

HARVARD 10—PENN. 0.

Yale Men Who Saw the Game Believe Their Team Has a Chance.

Cambridge, Nov. 8.—Harvard defeated the University of Pennsylvania, Saturday, Nov. 5, on Soldiers Field by the score of 10 to 0, in a clean and interesting football game, and were cheered along by a crowd of fifteen thousand spectators. The defeat was an unexpected one for the visitors, as they had come to believe the guards back formation was irresistible in its ground-gaining qualities, and the long list of victories, including four straight from Harvard, in which it played an important part, gave their belief much weight. Few teams had stopped it before even temporarily, but the Crimson threw it back time and time again without a gain and tired out the Pennsylvania men through superior physical condition.

FRANK H. CHASE
TUTOR IN ENGLISH.

Harvard won her first touchdown by an immediate acceptance of an opportunity that rarely presents itself in a championship game. On the opening kick-off by Houghton, Coombs, standing on Pennsylvania's 15 yard line, fumbled the ball. He was blocked from falling on it by Hollowell, and Donald, the speedy tackle, who had come down the field like the wind, seized the ball and carried it over the line for a touchdown within 15 seconds of the beginning of the game. Pennsylvania's savage assaults to retrieve herself were met coolly by the Harvard forwards aided by the backs, and though Harvard was forced well down in her own

EMERSON G. TAYLOR
ASSISTANT IN RHETORIC.

ground, Houghton relieved the situation when the ball changed hands, thus keeping the play well away from Harvard's goal. Pennsylvania made an unsuccessful try at a goal from the scrimmage on Harvard's 15 yard line. In the second half Harvard played a kicking game, and so admirably did Houghton place his punts that each exchange yielded Harvard large gains. Pennsylvania was extremely weak in the back field and muffed and lost the ball frequently, so that the game went from her side of the field only a few times and she had but little chance to score. Harvard last five points were made by Burdett on a place-kick from Pennsylvania's 40-yard line. When time was called Harvard had the ball on their demoralized opponents' 1-yard line.

The opinions of many Yale men who watched the play seem to be that Yale has a chance to win on the 19th because Houghton will meet his match in McBride in a kicking game, and the Harvard forwards will find the Yale line stiffer than that of Pennsylvania.

Obituary.

JUDGE S. A. YORK, '63.

Judge Samuel A. York died on November 5 at his residence, 139 Edwards street, New Haven, Conn. His death was very sudden, and was due to a hemorrhage of the stomach.

Judge York was born in North Stonington, Conn., in 1839. He prepared for college at the Suffield Academy, and in 1859 entered Yale College, graduating with honors in 1863. While in College he did considerable tutoring, in order to defray his expenses. His graduation was at the time of the Civil War, so he entered the United States army at Chattanooga, where he occupied a position in the quartermaster's department. Before the close of the war he left the army in order to study Law at the Albany Law School, and after getting his degree he entered the law office of Judge Breeze, Kalamazoo, Mich. While practicing Law in that place he married Miss Helen Osborn, the daughter of the late M. A. Osborn, of New Haven. At the request of his father-in-law Judge York came to New Haven, where he was engaged in editorial work for the Register.

In 1874 he became interested in politics, and was clerk of the State Senate and clerk of the House of Representatives. The following year Judge York left the newspaper field and formed a partnership for the practice of Law with William C. Case, but the partnership lasted only a short time.

From 1877 to 1887 Judge York served as Judge of the Probate Court. He was elected Mayor of New Haven in 1886 by the Democratic party, and served two years, but was defeated by Henry F. Peck in the next campaign and retired from public life.

Judge York leaves a widow, Mrs. Helen Osborn York, and four children: Samuel A. York, Jr.; Miss Ella York; Miss Helen York; and Palmer York.

HENRY L. MAY, '87.

Henry L. May, '87, died on Oct. 23, at Ashburnham, Mass. He had been in poor health for some time and suffered from melancholia.

Mr. May was born in North Brookfield, Mass., December 26th, 1862. He prepared for College at Cushing Academy, South Ashburnham, Mass., and entered Yale, graduating in the Class of Eighty-Seven. He was engaged in newspaper work in Springfield for several years after his graduation, where he was a favorite. He then went to Boston and became an editorial writer on the Boston Advertiser and a contributor to the New York Sun. He leaves a widow and three small children, a girl and two boys.

JOSEPH POTTS LLOYD, '91.

Joseph Potts Lloyd, '91, died from the effects of an operation for appendicitis on October 25, in the the Post-Graduate Hospital of New York. He was born in East Orange in 1868, and prepared for Yale College in the Newark Academy. While at Yale he did well both in athletics and in his studies, graduating with high honors in 1891. In 1892 he entered the firm of Lloyd and Company, and was admitted to the Stock Exchange on March 5, 1896. Mr. Lloyd married Miss Edith Jones of East Orange in 1896, and she survives him. They had no children.

HENRY M. KIDD, '92.

A committee appointed by the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States have compiled the following report of the life of the late Henry M. Kidd, '92:

Henry Martindale Kidd, son of First Lieutenant William Kidd, Company E, 44th Regiment, N. Y. S. Vols., and grandson of the late Major General John Henry Martindale, U. S. Vols., of Rochester, N. Y., was born November 12th, 1871.

LUCAS
OF HAMILTON PLACE
BOSTON.

He attended the Boys' Academy in Albany, N. Y., for four years, and after a year and a half in Europe with his parents, went to St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., where he remained five years. At the age of sixteen he entered Yale University, and was graduated with the Class of Ninety-Two. In both school and College he was prominent in athletics, while his class standing was always good. Mr. Kidd studied law in the office of Charles J. Buchanan, of Albany, N. Y., and was graduated from the Albany Law School in 1894. After being admitted to the bar he removed to Buffalo, N. Y., and entered the law office of McMillan, Gluck, Pooley & Depew. In 1895 he started an office for himself. Subsequently he decided to relinquish the practice of law and cultivate his voice, which had been pronounced by competent critics abroad to be of unusual power and quality. After nearly two years' study in London and Paris, Mr. Kidd came home for a few weeks' vacation, and was returning to Paris to resume his work there, when he met his death on board the steamship La Bourgogne, which was sunk at sea, off Cape Sable Island, July 4th, 1898, after collision with the English ship Cromartyshire. His most marked characteristics were a broad intelligence and sturdy integrity, combined with a warm, generous heart.

A PIANO AT A NOMINAL PRICE.

Chicago's largest music house, Lyon & Healy, have bought for a fraction of its cost the entire stock of Lyon, Potter & Co. These splendid pianos are offered without reserve until all are sold. In this stock are a number new Steinway pianos, and hundreds of new and second-hand pianos including instruments of the following well-known makes: Sterling, Huntington, A. B. Chase, Vose, Fischer, Weber, Chickering, G. W. Lyon, etc., etc. In square pianos there are fine-toned instruments at $25, $40, $60, and upwards. In Upright Pianos neat instruments at $100, $120, $140, $150, $165, $190, $200 and upwards. In Baby Grands some nice specimens at $250 and upwards. Nearly all these pianos were intended to sell for at least double these clearing-sale prices. A good plan would be to order a piano, leaving the selection of it to Lyon & Healy. However they will send a list and full particulars upon application. Any piano not proving entirely satisfactory may be returned at their expense. Address simply, Lyon & Healy, Chicago. Distance is no obstacle in taking advantage of this remarkable chance to obtain a piano, for in proportion to the saving to be made the freight charges are insignificant. Write to-day so as to avoid disappointment.—Adv.

DIEBOLD SAFE & LOCK CO.,
H. W. BEADLE, GEN'L AGENT,
79 Duane Street, - New York.

Forehand Perfection Automatic.

The Finest Small Revolver made.

POSITIVE STOP ON CYLINDER!

Automatic hammer block, making accidental discharge IMPOSSIBLE.

32 Calibre, 5 Shot, 3" Barrel, Weight, 12 ozs. BICYCLE SIZE.
2" Barrel, Weight, 10 ozs. SEND FOR CATALOGUE M.

FOREHAND ARMS CO., Worcester, Mass.

POINTS ON POLICIES.

"History is Philosophy teaching by Examples."

So if one doesn't know already about the PHOENIX MUTUAL a fact like this that follows may be a good teacher.

Policy 44,597.

On the life of H. H., of Benson, Vt.

Ordinary Life, - - - Age 41.

Annual premium, $31.46.

Original amount, - - - $1,000.00

Dividend additions credited to the policy on payment of 1897 premium, - - - $465.00

Total amount of Insurance, - $1,465.00

So that the face value of the contract is now over 146% of its original amount.

PHOENIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO., HARTFORD, CONN.

J. B. BUNCE, President.
JOHN M. HOLCOMBE, Vice-Pres't.
CHAS. H. LAWRENCE, Secretary.

Mory's - -

... Louis Linder.

PACH BROS.,
COLLEGE PHOTOGRAPHERS,
1024 Chapel St., New Haven.

Branch of No. 935 Broadway, - New York

F. R. BLISS & CO.
TAILORS

NEW HAVEN, - CONN.