

Report of Scientific School Portrait Fund Committee.

The committee of the Portrait Fund of the Sheffield Scientific School announces to its subscribers through the ALUMNI WEEKLY, that the second oil painting, that of Prof. Brewer, has for some time been finished and delivered to the Governing Board; that all bills are now paid, and that the cash balance of $25.10 is deposited in the New Haven Savings Bank to the credit of the Fund. Attest: Henry B. Sargent, Treasurer. Audited, vouchers examined and correct. Signed, F. L. Bigelow, February 17, 1900.

Wigwam Debaters Win.

The Junior Wigwam and Junior Wranglers held a debate at the Tontine Hotel, March 21, the subject for discussion being whether the Hay-Pauncefote treaty should be ratified by the Senate or not. R. H. Edwards, 1901, presided. The judges, F. A. Lord, '98; A. D. Leavitt, 1900, and E. W. Ong, 1900, awarded the debate to the negative, supported by the Wigwam. The order of speaking was, on the affirmative: Hugh Auchincloss, G. G. Henry, J. A. Parker; on the negative, W. B. Howe, J. M. Patterson and Julian Day.

Yale-Princeton Debate.

The subject for the Yale-Princeton debate, which will be held May 8, at Princeton, has been announced by Princeton, who had the choice of the question. It is: "Resolved, That the Hay-Pauncefote treaty should be ratified in the form in which it was originally submitted to the Senate"; (it being understood that any change in the terms of the treaty, or any action by the Senate affecting the treaty, is not germane to the question at issue.) The choice of sides on this question is left to Yale, who will probably not announce the one she will take, before April 10, the day Princeton requires her answer.

Cambridge and Oxford.

The athletic games between Oxford and Cambridge (Eng.), were held at the Queen's Club Grounds, London, Friday afternoon, March 30. Oxford was the victor, winning six out of the ten events. Cambridge was superior on the track, but in the weights and jumps Oxford outclassed her. On the following day the annual boat race between the two Universities was rowed on the Thames river over a course of 4 miles and 440 yards, Cambridge here redeemed herself, winning by twenty boat lengths; at one time she was forty lengths in the lead, but from that time she paddled easily, nevertheless equalling the record for the course—18 minutes and 47 seconds. Oxford's time was 20 minutes and 45 seconds, and her crew was in great distress at the finish.

Accident to G. Beardsley, '03.

Last week, Glover Beardsley, 1903, while fixing a fountain pen, accidentally broke the point from which it flew and struck him in the sight of his right eye. A local oculist, who was consulted, feared a total loss of sight, and sent him to a New York specialist. The latter reports that the eye can probably be saved, but a long rest will be necessary. Mr. Beardsley was a contributor to the ALUMNI WEEKLY, in the News Freshman competition.
