Kent Club.

The regular meeting of the Kent Club was held last night at the Law School. The subject was, "Resolved, That the United States Constitution should be amended so as to make an income tax constitutional." The speakers for the affirmative were Clarke, Berry and Bollman; for the negative, Hickey, Norman and Matheson. The judges awarded the decision to the affirmative. The subject for debate at the meeting on next Tuesday evening is, "Resolved, That the House of Representatives should deny Congressman-elect Roberts his seat in Congress."

As to Football Championships.

[Harvard Crimson.]

There is just one thing to be said about the football season of 1899 and that is (as we said before the Harvard-Yale game had been played) that football championships have become things of the past and any claim to that title this year must be based solely on conjecture. In a year which has been conspicuous for muddles, any college or university which makes such a claim must be regarded as caring less for football as a sport than as a means of advertising its athletics prowess. As President Hadley has said, "this is professionalism of the subtlest kind."

Robinson Latin Prizes.

The conditions under which the Lucius F. Robinson Latin Prizes will be awarded for the present College year, were announced by Prof. Peck, Thursday, November 30, as follows:

There will be two sets of prizes of $50, $30 and $20. The first set is open to members of the Sophomore class taking Latin. The second set is open to those members of the Junior and Senior classes who take three hours of Latin a week for the year. The competition will be based on three lines of work: 1, The Latin work of the year; 2, an examination on translation at sight; 3, an examination on Sallust, Cataline and Jugurtha. The examinations will be held in the first part of June.

Medical Journal Contents.

The December number of the Medical Journal, which appeared last week, contains the following articles: "A Successful Case of Gastro-enterotomy for Stricture of the Pylorus and Dilatation of the Stomach," by Charles E. Taft, M.D., Hartford, Conn.; "The Etiology of Acute Peritonitis," by Wm. L. Barber, M.D., Waterbury, Conn.; "The Diagnosis of Peritonitis," by W. H. Carmalt, M.D., Professor of Surgery in Yale University; "The Treatment of Acute Peritonitis," by T. H. Russell, M.D., Professor of Clinical Surgery in Yale University.

Holmes Revised.

[Hartford Courant.]

"O'er Princeton's sands," wrote Dr. Holmes, "the far reflections steal, where mighty Edwards stamped his iron heel." A revised version is now in order. 'Twas Princeton sand that laid the Hadleyans low, assisted by the wondrous toe of Poe.

CLEANED UP.

Hardly a violet left this year after the game. That's better than having thousands on hand, as after the game last year with its northeast storm. But we always mean to be ready for our customers whatever the risk.
