FRESHMEN WIN REGATTA.

Sophomores Beat the Juniors—Good Rowing Weather.

Rowing certainly does not seem to possess the attractions in the Fall that make it an absorbing sport in the Spring, as anyone who went to Lake Whitney last Saturday would readily admit. The day was set for Yale's Fall regatta and surely no better day could possibly have been hit upon, for the sun was warm and bright and only the leaves along the banks turning to yellow and red and brown gave any hint of approaching Winter. As usual, a considerable number of townspeople, about three-fourths of whom were ladies, watched the races, but the student attendance was small. This did not mean that rowing interest at Yale is failing, but that King Football had summoned his subjects to many gridirons where the crash of the battle was sweeter music than the splash of the oars.

The Fall regatta is a rather small affair always. Men are playing football and have no time to get into a boat. This year there were but two races, although three were scheduled, and the Freshmen were the victors. The first race was at 4 o'clock, between the Sophomore eight and the Junior four; the latter not being able to muster a full crew. For this discrepancy the Sophomores allowed their competitors 16 seconds handicap, and beat them out by two lengths. Time, 5 minutes 25½ seconds.

After a rest of half an hour the Sophomores raced down over the same course with the Freshmen eight, giving the latter 6 seconds handicap. Both crews got a good start and see-sawed down the lake until within a hundred yards of the finish, where the Sophomores had a lead of perhaps half a length. Here the Freshmen coxswain called for a spurt and his men responded gamely, following the professional rule of getting all the power possible, in whatever form comes the most convenient. There were certainly not less than eight distinct forms, as many as there were different colored rowing shirts in the boat, but somehow that boat began to gain and gain and finally shot over the line a winner by two feet, with port rowing 35 and starboard 40. Pure pluck gave the youngest class in the University the race, and they deserved it. Time 5 minutes 5½ seconds. This ended the regatta. Both races were rowed over the seven-eighths of a mile course.

The crews rowed as follows:

Junior (four-oared)—Bow, R. L. Atkinson; 2, R. P. Tyler; 3, P. L. Mitchell; 4, A. Cameron, Jr.; Coxswain, G. P. Chittenden.

Sophomore (eight-oared)—Bow, T. N. Troxell; 2, E. H. Benner; 3, L. H. Holt; 4, H. P. Rogers; 5, H. L. Laws; 6, G. G. Lincoln; 7, E. I. Low; 8, F. S. Warmouth (Capt.); Coxswain, M. K. Armstrong.

Freshman (eight-oared)—Bow, K. B. Schley; 2, T. R. Strong; 3, T. H.

Wickwire, Jr.; 4, H. M. Coffeen; 5, L. S. Kirtland; 6, J. L. Gilson; 7, R. Schley; 8, J. R. Coffin (Capt.); Coxswain, B. H. Lounsbury.

The officials were as follows: Referee, J. T. Whittlesey, '67 S.; Judges, for 1901, J. A. Keppleman, 1901; for 1902, N. A. Mason, 1902; for 1903, D. U. Cory, 1903. Time-keeper, H. P. Wickes, 1900. Starter, J. H. Niedecken, 1900. Committee on Banks, J. E. Davis, 1900; J. M. Patterson, 1901; A. Y. Wear, 1902, R. W. Griswold, 1902 S.

Yale's Paris Exhibit.

It has been decided by the Yale authorities that this University shall be well represented at the Paris Exposition next year. A committee consisting of Director Russell H. Chittenden of the Scientific School, Prof. Charles S. Hastings, and Prof. Charles E. Beecher of the Peabody Museum, was appointed some time ago to consider what should be sent, but at this writing only a part of the Peabody Museum exhibit has been definitely decided upon. The Museum exhibit will be thirty-five large photographs of the choicest specimens within its walls, and a set of twenty-three models, describing the teaching of fossils. On account of the liability to accident in the 5,000 miles journey which they would have to take, none of the valuable originals will be sent. The committee has until the middle of November to make the choice of exhibits, which will be shipped Dec. 1, for Paris.
