

Yale 20; N. Y. University 8.

The Yale Nine opened the playing season at the Field Saturday, March 31, by a game with New York University, and although the weather was cold and raw, there was exceptionally good play for the first of the season. Sixteen men were given an opportunity to play in the nine innings, including four pitchers and two catchers. Garvan, a brother of Frank P. Garvan, '97, was in the box for the first four innings and did good work, giving but one base on balls, striking out four men, and fielding his position well. Russell, who succeeded him in the fifth, was very erratic and was mainly responsible for the four runs scored by the New York players in that inning. McKelvey and E. Wescott, who were tried in the last portion of the game, did fairly well. Sullivan caught for the first four innings, Cunha finishing the game. The infield work was remarkably fast and clean. Sharpe, the half-back of last year's football eleven, was at first base, and though green, showed qualities which should make him a fixture at that position. He is over six feet tall and throws left-handed with speed and accuracy. The high wind made the work of the outfield very ragged. In batting Yale showed to good advantage, and gave the spectators the right to expect something unusual from this year's team in the batting line. The score:

At a meeting of the Record Board, March 7, James Layng Mills, 1901, of Philadelphia was elected an editor of the paper, completing the Nineteen Hundred and One Board. An organization meeting of the Board was held two days later and Henry Hall Christian, Minneapolis, Minn., was chosen Chairman, and Frederick Reynolds Haight of New Haven, Business Manager.

Athletic Notes.

The Yale Freshman Basketball team was defeated by the Mount Vernon High School team at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., March 16, by the score of 12 to 11.

The Yale Track management has decided to enter several athletes in the Princeton games at Princeton, April 21, but it is not yet decided who will be sent or what events will be entered.

The Executive Committee of the Intercollegiate Bicycle Association at its meeting in New York, Saturday, March 17, decided to hold its annual race meet at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, June 2.

At a meeting of all the students of Columbia University held on Friday, March 30, William Brock Shoemaker, 1902, was elected Manager of the University Football Team for the ensuing year, to succeed Mr. Mitchell.

The officers of the University Tennis Association have been elected for the coming year, as follows: President, S. L. Coy, 1901; Vice-President, C. L. Childs, 1901S.; Secretary and Treasurer, H. L. Galpin, 1902.

The Yale and Princeton gymnastic teams gave a joint exhibition of their skill at the Princeton gymnasium, Saturday evening, March 31. Yale's team was made-up of Capt. W. L. Otis, 1900; G. H. Whipple, 1900; H. G. Sanders, 1900; O. Crawford, 1901; F. B. Eiseman, 1901, and G. W. Albin, 1902.

Secretary Fred Fortmeyer of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen has received word from the Secretary of the Société d'Encouragements du Sports Nautique of France, which will control the rowing during the Paris Exposition next Summer, that the original dates in June have been changed to August 25 and 26 out of deference to the American crews which intend going over.

The officers of the Nineteen Hundred and One Freshman Navy have completed their report. It shows a total of $1,819.24 received, the greater part being from subscriptions. The expenditures amount to $1,817.57, of which the more important items are, as usual, training table, expenses at New London and uniforms. The delay in publishing the report has been caused by a few outstanding bills.

Contests are being held regularly in the Gymnasium to arouse interest in the high jumping event, where Yale has been weak for years. So far, there has been a good level of work, but no exceptional jumpers have appeared. The novices who have scored points in the preliminary trial are: E. L. Fox, 1902, 5 points, 5 feet, 3/4 inches; K. L. Burns, 1900, 3 points, 5 feet, 2/4 inches; J. W. De-crow, 1900, 1 point, 5 feet, 1/4 inches.

The Intercollegiate Cross Country Association held a meeting at the Columbia Gymnasium in New York, March 10, and elected these officers for next year: President, J. W. Jameson, Princeton; Secretary, H. H. Sweet, Cornell; Treasurer, C. A. Dana, Columbia; Managing Committee, P. Strong, Yale, Chairman; C. A. Dana, Columbia, and B. W. Frazier, Pennsylvania. The report of Treasurer J. P. Adams showed a balance of $114.16 in the treasury.

The management of the University Golf Association has announced the dates of their Spring tournaments as follows: April 7, Orford Golf Club at Manchester; April 21, Hartford Golf Club at Hartford; April 28, Brooklawn Golf Club at Bridgeport; May 5, Agawam Hunt Club at Providence; May 9, Orford Golf Club at New Haven; May 19, Philadelphia Cricket Club at Philadelphia; May 26, Wee Burn Golf Club at Noroton.

The challenge sent by the United States Tennis Association to the English Tennis Association, for a match, has been received with favor and in all probability a meeting of representatives of the two countries will be brought about. If the match is settled it will be played on the courts of St. George's Cricket Club at Hoboken, N. J., some time in the latter part of July. The plan is for two players in singles and one team in doubles to compete on each side.

Word has been received from the management of the Duquesne Gardens, the Pittsburg skating rink, that the proposed hockey game between Yale and Queen's University, of Kingston, Canada, cannot be arranged for this year. The Board of Health of Pittsburg has announced that the rink must be closed April 14, and as the Queen's College team cannot possibly be in Pittsburg until the sixteenth, negotiations have been broken off, and it has been definitely decided that the game will not be played.

Two important changes in the baseball rules for the coming season were made by the National Baseball League at its meeting in New York, March 9. Hereafter, a balk, or feint to throw, by the pitcher, meant to deceive a base runner, will permit base-runners to move along one base; but the batsman cannot go to first. It was decided also to change the shape of the home plate so that the pitcher will have the side of a square for a mark instead of the point. It is believed that, because of this change, bases on balls will be fewer.

The final gymnastic contest for the "Y," took place in the Gymnasium, March 16. The judges decided in favor of G. H. Whipple, who scored 3.08 points more than any other competitor. There were five entries, as follows: E. L. Eliason, 1900; R. L. Hinton, 1900; G. H. Whipple, 1900; W. L. Otis, 1900, and F. B. Eiseman, 1901. In addition to the regular contest there was a wrestling match and a 1903 competition for numerals, which was won by E. R. Crow. The judges were Mr. L. Leyerzaph, Mr. C. W. Maysner and Mr. R. Horn.

At a recent meeting of the Cornell Athletic Council changes were made, in the undergraduate representation in that body, which gives the undergraduates fuller powers in the government of their athletics. The Council was increased from fifteen to nineteen members, of which the undergraduates have one majority. The local graduate membership in the Council was reduced by one—from seven to six. At the same meeting the question of a graduate manager of athletics was discussed, but the result has not been announced. There seems, however, to be a strong sentiment for the appointment of such a manager.

At the intercollegiate fencing tournament, held at the Racquet and Tennis Club, New York, March 31, the Harvard team won first place, the Annapolis team second place, the Columbia team third place, the Cornell team fourth place and the Yale team fifth place.

The superiority of Harvard and Annapolis was apparent after the first bouts. This is the first time that Yale has entered a team in the intercollegiate tournament and the men have had but little practice. The Yale team was composed of S. N. Arnold, 1903, Captain; H. D. Stowe, 1900S., and H. W. King, 1901. A dual match between the Yale and Cornell teams will be held at Ithaca, May 18, and may become a permanent event.

The dates of tournaments of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association have been settled upon for the coming year. They are as follows: April 28, Interscholastic championships at Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, and Universities of Pennsylvania and Chicago; May 22, Southern championship at Kenwood Cricket Club, Chicago; July 23, Eastern championship at Longwood, Mass.; July 31, International championship at St. George's Cricket Club, Hoboken; August 14, National championship in singles and challenge matches in doubles at Newport, R. I.; Oct. 2, Intercollegiate championship at New Haven.

The Yale Tennis Association will have charge of the Interscholastic match April 28 and will award a championship banner to the school winning first prize.
