

YALE OBITUARIES.

FRANK J. BROWN, '93.

Frank J. Brown, '93, City Attorney of New Haven, died in this city February 14 after a long and trying illness. A sketch of his life, prepared for the WEEKLY, received too late for use in this number, will appear next week.

DE FOREST BALDWIN, '99.

DeForest Baldwin, '99, a student in the Graduate Department of the University, died from enlargement of the heart at the home of his parents on Crown Street, New Haven, Friday morning, February 2. He was sick only a short time.

Mr. Baldwin was born in Philadelphia, April 20, 1878, and prepared for College at a military college in Pennsylvania and at the Hopkins Grammar School in New Haven. After graduation last June he entered the Graduate Department and was studying for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, doing special work in Mineralogy and Chemistry. Mr. Baldwin was collaborator with Prof. Gooch on an article on Chemistry which has been published in Germany.

At a meeting of the twenty-five resident members of the Class of Ninety-Nine, Tuesday evening, February 6, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst our beloved classmate, DeForest Baldwin; and

"Whereas, We, his classmates, appreciate the loss we have sustained by his death; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we express our appreciation of his quiet manliness and noble principles, and that we tender our heartfelt sympathy to his parents and family in their bereavement; and further, be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to them.

"For the Class,

Funeral of Lieutenant Cheney.

The funeral of the late Ward Cheney, '96, First Lieutenant 4th Infantry, U. S. A., was held on Friday, February 16, at South Manchester. The services were in Cheney Hall. The members of Company G under command of J. Davenport Cheney, Lieutenant Cheney's brother, acted as escort. The friends who attended from Manchester, from Hartford and from other more distant places crowded the hall where the services were held. Among those in attendance was Lieutenant Dorey of the Fourth Infantry, home on sick leave, who accompanied the body on the voyage from Manila; members of the Hartford Courant staff, and a large number of Lieutenant Cheney's classmates; all but one member of the Skull and Bones Society to which he belonged, attended, and this one was absent on account of illness.

Among others in attendance was ex-President Dwight of Yale, also representatives of the Army and Navy Club and of the Sixteenth Connecticut Volunteers, of which Lieutenant Cheney's father, F. W. Cheney, was Colonel. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Biddle of the Episcopal Church, of which Lieut. Cheney was a member, and he was assisted by Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., '96. A choir of Yale men sang several hymns. Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, '59, delivered the address, from which extracts can be made in another issue of the WEEKLY, as a corrected copy of it has not reached the paper in time for insertion in the current number.

The bearers were eight classmates—Messrs. Beard, Brown, McKee, Neale, Treadway, Weyerhauser, S. B. Thorne and S. Thorne. The service at the Cemetery was according to the traditions of the family; the brothers of Ward taking entire charge of the interment. A squad from Company G fired three volleys and the bugle sounded taps. During the hours of the funeral all places of business in South Manchester were closed.

Mr. Whitney Purchases Outing.

Mr. Caspar Whitney has made the following announcement: "Fulfilling my promise of December to supply you with details concerning the proposed publishing house devoted to the literature of sport, travel and adventure, I beg to inform you that, in conjunction with ten others, I have bought Outing and will forthwith become its Editor. The 'others' are: Fletcher Harper, the great grandson of one of the three original founders of Harper & Brothers; Robert Bacon, one of the Corinthian yachtsmen that sailed Columbia against Shamrock; David M. Goodrich, Captain Harvard '98 Crew; S. R. Bertron and Walter Camp, both old Yale athletes; C. C. Cuyler, the well-known Princeton ex-athlete; S. F. Houston, the prominent University of Pennsylvania alumnus; T. D. M. Cardeza, who lives in Philadelphia when not seeking new fields for exploration and big game; and Charles Hodgman, an all-round sportsman of St. Louis, devoted especially to polo and hunting.

"These names are mentioned only to suggest the strength of the corporation and the character of the magazine likely to result. Apart from writers best qualified in the field of sport, pure and simple, Outing also includes among its prospective contributors, Rudyard Kipling, Ernest Seton-Thompson, Governor-General Leonard Wood, Frederic Remington, John Fox, Jr., Governor Theodore Roosevelt, Paul Du Chaillu, C. Grant La Farge, Richard Harding Davis, Gilbert Parker, W. A. Fraser, F. C. Selous, Paul Leicester Ford, Henry Savage Landor, Owen Wister, Charles F. Lummis, Jesse Lynch Williams; and among its artists, A. B. Frost, Howard Pyle and Walter Appleton Clark, in addition to Mr. Remington. Every department of sport will be treated by only experienced and able writers, and the field of travel and adventure, by men best fitted to entertain and instruct. In short, it is our intention to develop Outing to the utmost magazine limits of its especial field, which we shall further cover by the publication of books, timely and interesting, and later, a weekly of current comment."

Universal Athletics.

That is the goal and—it is pleasant to say—the present tendency of the changes in athletic policy in the great universities. Over four hundred men were on the water at one time last season at Harvard. To-day the streets of New Haven are fairly alive with athletes on their runs. It's fine. One of the incidental results of Universal Athletics is to more thoroughly acquaint every university and college man with the name of
