

YALE ALUMNI NOTES.

Every alumnus is invited to contribute to this column, news concerning himself or concerning any other alumnus. The column is intended to keep Yale men informed about each other. Anyone who contributes to it helps a good Yale object and pleases and interests other Yale men.

'54—Austin C. Dunham was elected President of the Hartford Electric Light Co. at their annual meeting held recently.

'54—Judge Henry E. Howland was the Yale representative at the annual dinner of the Harvard Club of New York at the Waldorf-Astoria, Tuesday, Feb. 21.

'67—William Henry Bishop will be the orator at the annual dinner of the Society of Colonial Wars. He will depart somewhat from the usual custom by reading a short original story composed for the occasion, and dedicated to the Society.

'69—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Holcombe started last week for a trip to the Pacific coast. They will be gone probably until the middle of April.

'72—Rev. Charles O. Day was last week elected Corresponding Secretary of the Congregational Educational Society of Boston.

'74—George L. Dickerman will publish the regular class book this year,—the first one since 1889—and will have it out by June.

'76—Charles L. Bartlett responded to the toast "Yale" at the Harvard Clubs' annual dinner in Chicago, Tuesday evening, Feb. 21.

'80—Henry C. Ordway has given up active participation in the hardware business, in which he has recently been engaged in Boston, and is in business with his father.

'86—Thomas Darling has been elected a member of the Select Council, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

ex-'88—The engagement is announced of Miss M. T. Dana, daughter of the late Professor James D. Dana, to B. W. Schwab of New York.

'88—Harold R. Griffith, who has been engaged for the past year in legal and mining business at Denver, is visiting at his old home in Springfield, Mass.

'88 T.S.—A son was born to Rev. and Mrs. Frank R. Luckey, Friday, February 17. Mr. Luckey is Pastor of the Humphrey St. Church, of New Haven.

'88 S.—Professor Percy F. Smith of the Sheffield Scientific School, who has been seriously ill for the past eleven weeks with typhoid and malarial fever, is gradually recovering. He hopes to resume his duties after the Easter vacation.

'89—Fred A. Scott is Senate Clerk of the General Assembly of Connecticut.

'89—R. W. Huntington, Jr., has been elected a Director of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co.

'89 S.—Edwin K. Dillingham has recently closed out his furniture business at Houston, Tex., in which he has been engaged for the past two or three years.

'93 S.—A contributed alumnus note recently printed in regard to Dr. J. W. Coe was in error. Dr. Coe has been since July 1st, 1898, on the staff of the Presbyterian Hospital of New York.

'93—Samuel Scoville, Jr., has recently formed a partnership for the practice of law with William C. Beecher, '72, under the firm name of Beecher & Scoville, with offices at 237 Broadway, New York City.

'94—C. J. Sniffen is the Assistant Minister of the Holy Trinity Church, in Middletown, Conn.

'94—Chas. N. Loveland has been appointed a Standing Auditor for the Orphans' Court of Luzerne County, Penn.

'94—"Systematic and Proportionate Giving" is the title of a booklet written by William H. Salmon, which has recently been published.

'95 S.—Rankin Johnson is engaged in civil engineering on the Mexican International Railroad.

'95—Francis Burton Harrison has resigned his commission as Captain U. S. V., and entered the law office of Cary and Whitridge, New York.

'95—Miss Mabel Merrill, daughter of C. G. G. Merrill, '61, and granddaughter of David J. Merrill, '27, was married Sept. 7, 1898, at her home in New Haven, to Edward C. Baldwin, '95.

'95 S.—George B. Massey is at present at Manila. At the beginning of the Spanish war he passed so good an examination for a commission, that he was immediately ordered to the "Resolute," on board which he was present at the battle off Santiago. Later he was sent to Manila on the transport "Buffalo" as Assistant Naval Constructor, and arrived there in time for the insurgent hostilities.

'97—J. W. Bryan was admitted to the Louisiana Bar, Dec. 24, 1898.

'97—Larkin G. Mead has had several articles in recent issues of Puck.

'97—H. T. Kneeland, Jr., is with the Electric Grain Elevator Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

'97 S.—Willard P. Lindley is studying Chemistry at the Johns Hopkins University.

'97—J. I. Lineaweaver is studying law at the University of Pennsylvania in the Class of 1900.

'97—R. L. Munger is spending the Winter in Cañon City, Colo., for a throat trouble.

'97—The engagement of Miss Helen Bell of Oakland, Cal., to W. C. Cooke, has been announced.

'97—Robert S. Brewster is with the New York Security & Trust Co., 46 Wall st., New York City.

'97—Walter J. Lapham has changed his address to Schuylerville, N. Y., where he is engaged in business.

ex-'97 S.—Robert Morrison is at present in the employ of the American Oak Leather Co. of Cincinnati, O.

'97—W. S. Hubbell, Jr., has entered the office of Hollister & Babcock, bankers and brokers, 17 Broad st., New York.

'97—J. S. Wheelwright and A. B. Kerr have changed their addresses and are now living together at 18 Lexington ave., New York City.

'97—Albert Silverstein who went to Manila with the Hospital Corps of the First Colorado regiment, has secured his discharge and will return to Denver next month.

'98—Julian S. Mason of Chicago, was in New Haven recently, for a few days.

'98 S.—Edgar D. Pouch is with the Standard Oil Company in New York.

'98—Edward C. Perkins is at present coaching the hurdlers at Columbia University.

'98—Frank R. Stocker is with J. D. Stocker and Son, general merchandise, Jermyn, Penn.

'98 S.—G. H. Humphreys is at present with the Robins Conveying Belt Co., 147-9 Cedar street, New York City.

Ex-1900—D. D. Tenney, 2d Lieutenant in the 15th Regt. Minnesota Volunteers, is at Camp McKenzie, Augusta, Ga., with his regiment.

Yale will be represented by relay teams at the Intercollegiate Relay meet, to be held under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, April 29.

WHEN YOU LAID OUT YOUR COURSE FOR JUNIOR YEAR

Perhaps you were looking for a snap. Perchance you sought the most satisfactory results. If by any chance you or your golf club anticipate laying out a course, or tacking a few more holes onto your present course, this spring, you can secure both the snap and the satisfactory results by enlisting the services of the

Bridgeport Gun Implement Co.,
313 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

They not only make a specialty of planning and laying out courses under the most competent supervision, but have every possible equipment in the shape of hole rims, markers, direction flags, etc., etc. As for clubs, balls, and caddybags, you can find every variety and style at the N. Y. office, and at sporting goods stores throughout the country—By the way, the B. G. I. Golf Calendar for '99 is a work of art—write for one.

HARTLEY & GRAHAM,
313 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

NOTICES.

[Alumni Association and Class Secretaries are invited to contribute to this column.]

Long Island Dinner.

The Yale Alumni Association of Long Island will hold its regular Midwinter Banquet at the Oxford Club on Lafayette ave., Brooklyn, Friday night, March 3, at 7 sharp. There will be a business meeting half an hour earlier. Gov. Roosevelt, Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, General Woodford and Lieut. Greenway are among those who will speak at the dinner.

Central Massachusetts.

The annual banquet of the Central and Western Massachusetts Alumni Association will be held at the Nayasset Club, Springfield, Mass., Tuesday evening, March 7. Professor William Lyon Phelps will represent the University. A quartet from the University Glee Club will be present to furnish music. Among those who expect to attend are the following: M. P. Knowlton, '60; E. B. Glasgow, '63; G. S. Merriam, '64; J. R. Thayer, '69; W. T. Souther, '73; C. F. Aldrich, '79; E. H. Gilbert, '81; J. F. Crowell, '83; E. M. Chapman, '84; H. L. Dawes, '84; J. Barnes, '85; E. A. Bates, '86; C. W. Bosworth, '93; E. B. Reed, '94.

Ninety-Five.

The Secretary of the Class of Ninety-Five announces that all work on the Class Book has had to be stopped because a number of men have neglected to respond to his inquiries for information regarding themselves, and that it is quite impossible for him to continue until these men are heard from directly or indirectly. Their names follow: Benjamin E. Allen, George E. Bachelor, Mathew S. Borden, Frank S. Butterworth, Julian I. Chamberlain, George F. Chandler, Charles B. Cheney, A. Ray Clark, Clement G. Clarke, Ezra H. Connell, W. L. Dench, Lindsay Denison, James A. Dwight, William K. Fowler, Edwin H. Gleason, Frank J. Harris, Louis Hewlett, Frank H. Hinkley, Charles Kingsley, Jr., F. Lawrence Lee, George A. Lewis, Edwin C. Lobenstein, Richard T. Lowndes, William A. Moore, Lewis S. Sadler, Thomas H. Stevenson, Emerson G. Taylor, Ford W. Thompson, Herbert L. Towle, Fred S. Tyler, John W. Wheeler, William N. Whitelaw, Herbert Witherspoon.

Ninety-Seven Dinner.

There will be a dinner and reunion of Ninety-Seven at the Yale Club, 17 East 26th st., New York, Saturday, March 11. This will be the first regular reunion of the Class this Winter and it is hoped that it will bring out even more men than did the smokers last year. The price of the dinner will be two dollars per cover including everything. All Ninety-Seven men are invited to attend, no matter whether or not they are members of the Club. It is especially desired that as many out-of-town Ninety-Seven graduates should attend as possible. To facilitate the work of the committee it is requested that all who expect to attend send replies promptly enclosing two dollars. Address Ninety-Seven Dinner Committee, Yale Club, New York.

YALE OBITUARIES.

REV. HENRY EDWARDS, '41.

Rev. Henry Edwards, '41, died at his home in Hagerstown, Md., Saturday, February 25, 1899.

Mr. Edwards was born in New Haven, December 31, 1821. His great grandfather was Rev. Jonathan Edwards, Yale 1720, President of the College of New Jersey (Princeton), and a distinguished metaphysician, whose father, Rev. Timothy Edwards, Harvard 1694, was the first, and for sixty years the only minister of East Windsor, Conn. After his graduation in 1841, he taught in various places until 1845, when he commenced the study of Theology, in New Haven, and then in the General

Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church, New York. He was ordained deacon in 1847 and priest the next year, and became rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist at Stockport, N. Y. He held a number of other parishes, and during the war was rector of St. John's Parish, Hagerstown, Md., where his congregation was composed largely of Southern sympathizers. "Among other interesting incidents," he wrote in March, 1863, "was a visit from the whole of Longstreet's division of the Confederate army, and one Sunday I had the pleasure of preaching to a congregation largely composed of confederate officers and soldiers, and at the same time praying for the President of the United States. This was only the Sunday before the battle of Antietam, which took place eleven miles from us." Although he resigned the rectorship of St. John's parish, he had other small churches in the vicinity under his care, and remained at Hagerstown till the time of his death. He conducted a select school in the town during his residence there. He was also chaplain of the College of St. James, and for a time of the Grand Army.

CURRENT YALE LITERATURE.

Professor Beers' Work.

Professor Beers' History of Romanticism in the Eighteenth Century, just published by Henry Holt & Co. of New York, and of which a review by Professor Phelps was printed in a recent number of the WEEKLY, has met with very strong endorsement from the reviewers. The Outlook says of it: "Professor Beers' work shows thorough familiarity with his subject, discriminating taste, the conscience of the scholar and the insight of the lover of literature. His book must be regarded as one of the most important contributions yet made to literary history by an American scholar."

Universities and Their Sons.

The first volume of "Universities and their Sons," published in Boston by The R. Herndon Company, has just appeared. This volume contains a general article on the history, influence and characteristics of the four Universities,—Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Columbia. In a later issue of the WEEKLY this volume will be reviewed. It certainly is attractive in appearance, and the list of editors seems to promise a very valuable work. General J. L. Chamberlain is Editor-in-Chief, and the editors of the historical sketches of the different colleges are as follows: Harvard, William Roscoe Thayer; Yale, Professor Charles Henry Smith; Princeton, Professor John DeWitt and Jesse Lynch Williams; Columbia, Professor J. Howard Van Amringe. There is a general introduction by Honorable William T. Harris, United States Commissioner of Education, which is followed by a general article on "Universities of Learning," by the Editor-in-Chief. The first volume contains 750 pages and nearly 400 illustrations. It is beautifully printed in large and clear type, on extra heavy paper, and is richly and durably bound.

THEODORE B. STARR

JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH,
206 FIFTH AVE.,
MADISON SQUARE,
NEW YORK.

Fine Stationery and Engraving, Die-cutting and Heraldic Work. Wedding Invitations, Reception Cards and Visiting Cards.

The Designing and Engraving of Book-plates a specialty.

Sample book of paper will be sent on application.