Law School Baseball Trip.

The Easter Trip of the Law School Baseball Nine is considered by its promoters most satisfactory. Five games were played, the Law School winning three. The men were everywhere received with marked hospitality, and at several places entertainments were given in their honor.

The team left New Haven on Thursday, April 7, playing its first game with the Harvard University Nine at Washington, D. C., on Friday afternoon. The Law School team won by a score of 11 to 7. Friday morning was spent in visiting the Capitol and other places of interest about the city. The second game was played on Saturday with Fredericksburg College, at Fredericksburg, Va., resulting in favor of the latter by a score of 10 to 0. On Saturday evening the men were tendered a reception in the College Hall, following a concert given in their honor by the College musical organizations. The team remained in Fredericksburg over Sunday.

On Monday a game was played with the St. John's College Nine at Annapolis, Md., which was won by the Law School by a score of 19 to 7. The men remained in Annapolis over night, and were given a reception and dance on Monday evening in the College Gymnasium. Tuesday morning was spent in sightseeing at Philadelphia, and on Tuesday afternoon the fourth game of the trip was played with Villa Nora College, at Villa Nora, a suburb of Philadelphia. The Law School team was defeated by a score of 18 to 4. The last game was played with Ursinus College, at Collegeville, Pa., on Wednesday, April 13. This was the best game of the trip, and a marked improvement was shown in the playing of the men. The Nine was especially strong in team work, and the game was won without an error, by a score of 10 to 3. The men returned to New Haven on Thursday morning, April 14.

The team consisted of the following men, who were accompanied by Manager Blake: McConnell and Hamlin, pitchers; Atkins and Davis, catchers; Corbin, Farnham, Lane, Malone, Spreyer, and Segelbaum, basemen and fielders.

Clerical Members of the Corporation.

[New Haven Correspondence N. Y. Evening Post.]

The death of the Rev. Dr. George Bushnell of New Haven, at the advanced age of seventy nine years, creates among the life members of the Yale Corporation a vacancy to be filled presumptively at the next meeting. Dr. Bushnell was graduated in the Class of Forty-Two, four years later was ordained, after study in the Yale Divinity School, and served as pastor of Congregational churches at Worcester, Mass., Waterbury, Conn., and Beloit, Wis. He lived in this city from 1884 up to his death. He was a brother of Horace Bushnell of Hartford, famous as a preacher and as a pioneer in what has since been called the "new theology" of Congregationalism. Dr. Bushnell was elected to the Yale Corporation ten years ago, when almost seventy years old, and his place will be filled by vote of the life members only, all Connecticut clergymen, the elective six-year members having no vote. The clerical life members are now nine in number. They are, with dates of election to the Corporation, the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell of Hartford, 1874, the oldest member of the Corporation in tenure of office; the Rev. Joseph W. Backus of Farmington, 1875; the Rev. Charles Ray Palmer of New Haven, 1880; the Rev. Joseph Anderson, of Waterbury, 1884; the Rev. James W. Cooper of New Britain, 1885; the Rev. Burdett Hart of New Haven, 1885; the Rev. Theodore T. Munger of New Haven, 1887; the Rev. George L. Walker of Hartford, 1887, and the Rev. Edwin P. Parker, Hartford, 1895. The list is of interest as showing to those even moderately familiar with the names the large admixture of clergymen of the liberal Congregational type—a fact which bears upon the possibility hereafter of electing to the Presidency of Yale a man who is not a clergyman. For the same reason the choice of Dr. Bushnell's successor will be watched with considerable interest.

Fence Orator Elected.

Jesse Dwight Dana of Brookline, Mass., was unanimously chosen Sophomore Fence Orator, Monday evening. Mr. Dana was the Fence Orator in Freshman year.

A lively Fence rush followed the meeting and threats are heard of the Faculty's abolition of the Sophomore Fence.

MILITARY DRILLS AT YALE.

They are Continued in Captain Murray's Absence—Increased Enlistments.

During the absence of Captain Arthur Murray, it has been decided to continue the weekly drill of the Senior companies under the direction of the officers appointed by him. In addition to the regular members of the Academic Company, all Seniors and men from other classes of the Academical Department who are interested in drilling have been requested to report at the armory every Monday afternoon at 4.30. If enough men report it is proposed to form a battalion.

The call for new men was made in response to the increased interest from the present national crisis. About one hundred men reported at the armory last Monday. The following is the list of officers elected for the Senior Academic Company:

Captain, C. C. Jones; First Lieutenant, W. M. Hartshorn; Second Lieutenant, Z. M. Briggs; First Sergeant, W. G. Irving; Sergeant, C. P. Hine, R. E. Hume, J. F. Adams, F. S. Male; Corporals, M. A. Colton, W. B. Johnson, C. B. Gage, E. L. Clark, H. B. Clark.

The following men have been appointed as officers and non-commissioned officers of the Senior Scientific Military Company: Captain, J. P. Drake; First Lieutenant, J. M. Satterfield; Second Lieutenant, W. F. Gibson; First Sergeant, J. J. Lyons; Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Sergeants respectively, W. K. S. Sturges, W. L. Worrell, E. R. Ingraham, and S. S. Day. Corporals are: H. Parkhurst, F. J. Titus, J. F. Grant, and A. K. Alford.

Saturday's Demonstration.

While the Sophomores at the Fence on Saturday night were singing America, a few Seniors began marching up and down in front of Durfee. An unusual crowd was out for the first Spring-like night of the year, and nearly all had been singing national hymns. The few marchers attracted more of their own class, and of other classes to their ranks, and before anyone could have told why they were doing it, the whole company was moving. After a call at White and Pierson the column had increased to from four to five hundred students.

The first stop was on the steps of Osborn, where national hymns were sung. Then the column, commanded by Captain-General Roger Winthrop, '98, with J. I. Lockman, '98, as standard bearer, marched to the Green, where an immense circle was formed around the flag pole, and there was much dancing.

A drum corps of two drums furnished inspiration. Then the line went up Chapel to York, and came back to College. President Dwight was cheered in passing and the column moved on to Trumbull street. A speech was wanted from Professor Phelps, but he was away. A similar demand was served on Professor Hadley, but he had a dinner party and prayed to be excused. There was more marching and then a return to Vanderbilt Court, where all sang "America," with heads uncovered. Here the "demonstration" ended. There had been nearly two hours of marching.

Our point is that the Knox is the best hat that American manufacture can produce—that is, it is perfect. American goods, American labor, American thoroughness, and a taste that ever studies the possibilities of graceful head-gear, combine to sustain and develop a national reputation of the highest order.
