

The Way it is Done in Chicago.

During December, 1898, the great Chicago Mail-Order House of Montgomery Ward & Co., appreciating the value of Life Insurance, presented each of their married employees with a Policy of Life Insurance for $1,000, paying the first year's premiums in advance. One hundred and fifty Policies were issued, amounting to about $150,000.

The PRUDENTIAL was selected as offering the best policies in the market for the purpose desired. In a letter accompanying each policy, Montgomery Ward & Co. said:

"As to the Company and plan, we selected The Prudential because of its strong financial standing, coupled with the great liberality of its policy contracts, with its incontestability, loan and surrender values."

Policies issued by The Prudential are adapted to the purposes of individuals, corporations and business firms, affording both Protection and Investment.

A New Yale Hymn.

The following hymn has been written by a Yale resident of New Haven, with the theme, "For God, For Country and For Yale." It is to be sung to the tune "America":—

Come, Brotherhood of Yale,
Here "Light and Truth" prevail,
And joys abound.
For God, our praises bring;
For Country, freedom sing;
For Yale, our voices ring
With trumpet sound.

For God, Almighty One,
His will in us be done
Like heav'n above.
Lord, thine the Kingdom be,
And Power eternally;
The Glory ages see,
Great God of Love.

For Country, ours to be,
In loving loyalty,
Her children true.
Long be thy people's might,
Eternal truth and right;
Thy stars forever fight
Wrong to undo.

For Yale, our Mother dear,
Let one tumultuous cheer
Our love proclaim.
Long may thy fame be great
In serving God and State,
Immortal life await
Thy honor'd name!

For God, and Country free,
And Yale, our loyalty
Can never fail.
Up Sons, to dare and do;
Blaze on your banners blue:
"For God, and Country true,
And for old Yale."
