

THE INTERCOLLEGIATE FORECAST.

Yale's Chances Greatly Weakened by Enlistment of Some of Her Best Athletes—Penn. Should Win.

The twenty-third annual games of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be held at Berkeley Oval, Morris Heights, New York, on Friday and Saturday, May 27 and 28. The trial heats will be disposed of Friday, and the finals in almost all the events will take place Saturday afternoon. Special trains will be run over the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad to the Oval on the days of the games.

The result of the games is always rendered doubtful by the distribution of points among the smaller colleges, but it is highly probable that the University of Pennsylvania will win the meet again this year. The Yale team has been greatly weakened by the loss, through enlistment, of Marshall, Chappell, Weston and Waller. In spite of this fact, however, and the defeat in the Dual Games last Saturday, Yale's chances for second place are considered quite as good as Harvard's. The new system of scoring which gives the winner of second place in each event three points, the winner of third place two points, and the fourth man one point, will be employed for the first time, and it is expected that Yale will be accordingly benefitted, as the team includes a large number of fair athletes and but few first place men.

THE POSSIBLE RESULTS.

The following summary of the probable point winners in the various events is based on the work of the competitors in the earlier meets of the year:

Wefers of Georgetown should win the 100 yards dash again this year, with the other points distributed between Tewksbury of Pennsylvania and Jarvis and Rush of Princeton. Graff of Yale may get a place in this event.

Tewksbury, Wefers and Rush should also score in the 220 yards dash. Gleason will be Yale's strongest representative, but his work is uncertain.

Hoffman of Pennsylvania is regarded as the probable winner of the 440, with Fish of Harvard second. Fisher of Yale will be unable to compete on account of conditions, but Luce may secure one or two points.

First place in the half mile run lies between Lane and Grant of Pennsylvania and Ordway of Yale. Richardson of Yale and Draper of Harvard may also score.

Grant of Harvard and Creegan of Princeton are expected to take the first two places in the mile run, with Spitzer of Yale a probable third. Speer of Yale has a good chance for points.

The mile walk will doubtless be won by Fetterman of Pennsylvania, and Butler and Adams of Yale should get second and third places respectively.

Columbia's riders, Powell, Schwartz and Williams, should win first place in the bicycle events, and Wear, McCutcheon, Anderson and Howard are expected to take the second points for Yale.

Capt. Perkins of Yale, Kraenzlein of Pennsylvania and Fox of Harvard will capture the first three places in the high hurdles. The fourth point should lie between Hollowell of Harvard, van-Beuren of Yale and Wheeler of Princeton.

Bremer of Harvard, the world's champion, will win the low hurdles and Kraenzlein of Pennsylvania should take second place. Capt. Perkins and Morse of Harvard should win the points for third and fourth places.

Johnson and Clapp, both of Yale, will easily take first and second places in the pole vault. Selin, also of Yale, should be third and Longwell of Pennsylvania or Dudley of Yale, fourth.

Baxter of Pennsylvania is the probable winner of the high jump. Carrol of Princeton, Morse and Rice of Harvard and Powell of Cornell will contest the other points.

J. P. Remington and Kraenzlein of Pennsylvania and Prinstein of Syracuse should take the first three points in the broad jump.

First place in the shot put will probably go to McCracken of Pennsylvania, with Garrett of Johns Hopkins second. O'Donnell of Yale should secure one or two points.

McCracken will win the hammer throw, also. The other points are uncertain, but Potter of Princeton and Sutphin of Yale should score. Faculty restrictions will prevent Cadwalader of Yale from competing. P. K.

Athletic Calendar.

May 21.—Yale Freshman-Princeton Freshman baseball at New Haven.

May 24.—New England Championship Tennis Tournament, at New Haven.

May 27 and 28.—Intercollegiate games, New York.

May 30.—Yale Freshman-Harvard Freshman baseball at Cambridge.

June 4.—Yale-Princeton baseball at New Haven.

June 4.—Yale Freshman-Princeton Freshman baseball at Princeton.

June 11.—Yale-Princeton baseball at Princeton.

June 18.—Yale-Princeton baseball at New York, if necessary in case of a tie.

June 23.—Yale-Harvard baseball at Cambridge.

June 28.—Yale-Harvard baseball at New Haven.

July 2.—Yale-Harvard baseball at New York, if necessary in case of a tie.

August 16.—National Interscholastic Tennis Tournament at Newport.

A LACK OF COACHES.

Poor Work of the Nine Due to That and the Bad Weather.

The work of the University nine in the last two games has been marked by a decided falling off from the form of the earlier season. The disagreeable weather of the past three weeks has interfered seriously with the practice, but it is probable that the entire absence of graduate coaches, from which the nine has suffered since returning from the Easter trip, may be responsible for some of the unsatisfactory work. The special weakness of the Nine is at the bat. The men who were expected to form the nucleus of a heavy batting team have failed to show the expected strength, and Wallace, alone, has been hitting consistently. The ragged field work in the Brown game has also proven disappointing, as it gave the first indication of the tendency to go to pieces, which marred Yale's success on the diamond last Spring.

Yale, 14—Wesleyan, 3.

The University nine's game with Wesleyan, which was scheduled for Wednesday, at the Field, was postponed until Thursday on account of rain, and resulted in an easy victory for Yale. Hecker, who was in the box for Yale, had the Wesleyan batters at his mercy, except in the eighth inning, when they bunched three of their four hits and did all their scoring. The Yale team fielded brilliantly, in contrast to the poor work of Wesleyan, and Camp, Hecker and Sullivan led at the bat.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Yale ..	0	5	1	0	0	0	0	8	0	—14
Wes. ..	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	—3

Hits: Yale 10, Wesleyan 4. Errors: Yale 3, Wesleyan 9. Batteries: Yale, Hecker, Sullivan and Kiefer; Wesleyan, Fox and Williams.

Brown, 17—Yale, 2.

The University baseball team had an off day at Providence last Saturday and met with a decisive defeat at the hands of the Brown team. Fearey's delivery was hit hard by the home team, and together with the poor work of Yale in the field, was responsible for the large score. Fultz, Captain Lander and LeStage did excellent work for Brown in the field and at the bat.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Yale ..	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2
Brown	3	1	0	2	0	7	0	4	*	—17

Hits: Yale, 6; Brown, 14. Errors: Yale, 8; Brown, 2. Batteries: Yale, Fearey, Chauncey and Sullivan; Brown, Sedgwick and LeStage.

Yale 1901, 9—Harvard 1901, 8.

The Freshman team defeated the Harvard Freshmen at the Field Saturday in the first game in the championship series. The game, as the score above indicates, was very close and the result in doubt up to the last inning.

Yale prevented Harvard from scoring in the ninth by a brilliant double play by Taylor and Brown, and in her half won out on a timely three base hit by Clark. The work of both teams was excellent, Harvard showing superior judgment in base running.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Yale . . .	2	0	0	0	5	0	1	0	1	—9
Harvard	0	0	1	2	3	0	2	0	0	—8

Summary: Two base hits—Brown, Clark, Putnam. Three base hit, Clark. Stolen bases—Yale 1901, 1; Harvard 1901, 8. Double play—Taylor and Brown. Bases on balls—Off Stickney, 4; off McDonald, 7. Struck out—By Stickney, 1; by McDonald, 3. Time of game—Two hours.

Univ. of Virginia, 4—Yale, 0.

The University team was defeated at the Field on Monday, in the third game with the University of Virginia, and thus lost the series. Virginia's victory was due to the fine pitching of Summersgill and the hard hitting of the team behind him.

With the score 4 to 0 in Virginia's favor, Yale started in the sixth inning by scoring two runs on a base on balls and hits by Wear and Wallace. The game was called, however, at this point on account of rain and the score reverted to that of the fifth inning.

The best playing was done by Martin, Collier and Hill for Virginia, and Camp and deSaulles for Yale.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5
Yale	0	0	0	0	0	0—0
Univ'rs'ty of Virginia	1	1	0	0	2	—4

Hits: Yale, 1; Virginia, 8. Errors: Yale, 2; Virginia, 1. Batteries: Yale, Hall and Sullivan; Virginia, Summersgill and Hill.

Tickets for the First Yale-Princeton Game

Subscribers of the YALE ALUMNI WEEKLY who wish to make use of the WEEKLY in securing seats for the Yale-Princeton baseball game at New Haven, June 4, the first of the championship series, are requested to follow, according to the letter, the following directions.

First. Send to the office for application blank. Address this request to Ticket Department, YALE ALUMNI WEEKLY. Enclose postage.

Second. On receipt of application blank, send the blank to the address given thereon and follow regulations printed thereon as to enclosure of funds and other details.

Third. Remember that no more than three seats are allowed by the Baseball Department on any application. If you require more than three seats, you must secure the name of some other subscriber, which, with any reasonable evidence of authority to use, will be accepted here. If you want more than three seats and less than seven, send in your name and one other; for more than six and less than ten, your name and names of two other subscribers, and so on.

Fourth. No application blanks will be sent out from this office after May 25. This means that to be sure of getting an application, you must send in your request immediately. Please do not overlook this last point. We can assure you of absolutely nothing as far as our part of this service goes, if your letter is received too late. It is impossible for this paper or for the baseball management to change this rule.

As to the seats, the price is one dollar everywhere. There will be no covered seats, owing to the destruction of the grand stand by fire, and consequently no preferred section.

CHASE & CO.

(New Haven House Block)

Make a

Specialty,

Just now, of

BELTS.

Call or Write.

YOUR WINTER CLOTHES

We can care for them. Our storage room is perfectly arranged and superintended. The temperature is kept at fourteen degrees. The expense is very slight. You can send them in from any point.

FRANK A. CORBIN,

1000 CHAPEL STREET.

A Manufacturer

LIKE KNOX

Could economize in a lot more ways in turning out his product. You know this, if you wear KNOX hats. You can see why he doesn't, if you consider the extent and the quality of the reputation that is suggested by the name of KNOX.

At the Yale Club.

[Correspondence of YALE ALUMNI WEEKLY]

New York, May 17, 1898.—Friday last was "Club Night" at the Yale Club, and there was the customary large attendance. The speaker of the evening was Professor Theodore S. Woolsey, of Yale, who delivered a highly interesting address upon the subject "Our International Relations as Affected by the War with Spain." Following this speech, Ernest Carter, '79, gave a brief description of the work of the Committee in charge of raising money for the gift to the cruiser Yale. An informal supper was served later, as usual.

Phi Beta Kappa Elections.

A meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa Society was held on Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the Class of Ninety-Nine. The result of the balloting was: President, Alfred Bates Hall of Chester, Conn.; Vice-President, Henry Robinson Shipman of Hartford, Conn.; Secretary, Norman Macleod Burrell of New York City; Assistant Treasurer, Henry Thornton Bowles of Springfield, Mass.; Executive Committee: Chairman, John Kirkland Clark of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Sullivan Dorr Ames of Providence, R. I.; Charles Montgomery Hathaway of Oliphant, Pa.

Full-grown Men

—LIKE—

THE SUN.