Think It Over

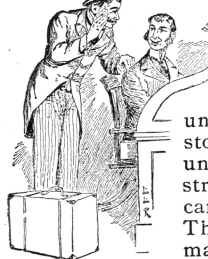

In 1896, after my return from London, in a little book published on Dress, I called attention to flannels which were worn by Englishmen at the Henley regatta. I predicted their popularity in this country.

A DRUMMER'S STORY.

"There's a town I strike when I'm on the road where there is a most unique collection of stories: unpublished, unbound, yet indestructible and most carefully preserved. The genius who is making the collection is using an Edison Phonograph. He does business in Louisville, (what street I won't say) and whenever a drummer shoots a good story at him he says, 'Hold up—come here,' and then and there, on the spot, he embalms Mr. Drummer in wax; and like a fly in amber, his funny tale is preserved for all time. Some of the mildest of them, revised and expurgated, are often heard in vaudeville; but for the most part the 'Louisville records' are to be heard only by the favored few who are in the ring. I have lately heard of other collections, but none to equal that of the pioneer, Mr. Blank."

THE EDISON STANDARD PHONOGRAPH, $20 COMPLETE. ALL DEALERS SELL THEM

When you write for latest catalogue No. 24 ask also for our entertaining little book of Phonograph short stories, "What Mr. Openeer Heard."
