

CLASS REUNIONS.

Forty-two to Ninety-six were the Extremes in Ages.

FORTY-TWO.

The most remarkable reunion of this Commencement, in point of years, was that of the Class of Forty-two, which has been fifty-seven years out of College. There are now less than twenty survivors, but five of these, though scattered widely through the country, met Tuesday, June 27, to witness the important events of Yale's closing century. The names of the five present were: Rev. Daniel D. Henshaw, D.D., Providence, R. I.; Dr. Sylvester W. Turner, Chester, Conn.; Rev. Burdett Hart, D.D., Germantown, Pa.; R. W. Forbes, New York City, and Rev. Nathan W. Williams, Providence, R. I., Class Secretary. It was due principally to the energy and zeal of Mr. Williams that the reunion was held. He wrote to every member, urging him strongly to attend, and though the majority could not come for one reason or another, most of them sent messages of regret and words of affection for their classmates and for Yale. These letters were read and greatly enjoyed by the members at the Class dinner, which was given by Mrs. M. S. Hemingway at her home on Temple street.

FORTY-NINE.

The Class of 1849 met at the house of President Dwight on Tuesday evening, June 27, to celebrate their fiftieth year after graduation. Fifteen members of the Class were present, as follows: Rev. Dr. E. D. Morris, late Professor in Lane Theological Seminary, now of Columbus, Ohio; Judge Francis M. Finch, LL.D., late Judge of the Courts of Appeals in the State of New York, since 1891 Dean of the Law School in Cornell University; Rev. Dr. Franklin W. Fisk, President of the Chicago Theological Seminary; Rev. Dr. C. A. L. Richards, Rector of St. John's Church, Providence, R. I.; President Dwight of Yale; Hon. W. D. Bishop of Bridgeport, formerly President of the New York and New Haven Railroad; Rev. E. A. Buck, Missionary of the City Missionary Society of Fall River, Mass.; Elial F. Hall, Esq., late of New York City; Rev. Shearjashub Bourne, late of New York City; Rev. Oscar Bissell, W. B. Clarke, Wm. H. Jesup, Esq., of Montrose, Pa.; H. S. Metcalfe, Esq., of Natchez, Miss.; F. S. Lockwood, late Bank Commissioner in the State of Connecticut, and John Rockwell, Esq., of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Poems were read by Dr. Richards and Judge Finch, and Metcalfe sang a modern version of an ancient song. It is hardly necessary to say that the meeting was one of peculiar interest, and worthy of the great record which the Class has made. The presence of a goodly number of the wives and daughters of the members of the Class added much to the enjoyment.

FIFTY-FOUR.

The meeting of the Class of 1854, on the 45th anniversary of its graduation, being called at very short notice, was slimly attended. The business meeting was confined to sitting on the steps of Osborn Hall and chatting. In the evening the following members of the Class dined together and recalled the days of their youth: Judge Henry Baldwin, Rev. Wm. R. Eastman, Judge Henry E. Howland, Dr. E. W. Lambert, Dr. Wm. H. Palmer, Chas. A. White, Rev. Dr. Erskine N. White, and Chas. H. Leeds.

FIFTY-NINE.

The Class of Fifty-Nine met at 3 o'clock at Sloan Laboratory, where an informal business meeting of short duration was held. In the evening the members met at the house of Mr. Louis B. Bristol, 65 Elm street, and were entertained at dinner by Mr. Bristol. Those present were: Beardsley; Brainerd; Bristol; Catlin; Fairbanks; Fay; Freeman; Hall; Harrison; Hewitt; Hinckley; Houston; Jones; Lounsbury; Ruggles; Sprague; Stiles; Taylor; Twichell, and Dr. McClintock.

SIXTY-FOUR.

The Class of Sixty-Four celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of its graduation by the usual class supper, which was held this year at Fleming's at 8 p. m. on Tuesday.

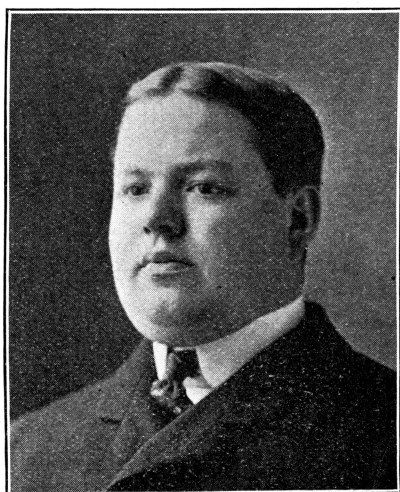

Theodore Fitch of Yonkers, N. Y. presided, while the other end of the table was occupied by the Class Secretary, Prof. C. G. Rockwood, Jr., of Princeton, N. J. Between them were seated the following members of the Class: E. A. Anketell, W. E. Barnett, Rev. W. W. Battershall, D.D., Dr. P. R. Cortelyou, A. B. Cox, F. E. Goodrich, T. M. Griffing, T. B. Hewitt, D. J. Holden, Rev. J. P. Hoyt, F. H. Hooker, Dr. R. S. Ives, Dr. W. Judson, D. B. Lyman, Dr. H. E. Owen, Dr. W. H. B. Pratt, Rev. C. R. Strong, S. B. Strong, C. L. Westcott, O. S. White, L. F. Whitin, Rev. H. M. Whitnev, J. Williams, F. E. Woodruff, O. M. Knapp, Rev. T. P. Sawin, D.D., and Dr. G. H. Wynkoop.

After the usual menu had been disposed of, the chairman called upon Rev. Dr. Battershall of Albany, who in the name of the Class, and in very graceful words, presented to Professor Rockwood a handsome silver loving cup, in recognition of his faithful service for thirty-five years as Class Secretary. After a brief response from Prof. Rockwood, the rest of the time until after midnight was occupied in social conversation and informal speaking, and the Class then separated for another five years.

S. C. Pierson and E. T. Welles were present during the day but were unable to stay for the supper.

SIXTY-NINE.

Nearly fifty per cent. of the remaining members of the Class of Sixty-Nine met at the New Haven Lawn Club House on Tuesday, June 27, with their wives and sons and daughters. A light luncheon was served, after which the party was photographed. Two special cars took them in a body to the baseball game. At a business meeting of the Class at the Lawn Club, Mr. William Lyon Bennett, of New Haven, was elected Secretary to succeed Mr. Thomas Hooker, whose term of office had expired. A committee was appointed to take charge of the arrangements for the next reunion.

The class supper followed the meeting, at which the addresses were entirely informal. Forty-one men were present.

SEVENTY-FOUR REUNION.

The Class of Seventy-Four held a reunion in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of its graduation in New Haven on Tuesday, June 27. The regular business meeting was held in Osborn Hall at noon. Mr. George M. Gunn was appointed presiding officer. The reports of the Class Treasurer, H. W. Farnam and the Secretary of the Class Committee, G. L. Dickerman, were then read and the election of the Class Treasurer and Class Committee followed, resulting thus: Class Treasurer, H. W. Farnam; Class Committee, G. L. Dickerman, Secretary; F. G. Ingersoll, H. W. Farnam. The class then adjourned to the library steps, where their picture was taken. In the afternoon they attended the game in a body and in the evening had the class supper at the New Haven House. Among those present were: Bushnell, Kennedy, Frissell, Dimon, Curtis, Joy, Henderson, Clark, Campbell, Maul, Kelley, Wilcox, Blodgett, Bradstreet, Jaehner, Gunn, Leal, Washburn, Minor, Farnam, Dickerman, and Ingersoll.

SEVENTY-FOUR SCIENTIFIC.

The Class of Seventy-Four Scientific held their reunion and class supper at the Tontine Hotel and the following men were present:

Edward Brush; George R. Cooley; E. H. Forbes; Frazer D. Head; Dr. Henry Hun; H. J. Kellogg; William McGraff; R. D. A. Parrott; Dr. Walter B. Platt; W. H. Reynolds; F. H. Stillman; S. Harrison Wagner.

SEVENTY-NINE REUNION.

The Class of Seventy-Nine celebrated the twentieth anniversary of its graduation in New Haven on Tuesday, June 27. The usual business meeting was held in 175 Lyceum at twelve o'clock, when gray plug hats were distributed to the members. No business of importance was transacted. The meeting adjourned the Class proceeded to the steps of Osborn Hall and was photographed.

In the afternoon the members attended the Yale-Harvard baseball game in a body, forming in line on College street and marching to the Yale Field accompanied by a band. Immediately after the game the class marched down to the houses of President Dwight and President-elect Hadley and cheered each in turn.

At half past seven the Class supper was held at the Young Men's Republican Club, where the following toasts were responded to, Julian W. Curtiss acting as toastmaster.

EIGHTY-FOUR.

The Class of Eighty-Four held a very successful quinquennial, about 40 members being present. J. W. Oakford presided at the business meeting held in Osborn Hall at 12 o'clock. The quinquennial committee was reappointed with authority to arrange for a reunion in either 1901 or 1904. The members are Leonard M. Daggett, chairman, John R. Halsey and Frank D. Trowbridge. Mr. Daggett was reappointed Class Secretary. He was given permission to publish a record of the Class and its members since graduation. Eight members of the Class have died since the last reunion as follows: G. R. Blodgett, S. A. Booth, J. W. Claggett, G. E. Cohen, H. B. Cromwell, W. W. Savery and C. W. Watrous. It was voted to order suitable obituary notices for these men. The following men were present at the reunion: Lough, Cottle, Phelps, Foster, Holliday, Knight, Reynolds, Halsey, Carpenter, Walker, Jones, Lambert, Judson, Hyndman, Makuen, Mead, Strong, McCormick, Jr., Porter, Pringle, Hopkins, Shelton, Holden, Trowbridge, Taylor, Oakford, Williams, Bristow, Wood, Pardee, Chapman, Colt, Peck, Behrisch, Cain, Boyd, Jr., Seeley, Lyman, Buist, Wright. In the afternoon, headed by Colt's Band of Hartford, the class proceeded to the base ball game. The class dinner was held at Lenox Hall at 7 p. m. No formal toast list was observed, the following being the im-to read any other newspaper, than one which is sound, sane, and accurate. The readers of sensational newspapers have minds full of a jumble of untrue, useless and degrading ideas, which prevent them from ever seeing things as they really are, from taking advantage of the best opportunities in life, and from making the most of their careers. The proof of this is abundant and conclusive.

The superb merits of THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE as a daily newspaper for intelligent and aspiring men grow out of the strength, accuracy and decency of the whole newspaper. When it is said, that there is no other daily in the United States, which is better for a library and a family, little more need be said on this point.

Men connected with the Associated Press, who are the best judges of news, and managers of clipping bureaus whose profits depend on the number of original matters they can find in the newspapers from which they clip, unite in commending the TRIBUNE as one of the few great newspapers of the United States.

The TRIBUNE has a college page, once a week. It is especially strong in business and social news, discussions of public affairs, literary and critical features, and foreign correspondence, and is especially free from hysterics, sensation, and detailed reports of immoral occurrences, although it invariably prints the actual news.

The Illustrated Supplement on Sunday is the cream of the week. Beautiful Half-tone pictures, which The Tribune, at great expense, was the first American newspaper to print successfully, adorn nearly every page.

prompt speakers of the evening: Henry Buist, Henry A. Bishop, Rev. E. M. Chapman, E. P. Cottle, Reginald Foster, C. P. Phelps, Ray Tompkins, Rev. Dean A. Walker, Mayor William Williams, F. S. Jones and Rev. W. P. Judson. John R. Halsey acted as toastmaster.

EIGHTY-NINE.

The decennial reunion of Eighty-Nine was attended by about sixty-eight members of the Class. The total membership is one hundred and nineteen men. This ratio of attendance is a very high one and the good record in attendance was characteristic of the meeting in general. A large number of the men arrived in town on Monday and took supper at the shore Monday night. On Tuesday morning there was an informal meeting at the Graduates Club and some attended the general meeting of the alumni in Alumni Hall.

Shortly after one o'clock the Class held its business meeting in Room F1, Osborn Hall. The Decennial Committee, consisting of the Secretary, Chas.
