THE MILLER MEMORIAL.

The Archway Between Chapel and Durfee Nearly Completed.

A memorial to Theodore Westwood Miller of the Class of Ninety-Seven, is at this writing near completion. It is intended to finish it before College opens. The memorial is in the form of a brown stone arch, with iron gates, between Durfee and the Chapel. Mr. Haight, the architect of Vanderbilt Hall, is the architect.

The memorial is erected by the Class of Ninety-Seven, who have already subscribed over $1,200 for the purpose. The final cost of it will probably be about $1,500. All but a small proportion of the Class have given something for its completion. Those who have intended to subscribe and have not yet done so can send their subscriptions to Thatcher M. Brown at Brown Brothers & Co., 59 Wall st., New York City.

The idea of the memorial was first broached at a meeting of the Class held at the Yale Club in New York the first part of January. A committee was appointed at that time. After consultation with the University authorities, it was finally voted to erect the gateway. The permanent committee who have had the gateway in charge was made up as follows: E. S. Harkness, F. P. Garvan, R. S. Brewster, H. L. DeForest, C. R. Hemenway and Thatcher M. Brown. Mr. Brown is Treasurer of the Committee.

It was hoped that the memorial would be finished before the WEEKLY went to press for the September issue. As it is, it is necessary to postpone the illustration of it until a later number. In the panel over the arch will be cut these words:

"In Memory of
THEODORE WESTWOOD MILLER
Class of 1897

Who fell mortally wounded in the charge
on San Juan Hill at Santiago
de Cuba 1st July 1898

Born 30th Jan. 1875 Died 8th July 1898"

President Hadley and the Yale Review.

The last number of the Yale Review contained an editorial rather strongly criticizing the policy of the Administration in the Philippines. The point was made that the United States ought to renounce all idea of conquest and come to reasonable terms with the insurgents at as early a date as possible.

The presence of President Arthur T. Hadley on the Board of Editors caused the newspaper men to take up the matter and the despatch went over the wire that the Yale Review, of which President Hadley was an editor, had denounced the Philippine policy of the Government.

The fact that President Hadley was on the Board of Editors, as he had been for long years, gave news value to the dispatch, and so it was accepted and given prominence by all the papers.

The article was not written by President Hadley and the only statement he would make concerning it, when interviewed, was that he thought the facts in it could be substantiated.

Shortly after this, the fact became known that President Hadley had contemplated retiring from the Board of Editors of the Review at the end of the current year. The fact that he intended to do this from the moment he was elected President and had remained on the Board only because it was more natural to retire at the end of the year, was not taken into account; but this dispatch followed the other as an evidence that pressure of public opinion was too strong and the President of Yale was forced to clear himself of any possibility of repeating a criticism of the Government.
