

SECOND UNIVERSITY.

Plan to Develop the Substitutes for the First Boat.

Captain Allen of the University Crew has announced that during the whole period of training at New Haven a second crew will be maintained, and that from this second crew four men will be picked to go with the University Crew to New London in June. The particular objects of this plan are to give a larger number of men special coaching and experience, which will help in future rowing, and to afford better opportunities for the substitutes to be constantly fit.

On Tuesday of last week the severe weather forced the men of the first boat back to the tank after two days' work on the harbor, and from present indications it will be some days before outdoor practice will be resumed. The tank work, however, has been continued with increased severity. The stretches are long and the stroke unusually high for this period in the crew's development. On Saturday, Johnson, '94 S., assisted in coaching the squad, which now numbers about thirty men.

During the past week the general order of the first boat has been: Stroke, Williams and Ireland; 7, Niedecken; 6, Allen and Greenway; 5, Cross and Brown; 4, Flint; 3, Griswold; 2, Wickes; bow, Greenleaf, Atkinson, Mitchell and Patterson.

Captain Allen expects the following men to be with the crew on Washington's Birthday: Dr. J. A. Hartwell, '89 S.; G. R. Brewster, '94 S.; F. A. Johnson, '94 S.; S. B. Ives, '93; Dr. John Rogers, '87; Percy R. Bolton, '86; and J. O. Rodgers, '98. Weather permitting, the launch will be available at that time and work on the harbor will be vigorously pursued.

RETURN OF THE GUNS.

The Naval Committee Report Unanimously In Favor of It.

Unless there is some unexpected development in Congress, the guns Eli and Handsome Dan will be stationed at New Haven. The efforts made in that direction by Hon. John Addison Porter, Secretary to the President, and the coöperation which had been promised by Mr. Boutelle, Chairman of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, were spoken of in the last issue of the paper. It was after the official request from the University for this favor, made both to the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, had failed, owing to the fact that neither of them had authority for the step, that Mr. Yandell Henderson of the Cruiser Fund Committee, who has been very zealous all through the work of procuring these memorials and then securing their location at New Haven, brought the matter once more to the attention of the President's secretary.

Mr. Porter's request for an official statement in the matter was also mentioned last week and portions of the statement were printed in that issue of the paper. Last Tuesday afternoon, February 7, just after the WEEKLY had gone to press, a telegram was received from Mr. Porter, reporting the decision of the Committee to recommend the clause conferring authority on the Secretary of the Navy for the return of the guns. The telegram spoke of the very cordial coöperation of Chairman Boutelle and Secretary Long.

Two days afterwards, the following letter was received by the editor of the WEEKLY:

"I received this morning at the hands of the Honorable John Addison Porter your letter of the fourth of February, addressed to him, concerning the return of the rapid-fire guns presented by Yale to the Government, and this morning the Honorable Charles A. Russell and I went before the naval authorities, and I presented an item for the Appropriation Bill which I had prepared after consultation with the Secretary of the Navy. We were gratified to find that Chairman Boutelle had already arranged to comply with your request, and while we were present submitted the matter to the Committee, and it was unanimously voted to insert an item in the Appropriation Bill to that effect.

"The amendment which I prepared called for the return of the guns and flags, or at least for the authorization of the Secretary to return them at his discretion. I had been previously assured by the Secretary that it would be entirely in accordance with his views to do this if such authority were given him. I have no doubt but when the Appropriation Bill comes in, the item will be found there, and that it will pass Congress without any difficulty; and if it does I have to suggest that the guns and flags be placed not upon the Campus, but at the entrance to some of the University buildings."

With kind regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

E. J. HILL.

Mr. Porter had asked Mr. Hill of the House to wire the WEEKLY if there was any change in the status of the Yale clause in the Naval Bill. Up to the time of going to press, no report has been received, so that there is every reason to expect a favorable outcome. Yale's friends are certainly numerous enough in the House to take the matter up with enthusiasm there, should the slightest opposition develop. Mr. Sperry, from the New Haven District, has frequently worked hard for Yale interests at New Haven and would be sure to coöperate with Messrs. Hill and Russell in pushing the matter forward. In the upper branches, Senators Hawley and Platt will both be ready to give the matter support. Gen. Hawley has frequently exerted himself very much in favor of Yale interests.

you substitute British for English.

Its present use, however, is to describe the new tie, which is running the Ascot out of the market. Some of the designs are stunning. Send for a few samples.

The University Hockey Team was defeated by the Hockey Club of New York at the St. Nicholas Rink, Saturday evening, Feb. 11, by a score of two goals to one. Neither side scored in the first half. Just before the call for time, A. C. Coxe, 1901, shot from the center of the rink and scored Yale's only point. The game was an interesting one, as the two teams were so evenly matched.
