of March 28, at the Fort Orange Club, Albany, N. Y., and a large attendance is expected. Those who have the arrangements in hand for this year are: Lieut.-Governor T. L. Woodruff, '79; Lewis R. Parker, '92; Col. George Curtis Treadwell, '93 S.; Charles E. McElroy, '95 S., and Mr. McChesney of Troy. A quartette from the Yale Glee Club is expected and some representative of the Yale Faculty, Julian T. Curtiss of New York City and several other out of town speakers will be present.

Eighty-Five Reunion.

The members of the Class of Eighty-Five, from New York City and near to it, held an annual reunion on the evening of March 23, at the Yale Club. It proved a most successful affair. The quin-decennial committee made a preliminary report, and suggestions as to the celebration to be held in New Haven in June were made by different men. The notice for that celebration will be sent out in the course of a few weeks. Speeches were informal and singing seemed to fill the bill. The following were the subscribers and nearly all of them were present: Adece, Anderson, Brooks, Bertron, Blake, J. L. Buel, S. Brace, Bigelow, Carhart, Cross, Cutler, Colt, Colgate, Culbert, S. Ely, Eaton, Fresenius, Flint, Green, Hunter, Hubbard, Hough, S. Jackson, Mansfield, Mangam, S. Maxwell, Napier, Schultze, Storrs, Sands, Tomes, Terry, Vernon, Williams, S. Worcester.

YALE OBITUARIES.

DR. OLIVER PAYSON HUBBARD, '28.

Dr. Oliver Payson Hubbard, '28, the last member of the Class, died at his home in New York City, Saturday, March 9.

Dr. Hubbard was born at Pomfret, Conn., March 31, 1809. After spending two years at Hamilton College he entered Yale in the Junior year of the Class of 1828. After graduation he spent three years in teaching in Geneva, N. Y., and from 1831 till 1836 was assistant to Professor Benjamin Silliman in the Yale Chemical Laboratory, where he aided Charles Goodyear in his early experiments with India rubber. In the latter year he was appointed to the professorship of Chemistry, Mineralogy and Geology in Dartmouth College, retaining that position for thirty years. He resigned his work of that chair in 1866, but retained his lectures in the Medical School connected with the College until 1883, when he was made Professor Emeritus. Dr. Hubbard was one of the founders of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1848 and was Secretary of the Association from 1885 to 1892 and President from 1892 to 1893. He was also one of the founders of the Association of American Geologists and Naturalists, in 1841. Through the greater part of his life he wrote for historical and scientific magazines and published among others, these works: "Early History of the New Hampshire Medical Institution, and its founder, Dr. Nathan Smith"; "Transactions of New Hampshire State Medical Society," and a history of Chandler School (Dartmouth College). Dr. Hubbard published, in 1808, when he was the sole survivor of his class, a very complete list of biographical sketches of his classmates, together with a great deal of interesting information about college customs in 1828. He received the degrees of M.A. from Yale and Dartmouth, of M.D. from South Carolina Medical College and of LL.D. from Hamilton College.

Dr. Hubbard was married May 17, 1837, to Faith Wadsworth, daughter of Prof. Benjamin Silliman, who died in 1887. Two children survive him.

THE REV. SHEARJASHUB BOURNE, '49.

The Rev. Shearjashub Bourne, '49, died at his home in New York City, March 21, of a general breaking up of the system, due to old age.

Mr. Bourne was born at Bristol, L. I., N. Y., Dec. 28, 1822. After a short time spent in teaching school in Kentucky, he entered the Andover Theological Seminary, where he studied three years. In 1854 he was called to the Congregational Church in Flushing, L. I., where he preached till ill-health compelled him to give up the work in 1859 and engage in business. In 1862 he resumed his work in the ministry and established a Congregational Church in Harlem, N. Y., of which he was pastor till 1870. Returning ill-health compelled him to travel abroad for some time. Later he held pastorates at Ellington, Conn., and Paterson, N. J. In 1889 he organized the Fourth Congregational Church of New York, and was its pastor until his retirement from active duties in 1895.

Mr. Bourne married Miss Susan Ketchum, July 15, 1863. Six of his seven children are living.

CHAMPION BISSELL, '50.

Champion Bissell, '50, died at his home in New York City, Jan. 1, 1900, of heart failure brought on by an attack of the grip.

Mr. Bissell has been engaged in mercantile pursuits in New York City most of the time since graduation. In 1852 he edited and published the American Whig Review, and later published the Tolland County (Conn.) Herald. He also published, for a time, the Paper Trade Reporter in New York City. In 1860 published a volume "The Panic and Other Poems." Mr. Bissell was married twice. Seven children survive him.

EDWARD SANFORD, '54.

Edward Sanford, '54, died Sunday, March 18, at his home in Morris, Ill. of pneumonia.

Mr. Sanford was born at Saybrook, Conn., August 28, 1833. Immediately after graduation he moved to Morris, Ill., where he has made his home ever since. He was Principal of the Morris Normal and Scientific School for several years, but in the late fifties began the study of law and was admitted to the Illinois bar. At the time of his death he was Solicitor, in his vicinity, for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and the Chicago, St. Louis and Western Railroads. Besides this he devoted a considerable part of his time to real estate business. Mr. Sanford was married in 1855 to Miss Reading, daughter of Hon. James N. Reading of Morris, Ill., who survives him with three sons and a daughter.

CHARLES WASHBURN CADY, 1901.

Charles Washburn Cady, 1901, the youngest son of ex-Lieutenant Governor Cady of Connecticut, died of pneumonia, at his home in Hartford, Sunday, March 25, after an illness of only a few days.
