

As an educator he became known throughout the State and his advice and counsel were often sought. The High School building in Bristol was erected through his efforts and the High School course in its entirety established, with full equipment for all college preparatory work.

Mr. Jennings was married in 1882 to Miss Elizabeth Namoi Newell, who died in 1888. Three children were born to this marriage and two are now living, Newell Jennings and Joseph Jennings.

Roger S. Newell, '89 S., brother-in-law of Mr. Jennings, is the surviving partner in the law firm of Newell & Jennings. Mr. Jennings was a member of the University Club of New York, the Colonial Club of Hartford and the Country Club of Farmington.

JAMES PARSONS, '77 HON.

James Parsons, '77 Hon., died in Philadelphia Friday, March 23, aged 65 years. He was a graduate of Amherst College, and for many years had been Professor of Real and Property Law in the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Parsons, in his lifetime, contributed much to the literature of law, one of the best known of his writings being, "The Principles of Partnership." Yale gave him the degree of M.A. in 1877.

WILLIAM BRADBURY SPRING, EX-'82 S.

William Bradbury Spring, ex-'82 S., died of pneumonia at Autofagasta, Chile, September 17, 1898. He contracted the disease on a trip into Bolivia, in the rainy season, to attend to some mining property.

Mr. Spring was born January 5, 1860, at Portland, Me., and was the son of Andrew and Susan Bradbury. He entered Yale from Andover, but in his Junior year left college to take up his father's business at Buenos Ayres, South America. Since that time he has lived a portion of the time in Buenos Ayres and the remainder in Boston. He was married, September 27, 1894, to Miss Anne Francis Condon, who survives him.

MAURICE FITCH HAWKS, 1903.

Maurice Fitch Hawks, 1903, of Buffalo, N. Y., the only son of Edward C. and Amanda S. Hawks, died of appendicitis at the Yale Infirmary, Thursday, March 29. He had been ill only a few days, and his death was caused by heart failure, which followed the operation.

Mr. Hawks was born in Buffalo, December 4, 1880, and prepared for Yale at the Central High School of that city, and at Andover, where he spent one year. He was a member of the Apollo Banjo and Mandolin Club of Yale, and Secretary of the Freshman Debating Union.

A short funeral service was held in Battell Chapel, Friday afternoon, the Freshman Class attending in a body. The honorary pall-bearers from the Class were: Alan Fox, J. D. Perkins, Jr., E. C. Ostby, C. O. Day, G. E. Leonard, and C. J. Hamlin.

At a meeting of the Class held in Dwight Hall, Friday morning, a committee was appointed which drew up the following set of resolutions:

"Whereas, God in His Infinite Wisdom, has seen fit to call to the Life Eternal our beloved friend and classmate, Maurice Fitch Hawks, who was so deeply endeared to us by his upright manliness, and by his pure and earnest character, be it

"Resolved, That we, his Classmates, extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy, joining with them in their grief at the early termination of a life so full of promise; and that we wear a badge of mourning for thirty days, in token of our affection and esteem for him, whom God has taken; and be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to his family and printed in the Yale papers."

For the Class of 1903: C. J. Hamlin, G. E. Leonard, Alan Fox, E. C. Ostby, C. O. Day and J. D. Perkins, Jr.

NINETY, SCIENTIFIC.

The Class of Ninety, Scientific, is preparing for its decennial reunion. The committee in charge also hope to print, in connection with the reunion, a new record book. That the reunion may be a success and the class record feasible, it is necessary that full information about all members of the Class be obtained at the earliest possible date.
