

Cornell Yale Club Banquet.

The recently formed Yale Club at Cornell University held a banquet on Friday evening, April 15. A number of interesting addresses were made by graduates of the different colleges represented on the Cornell Faculty, and the affair proved very successful. Souvenir programs provided for the occasion bore an engraving of the Yale Campus, surrounded by a gilded wreath, and were tied with red, white and blue ribbons. Professor Charles Mellen Tyler, '55, acted as toastmaster, and the following toasts were responded to: "Yale Club of Cornell," Frederick P. James, '95; "College Diplomacy," Professor Ernest W. Huffcut, Cornell, '84; "Football," Professor Louis M. Dennis, U. of M., '85; "Harvard," Professor Horatio S. White, Harvard, '73; "Yale Athletics," Ebenezer Hill, Jr., '97; "Cornell," Professor Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Brown, '75; "The Ladies," D. Maujer McLaughlin, Cornell, '98; "Yale," Judge Francis M. Finch, '49.

The Yale Club was organized a short time ago with a membership of twenty-two, consisting of Yale men who were connected with the University as members of the Faculty or undergraduates, together with a few alumni residing in Ithaca. In addition to promoting good fellowship among former students of Yale, the club seeks to foster good feeling between the undergraduates of both Universities. The present membership includes the following:

Judge Francis M. Finch, '49; Professor Charles Mellen Tyler, '55; Professor Moses Coit Tyler, '57; Professor George W. Jones, '59; W. H. Sage, '65; Calvin D. Stowell, '68; Roger B. Williams, '68; R. H. Williams; Charles A. Morrall; Professor Frederick Bedell, '90; A. S. Diven, '94; H. W. Sage, '95; Frederick P. James, '95; George A. Smith, '96; Andrew G. C. Sage, '96; M. N. Whitaker, '96; Harold Lee, '96 S.; DeWitt L. Sage, '97; J. U. Miller; Floyd W. Mundy, ex-'98, and Professor W. F. Willcox.

Yale in New York Hospitals.

The following Yale men have received appointment at the various New York hospitals, as internes, having passed successful competitive examinations in the order indicated:

Presbyterian Hospital—Burton J. Lee, '94 S., first place; Henry P. Moseley, '94, third place.

St. Luke's Hospital—Guy B. Miller, '94, first place; Nathan W. Green, '94, third place.

New York Hospital—Hughes Dayton, '94 S., second place; John B. Solley, '94, fifth place.

Roosevelt Hospital—Charles M. Williams, '92 S., third place.

City Hospital—Harold E. Hewlett, '94 S., first place, Ralph Tousey, '94, third place.

Of the nineteen positions in four of the hospitals above, open to all competitors, it is a noticeable fact that eighteen were taken by graduates of the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia University).

Obituary.

GEORGE RUDOLPH FREEMAN, '85 T. S.

George Rudolph Freeman, '85 T. S., died at his home in Meadville, Pa., on Easter Sunday night, April 10. He entered the Theological School in 1882, and graduated with honors three years later. He was awarded the Hooker Fellowship and spent the next two years in Germany. Soon after his return to America, he was elected Professor of Old Testament Language and Literature in the Meadville Theological Seminary, Meadville, Pa. In the congenial atmosphere of the School, he labored with increasing power and acceptance to the day of his death. One of his colleagues writes thus of him, "He could not hide—for he seemed not to know it—a great delicacy and beauty of sympathy, and a spirit lofty with honor."

FREDERICK K. BREMNER, EX-'93.

Frederick Keith Bremner, ex-'93, died on Friday, April 15, at his home in New York City. He was born in Boxford, Mass., in 1869, and received his early education at Andover, graduating from there in 1889. In the Fall of the same year he came to Yale and remained only during the Freshman year, completing a three year's course at the Boston University Law School. For a year after graduation he was an invalid, and upon the recovery of his health accepted a place in the Right-of-Way department of the Bell Telephone Company. He was connected with the New York office.

JASON EVANS, '93 S.

Jason Evans died in Pasadena, California, on April 16, of a hemorrhage, at the age of twenty-seven. Though Mr. Evans had been unwell for some time, there was no reason to think he was threatened with an attack of this sort and his death was a great surprise to his friends. Jason Evans was born July 13, 1871, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He entered the Sheffield Scientific School in the Fall of 1890, and after graduation went to live in Morristown, N. J. While travelling in California some years later he met Miss Anna Mohr of Philadelphia, whom he subsequently married. Mr. Evans had been a resident of Pasadena for about two years, and was a Director of the Edison Electric Company of Los Angeles and one of the organizers of the Pasadena Country Club. His wife survives him.
