The Chicago Annual Dinner.

On Friday evening last, February 18, the Chicago Alumni Association held its 32d annual dinner at the University Club, Chicago. The dinner like most of its predecessors was entirely successful. About one hundred and twenty-five were present.

The toast list follows:
 President's Address,
 David B. Lyman, '64.
 The Yale Spirit of the 70's,
 Frank H. Jones, '75.
 What Harvard Thinks of Yale,
 Frank Hamlin, Harvard, '84.
 A Few Memories,
 Amos Parker Wilder, '84.
 Princeton Inn,
 James S. Harlan, Princeton, '83.
 How the Chicago and Yale Spirit are Allied,
 Carter H. Harrison, '83 L.S.

In his speech D. B. Lyman, the President of the Association, referred to the W. C. T. U. proposed boycott of Yale. His remarks were received with approval by those present. He said:

"With the sparkling wit, the froth and foam which is to follow my serious remarks, we shall all drink the elixir of life and be young again. Perhaps in using this expression I shall be sadly misquoted. Only last week I was assailed by a reporter with a map. He pointed out Cambridge, with Harvard College marked 'dry'; also Princeton College marked 'dry'; New Haven and Yale marked 'wet.' I examined the map more closely and found in brackets: 'Harvard always damp and foggy; Boston and the Atlantic Ocean very wet'; 'Princeton damp and supplied with 'Jersey lightning'; 'New Haven no wetter than any of the others; 'New York, Philadelphia and Chicago always flooded.'

"The reporter then read to me a letter addressed to our Faculty; announcing that the boycott was on and that our Association was included. I assured him that we could be as hilarious on our regular drink, 'aqua Michiganii,' or 'aqua Hygeia,' as the ordinary Harvard or Princeton graduate is on 'Scotch dew.'

"But you must decide what you will do about it," he insisted. I replied: 'Our Faculty has considered and dealt with this subject for nearly 200 years with great success. The graduates, as a class, are temperate, able, intelligent, pure and clean, and are quite willing to leave the subject in the future, as in the past, to the Faculty, and will support them in any course they see fit to adopt.'

"We have no fear that an unjust boycott will injure our Alma Mater. We honor and respect the purpose of the ladies who are the authors of the address to our College. We heartily sympathize with every movement which is intended to save our young men from the temptations which surround them, even though we are unable to endorse the methods proposed to attain the desired results. Unwise and extreme measures often defeat the success of good purpose."

A. P. Wilder, '84, also defended Yale vigorously against recent attacks on the morals of Yale students.

A special feature of the meeting was the unveiling of a picture of ex-President Porter, the gift of the University Club.

LIST OF GUESTS.

Those present were:
 '59—Joseph H. Andrews.
 '62—Franklin MacVeagh.
 '64—David B. Lyman.
 '66—Leslie Lewis, George W. Young, John C. Patterson.
 '69—Henry V. Freeman.
 '71—Azal E. Hatch.

The Family's Point of View.

IF you are thirty-five years old and are in good health, and are earning $100 a month, your life, on which this earning depends, is worth $22,700 in cash to-day to your family. If you die they lose the $100 a month, the equivalent of which is the $22,700. The cash value of your life to them is therefore $22,700. They lose that if you die.

You have made your family dependent on you: dependent on that $100 a month. You have put them at the risk of losing it by losing you.

If you had a piece of property which was bringing you in $100 a month and it stood a chance of being destroyed and so cutting off your income, you would not rest until you had taken enough of that $100 a month and insured yourself against the loss of it. You would consider that you had not done your duty by yourself until you had so protected yourself effectually.

Your life is just such a piece of property to your family: you have made it so. They need just that same effectual protection against its loss which may come any day. And they cannot protect themselves. They rely on you for that as much as they do for the $100 a month itself. They need protection against that loss even more than you need protection against the loss of your property. But they cannot have it unless you give it to them.

You have exposed them to the loss: you have made them dependent on you: you alone can protect them in their dependence.

THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Makes its plans from the family's point of view: to give them the most absolute protection, at the least cost to you and with perfect equity to both. It will be glad to serve you and your family in this great matter.
