Yale Men in Gibson Tableaux.

Yale students are to take a very large part in the performance at the Hyperion next Saturday evening, which has been arranged by different people of New Haven for the benefit of The Mothers' Aid Society. The thing is being carried out on a very liberal scale, and also, it appears, in a very thorough and satisfactory way.

A feature of the evening will be a list of Gibson tableaux. These tableaux, with the people who take part in them, are as follows:

"They Don't Even Know Tommy Atkins," arranged by Miss Sally Whitney—Miss Sally Whitney; Miss Elsie Yandell; Miss Rhoda Sargent; Mr. E. F. Gallaudet, '93; Mr. L. S. Treadwell, '99 S.

"His Only Child," arranged by Miss Cornelia Welch—Gen. S. E. Merwin; Miss Julia Parmelee; Mr. Amos F. Barnes, '97 S.; Mr. Ralph Van Name, '99; Mr. L. H. Thompson, '99 S.; Mr. T. D. Hewitt, '99; Mr. Roger S. White, '99; Mr. W. K. Stewart, '99; Mr. Raynham Townsend, 1900 S.

"The Only Pebble on the Beach," arranged by Mrs. G. A. Maycock—Miss Susie Leonard; Miss Daisy Oakes; Mr. Howard Gilbert, '1901 S.

"The Old Tune," arranged by Miss Whitney; Miss Sally Whitney; Miss Alice Walker; Mr. Yandell Henderson, '95; Mr. Isham Henderson, '99.

"Is a Caddie Always Necessary?" arranged by Miss Whittlesey—Miss Kate Trowbridge; Mr. J. Edward Heaton.

"The Night Before Her Wedding," arranged by Mrs. Max Adler—Mrs. Henry Herz; Miss Ida Kahn; Miss Irma Strouse; Miss Florence Kaiser; Miss Edna Rothchild; Miss Hettie Sonnenberg; Miss Bertha Mann; Miss Ettie Adler.

"Love Will Die," arranged by Miss Bertha Bradley—Mrs. Phelps Montgomery; Mr. Lobdell.

"The Lady or the Tiger," arranged by Mrs. John S. Schwab—Miss Mabel Butler; Mr. Henry W. Chambers, '99; Mrs. Francis Hall; Mr. Edmund Q. Trowbridge, '99; Mr. W. K. Stewart, '99; Mr. H. C. Cheney, '99.

"Their Presence of Mind," arranged by Mrs. Thomas A. Bassett—Miss Lelia E. Earle and Mr. Arthur Way, '99.

"The Trials of a Bud," arranged by Mrs. Charles S. DeForest; Mrs. J. M. Hall; Mrs. Arthur Lord; Mrs. Phelps Montgomery; Miss Florence Hall, the Misses Parmelee; Miss Mackay; Miss Elizabeth Sargent; Miss Henrietta Whitney; Miss Mabel Butler; Miss Yandell; Mr. Neal Kitchel; Mr. A. K. Merritt, '93; Mr. Phelps Montgomery, '95; Mr. G. H. Nettleton, '96; Mr. Henderson, and Mr. Wilbur F. Day, Jr., '92 S.

in New York City recently, a schedule for the coming season was adopted, according to which the Yale Intercollegiate Tournament will be played on the grounds of the New Haven Lawn Club on Saturday, April 29; the New England Championship Tournament, at New Haven, May 23; the Connecticut State Championship at Bridgeport, June 15, and the Newport National Tournament, August 15. In regard to the Intercollegiate Tournament, no date has been settled on, and it may be that it will not be played at all.

Protecting the Campus.

To the Editor of YALE ALUMNI WEEKLY:

Sir:—A short time ago I had occasion to visit Columbia and was much impressed with the scheme in vogue to keep book-agents, beggars, and "beats" off the Campus. All strangers, unaccompanied by some member of the University body, are obliged to visit the office of the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds and procure passes. The result is that undesirable persons are seldom seen upon the Campus. It would seem as if there ought to be no difficulty in adopting some such scheme at Yale.

[A rule already exists, and is enforced to the best ability of the Campus police and University employees, covering the points mentioned above. No beggars are allowed on the Campus, nor are solicitors of any kind there except those men who have charge of ordering the Spring water for the students. Delivery of goods ordered in any other way than through solicitors is permitted during the day, but after seven o'clock delivery wagons are not permitted on the grounds without a special permit. Ed.]

Yale-Harvard Debate.

The final trials for the selection of the Yale representatives in the Yale-Harvard debate, at Cambridge, May 8th, took place on Friday evening, April 14th. C. P. Kitchell presided, and Professor A. T. Hadley, Dr. E. V. Reynolds and Professor B. Perrin acted as judges. Each speaker was allowed ten minutes for the delivery of his speech. The candidates spoke in the following order: H. A. Dow, 1900; F. A. Lord, L.S.; J. M. Hopkins, 1900; J. K. Clark, '99; P. C. Walcott, 1900; W. H. H. Hewitt, L.S.; E. W. Ong, 1900; E. B. Boise, '99; F. Q. Blanchard, T.S.; P. Troup, 1900 S.; S. M. Strayer, T.S.; M. Trowbridge, 1902; W. D. Makepeace, L.S.; F. W. Ballou, 1901 S. A. D. Leavitt, 1900.

The Thatcher Prize of $75 was awarded to J. K. Clark, '99, and the following men were selected, from whose number the Yale team will be chosen just before the debate: John Kirkland Clark, '99, of Brooklyn, New York; Walter Dunham Makepeace, L.S., of Springfield, Mass.; John Morgan Hopkins, 1900, of Decherd, Tenn.; Mason Trowbridge, 1902, of Chicago, Ill.; Franklin Atkins Lord, L.S., of Moorhead, Minn.; Edward Baldwin Boise, '99, of Grand Rapids, Mich. M. Trowbridge, 1902, has the honor of being the first Freshman ever selected in the final trials for an intercollegiate debate at Yale.

The following men have been chosen to represent Harvard in the debate: R. T. Parke, 1 L.; J. A. H. Keith, '99; R. C. Bolling, 1900; and T. S. Alexander, '99, as alternate. The Coolidge prize of $100 was won by Parke.

The Kent Club of the Law School won the debate with the Yale Union, Wednesday, April 12. The question was: "Resolved, That the present method of electing United States Senators is preferable to a method of election by popular vote," and the Union had the negative side.

The speakers from the Kent Club were: W. D. Makepeace, 1901 L.S.; F. A. Lord, 1901 L.S., and S. P. Northrup, '99 L.S. The Yale Union was represented by A. D. Leavitt, 1900; J. K. Clark, '99, and P. C. Walcott, 1900.

Harvard won the first of the six-shooter contests with Yale by the score of 1363 to 1036. Each member of the winning team was given a cup. Changing of Harvard made the largest score.

The Northfield Conference.

Arrangements are already being made for the annual Northfield Conference, which comes this year from June 30 to July 9. Professor George Adam Smith, who is to deliver the Lyman Beecher course of lectures at Yale in April, will probably be one of the speakers, and the list will also include: Mr. Robert E. Speer, of New York; Rev. George Hodges, D.D., of Cambridge, Mass.; Rev. Alexander McKenzie, D.D., also of Cambridge, and Mr. John R. Mott, Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions.

Although it is yet too early to know just how many Yale men will attend this year, there are indications that the number will be slightly larger than last year, when about seventy-five professors and students went from New Haven.
