LIFE INSURANCE FILLS THE BREACH,

THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA

A Man's Earning Capacity

Is a productive property—upon it depend for support his wife and children, and all his social and personal interests. So long as that earning power continues, his family are provided for, but it is always an uncertain property. Ill health may destroy it. It always ceases with the life of the man who exercises it. The necessities of the family do not cease with it, however; they continue, though the income stops. How, then, are they to be provided for?

Moody Memorial Services.

The memorial service for the late Dwight L. Moody, was held in the Hyperion Theater, Sunday, Jan. 14, at half past three in the afternoon, and was attended by more than 2,000 students of the University and townspeople. Pierce N. Welch, Yale '62, presided and a chorus of 150 singers from the College sat upon the stage. Mr. Ira D. Sankey made the principal address, in which he told of the simplicity, faith, and singleness and intensity of purpose of the great evangelist. Other speakers were: Rev. Gardiner Eldridge, Rev. F. A. Brown, Rev. W. J. Lotze, Rev. A. F. Irvine, Mr. Fenno, Secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., Professor George P. Fisher and William S. Coffin, 1900. Mr. Coffin, speaking for the University, told of Yale's great loss in the death of Mr. Moody.

At 5 o'clock a memorial service was held in Dwight Hall which was attended by more than 100 undergraduates, many of whom testified to the powerful influence for good that Mr. Moody exercised on their lives. A quartet from the Mount Hermon School sang several selections. The meeting was closed with the appointment of a committee to draw up a set of resolutions that would fitly express the sympathy of the students for the family of Mr. Moody.

At the meeting in the afternoon, Dr. Fisher said:

"I will relate an incident which illustrates Mr. Moody's sincerity and courageous frankness, as well as kindness. I once passed an evening in company with Mr. Thurlow Weed, who was long a leader in the politics of New York, and in the civil war was sent abroad by Mr. Lincoln on a kind of unofficial embassy, to confer with men of power in England. In the course of a long conversation, Mr. Weed asked me if I knew Mr. Moody, and added that Mr. Moody wrote to him an excellent letter which he would like me to read. It was in acknowledgment of a very generous contribution from Mr. Weed to defray the expenses of the meetings held by Mr. Moody in New York, in the 'tabernacle' erected for the purpose. Mr. Weed did not himself mention the occasion of the letter, but he afterwards sent to me a copy of it. This is the letter:

"197 Madison Ave., New York, April 10, 1876.

MR. WEED,

My Dear Friend—Yours of the 20th of March with check came to hand yesterday and I am at a loss to know what to do. I am afraid you may put it in with some other good deeds and they may keep you from coming to Christ as a lost sinner. I wish you knew how anxious I am for you and how I long to see you out and out on the Lord's side. I thank you for the money, but what would you say if I should treat your gift as you have the gift of God and send it back to you, would you not be offended? Now as I take your gift, will you not take God's Gift and let us rejoice together. I cannot bear to leave the city and leave you out of the Ark that God has provided for you and all the rest of us. Hoping to hear soon of your conversion, I remain your Friend and Brother (I hope) in Christ."

(Signed) D. L. Moody.

A Statement from Pres. Hadley.

On his return to New Haven last Friday, President Hadley gave to the Associated Press the following statement, in answer to their request to say something about his position on "Trusts":

"My position with regard to 'Trusts' has been that most of the evils attributed to them are due to other causes. The real evils can be cured better by publicity and enforced responsibility of directors than by repressive legislation. A full account of these statements is given in a magazine for November last. "The alleged quotations with regard to social ostracism grew out of a chance remark in the course of a talk before business men of Denver. Social ostracism will serve as a remedy for any public evil. It is in fact the only effective remedy. It applies to evils connected with trusts in the same way that it does to any other form of commercial wrong. I did not suggest the ostracism of trusts, but of the individuals who grossly abuse the powers which the existence of trusts places in their hands."

President Hadley Home.

President and Mrs. Hadley returned to New Haven Saturday, Jan. 20, from their long Western trip. Both were in good health.

SCHOOL NOTES.

CUTLER'S HOCKEY RECORD.

The Cutler Hockey Team began practice at St. Nicholas Rink on November 15th, and has been improving rapidly since that date, under the captaincy of William H. Gelshenen, Jr. Four of last year's championship team graduated in the Spring: William L. Gunther (Capt.) Charles R. Auchincloss, Yale 1903; Frederick C. Inman, Yale 1902 S., and Howard R. Ward, but their places have been well filled with the new material.

The first game of the season was played against the Drisler School Team on Dec. 1st, and resulted in a victory for Cutler with the score of 4 to 0. Cutler also beat the Columbia University Team by 1 to 0 on Dec. 5th. The Columbia men were much heavier than the Cutler Team, and was made up of much more experienced players. A most interesting game was played Dec. 23, against the team of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., the final score being 3 to 2 in Cutler's favor. The Cutler Alumni lined up against the school team Dec. 26, and defeated the latter with a score of 5 to 0. Three of the alumni are playing on either University or Athletic Club Teams, among them Frederick C. Inman, Yale 1902 S. On January 3d a tie game of 1 to 1 was played with the seven of Princeton University. Warren made the goal for Cutler. On January 4th, Cutler defeated the Pomfret School Team 2 to 0. Warren scored both points for Cutler.
