip, was kept singing as long as its members had anything left to sing. The program follows:

PART I.

1. "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa Banjo Club.
2. "Brave Mother Yale," Merrill, '98, T. G. Shepard
3. "Dawn," Mr. Butler and Club.
4. Chanson.
5. "The Long Day Closes," Sullivan
6. "Tutti-Frutti," Glee and Banjo Clubs.

PART II.

1. "Up the Street," Morse Banjo Club.
2. "Old King Cole," G. B. Nevin Mr. Sheehan and Club.
3. "At Twilight Time," Mr. Parker and Club.
4. "Serenade Waltzes," Victor Herbert Mandolin Club.

5. "Negro Melodies," Mr. Schreiber, Mr. Wadsworth, Mr. Butler, Mr. McLaughlan.

PART III.

1. "The Scorcher," Rosey Banjo Club.
2. "Battell Chimes," Mason, '99, Ives, '98 Mr. VanBeuren and Clubs.
3. "B-A. BA," Carmen-Yalen
4. "Bluff," Mr. Wadsworth and Club.
5. "Bright College Years," Durand, '81

ALREADY A STRONG TRADITION

Yale is a place full of tradition. Traditions not only govern the conduct of Freshmen, the relation of classes and the status of institutions, but also the business dealings of the new comer. They direct him where to go for the necessaries and the luxuries of life.

Some of these traditions become strongly entrenched in a few years, and there is generally a very good reason for it. We think if you will communicate with our store by a personal call or by correspondence, you will see why the tradition has become so strong in a few years among Yale men to get their furnishings of
