tached to the midnight train for Washington over the Baltimore and Ohio R. R., arriving in Washington on Thursday morning. In the afternoon a game will be played with the Georgetown University team. At seven o'clock the team will leave Washington by boat for Old Point Comfort, Va., and will arrive there the next morning. While at Old Point Comfort the men will be quartered at the Hygeia Hotel. The game with Hampton will be played on Friday afternoon. Friday night will be spent at Old Point Comfort and the 8.30 A. M. train on Saturday will be taken for Richmond, arriving there about two hours later. The Jefferson House will be the team's headquarters while there. The first of two games with the University of Virginia will be played at Richmond on Saturday afternoon. Sunday morning will be spent in the city, and at 2.15 that afternoon the team will go to Charlottesville, where the second game with the University of Virginia will be played on Monday. A special sleeper, ready for occupancy at 10 P. M., will be attached to the 3.21 A. M. train for Washington, arriving in that city a few hours later. Here the second game with Georgetown University and the last of the trip will be played on Tuesday afternoon, and the team will leave on the midnight express over the B. & O. R. R. for New York, from whence the members will return to New Haven according to their own convenience.

Carter Coaches the Candidates.

W. F. Carter, '95, came up from New York last Thursday and remained with the University Baseball Team through Saturday. His coming at such an opportune time, just before the Easter Trip, proved a great help to Capt. Greenway. Mr. Carter gave special attention to the batting of the men, a feature which is being attended to with unusual care this year. He himself pitched to part of the men each afternoon while a local pitcher pitched to the others. Each candidate was very carefully watched and his form in batting was coached and criticised, more attention being given to hitting the ball properly than to hitting it hard.

But little team work has yet been attempted, only the simplest plays being tried in the daily practice.

On Thursday, J. J. Hazen, '98, who has been playing in the outfield, was substituted for L. W. Robson at third base, and has since filled the position regularly. Robson has shown himself a sharp fielder, but is uncertain at the bat.

The team has played as follows the past week: First base, J. W. Wadsworth, Jr., '98; second base, C. A. H. deSaulles, '99 S.; short-stop, S. B. Camp, 1900; third base, J. J. Hazen, '98; left field, Capt. Greenway, '98 S.; center field, J. W. Wear, '99, and right field, H. B. Wallace, '99. This seems at the present writing to be the way the team will play on the Southern Trip. Fifteen men will be taken on the trip, the other members of the squad will be dropped, with the exception of two or three, who will rejoin the team on its return. P. C. Keifer, 1901, substitute catcher, who was at the Infirmary all last week, began work again on Monday.

The Freshmen went to the Field for the first time a week ago yesterday. A temporary diamond has been laid out near last year's Freshman field. B. C. Chamberlin, P. G., is in charge of the squad, which still numbers about thirty men, eighteen of whom will remain here during the vacation.

of these offices is beyond the reach of Knox. If the graduate is not near an agent, he can always write to E. M. Knox, Fifth Avenue Hotel Building, New York City, and get any hat he wants—that is, provided he wants a good one.
