'69—Hon. Gardiner Lathrop has been named for Republican nominee for Governor of Missouri. The Kansas City Journal of March 21 has the following:

"The mention of Mr. Lathrop's name caused a good deal of comment yesterday among the Republicans in Kansas City, who universally commended his selection as a splendid one."

Mr. Lathrop, according to the Journal's report, spoke as follows:

"I had never even heard any such suggestion until I was informed by my friends of the publication of the story that I was a possible candidate. I feel very much complimented and honored by the kindly attempts of my friends to inaugurate a movement to offer my name as a gubernatorial candidate. However, I must insist that I am entirely out of politics and would not under any circumstances allow my name to be used. I have stated repeatedly that I would not attempt to make the race, and will devote my entire time to the practice of law. No, I am not a candidate and will not be in the future."

The Kansas City Star, commenting on this fact, then says:

"It would be a fine thing for the State of Missouri if it could have a Governor like Gardiner Lathrop, but nobody can find fault with a man of his professional prominence for refusing to neglect his fine law practice to make a political canvass in a State where a Republican confronts such a forlorn hope in running for office as in Missouri."

NOTICES.

[Alumni Association and Class Secretaries are invited to contribute to this column.]

Ninety.

A dinner and reunion of the Class of Ninety will be held at the Yale Club, 17 East 26th st., New York, Friday evening, April 14, 1899, at seven o'clock. The cost to each man will be $2, including everything. The Committee in charge consists of Thomas F. Bayard; Henry Opdyke; Willard Parker, Jr.; and Herbert Parsons.

A similar reunion was held about a year ago, which was attended by about thirty men, and is admitted by all who were present to have been the pleasantest reunion which the Class has had. It is hoped to make this one even more enjoyable, and that a still larger number will attend. All members of the Class are invited, whether members of the Yale Club or not.

Notices have been sent to all the members of the Class, but if any one should fail to receive his notice, he is invited to come nevertheless, and to send a notice of his intention to Thomas F. Bayard, 111 Broadway, New York, together with his correct address. It is requested that a reply be sent in any case so that the Class list of addresses may be made complete.

Ninety-Six.

The following men of the Class of Ninety-Six have not yet been heard from concerning their addresses for the list which is being prepared for the Triennial Committee. Will anyone knowing the addresses of any of these men kindly send the same to the Alumni Note Department of the WEEKLY, and by so doing greatly oblige both the Class Secretary and the Triennial Committee:

Leo Arnstein; William G. Baker, Jr.; William F. Brown; Thomas F. Carroll; Wendell P. Colton; William H. Corbit; William S. Gordon; William H. Gorman; George W. Govert; Harris B. Greene; Paul D. Hamlin; Gilbert L. Hedges; Edward C. Heidrich, Jr.; Albert C. Jones; Henry S. Kip; William A. McFadden; Prof. T. Woods Noon, Salem, Ore.; Walter F. Prince; Henry M. Roberts, Jr.; Robert L. Ross; Sylvester B. Sadler; James D. Sawyer; Robert E. Whalen; Ezra H. Young.

YALE OBITUARY.

DR. LOUIS EMILE PROFFLET, '57.

Dr. Louis Emile Profflet, '57, died at Natchez, Miss., the city of his birth, Dec. 12, 1898.

After his graduation from Yale, with high honors, Dr. Profflet took a complete course in Medicine and Surgery and was a practitioner for several years, in the Charity Hospital, New Orleans, where a high tribute was paid to his ability as a physician and surgeon.

In May, 1862, he entered the Confederate Army as Assistant Surgeon and in July of the same year was made Surgeon and placed in charge of the hospitals at Jackson and Shubata, Miss., and Cahaba, Ala. At the close of the war he returned to Natchez and continued his practice.

In 1867 he married Miss Sims of Natchez, who survives him with four sons and one daughter.

The Natchez Dailey Democrat, in speaking of the late Dr. Profflet, said: "Dr. Profflet was known and esteemed by almost everyone in the city, for his many ennobling qualities—for he was in all things a generous-hearted gentleman of the old school. * * * In his disposition he was quiet and unobtrusive and as gentle as a child. For many years he gave gratuitous professional service to the orphan asylum of the city and no poor person ever called in vain for that service."

Andover Alumni Association.

The fifth biennial dinner of the New York Philips's Andover Alumni Association will be given at Hotel Manhattan on Tuesday evening, April fourth. An invitation has been extended to all interested in the school, whether members of the Association or not and about one hundred graduates and undergraduates are expected to attend.

Among those who will respond to toasts will be several representatives from the Faculty, also Professor David Y. Comstock, Bird S. Coler and Robert E. Speer.

The committee in charge consists of: Morris N. Johnson; Charles H. Woodruff, Yale '58; Lewis M. Silver, Yale '82; R. R. Atterbury, and Clarence P. Dodge, Yale '99.

Tickets may be obtained from Frank D. Warren, Treasurer, 280 Broadway, New York.
