Wyoming Valley Dinner.

The Wyoming Valley Alumni Association held its annual dinner at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in the Westmoreland Club House, Saturday evening, January 6. The Hon. Stanley Woodward, '55, was the toastmaster of the evening and the following is the toast list:

- "The University," Dr. Edward B. Reed, '94.
- "Old Nassau," Maj. J. Ridgway Wright, Princeton.
- "The Bar", John D. Farnham, '90.
- "Caledonia," Dr. G. W. Guthrie, U. of P.
- "The College Man in Business," Charles J. Long, '82.
- "Goals from the Field," Frank W. Wheaton, '77.

Dr. Reed's address was an enthusiastic forecast of Yale under its new leadership, touching on the remodeling of the curriculum with the intention to so adapt the courses that a young man may complete his education in every branch at Yale without necessitating his going to any other institution.

Mr. Long spoke at length on the part that the college-bred man is playing and is more and more to play, in the development of the commercial interests of the country and in holding up standards of the highest business honor. He closed as follows:

"If before the soldier the figure of a great general is to loom up to render him brave and true, and before the men of science, truth is to shine from afar as the inspiring guide, why should not before the merchant who embarks in trade stand forth in proud vision the prosperous man of commerce, honored near and far for his spotless integrity and veracity, loved by his employes for the care with which he looks to their interests, to make them grow in independence as he grows, diffusing blessings to the community in which he lives, in support of all that is the embodiment of true enterprise.

"Has not the fashioning of such men been the crowning achievement of a great institution like Yale? Surely it was the sagacity of the merchant who first saw the admirable adaptation of this locality to the purposes of commerce, surely it was his public spirit that reserved for us the ample provision of this valley; surely it was his intelligence that planted on the shores of the Susquehanna many noble institutions. And in view of the national prosperity which promotes this broad land, let us rejoice.

"We have every reason to congratulate ourselves that Yale College has fulfilled its noblest function in the rearing of wise and magnanimous public-spirited men, of men, not merely equipped for specific pursuits, but accustomed to the most generous recognition of the responsibilities resting upon man as man."

After the regular toasts, Mr. S. Brinckerhoff Thorne, '96, spoke, devoting his remarks principally to Yale football.

The Association re-elected the following officers: President—Hon. Stanley Woodward, '55; Vice-President—Frank W. Wheaton, '77; Secretary and Treasurer—Charles N. Loveland, '94; Executive Committee—William H. Conyngham, '89 S., Frank E. Donnelley, '93, Henry McL. Harding, '75.

The following were present: '55—Judge Stanley Woodward; '59—Felix Ansart; '75—Henry M. Harding; '77—Frank W. Wheaton; '80—John S. Harding; '82—Charles J. Long, Levi I. Shoemaker; '83—Frank Cunningham of New York, J. B. Woodward, T. R.

Ninety-Six Dinner.

The annual New York Ninety-Six Dinner is to be held at the Yale Club, No. 17 East Twenty-Sixth Street, New York, on Saturday, January 27, 1900, at 7 o'clock.

The committee in charge announces that Cordial Welcomes to this Agreeable Game are for sale at two dollars each, net. This purely nominal outlay includes rich red wine, imported cigars, instrumental music and a speech by Chairman Peck—everything in fact excepting car fare. Last Winter's large gathering and the enthusiastic character of the Triennial Reunion indicate that a very full attendance may be expected this year. Every Ninety-Six man is invited, and those who have not yet received personal notices are requested to communicate with one of the undersigned immediately, as the Club's seating capacity is limited.

McKee Dunn McKee, 17 East 26th St., New York; J. Frederick Eagle, 40 Wall St., New York; Johnston deForest, 40 Wall St., New York; Clarence S. Day, Jr., 40 Wall St., New York.

The... Long Pull

From January to June, and then twenty minutes of a long, strong pull and it's all over—victory or defeat. What a siege that is! And think of the substitutes who get all the worst of it and none of the best of it. They are beginning now to reward members of second elevens. Where do crew substitutes come in? Most arrangements are now made for the great intercollegiate contests of the Spring and Summer of 1900. We know that from consulting our order books.
