Special Ninety-Seven Meeting.

A meeting of the members of the Class of Ninety-Seven residing in New York and vicinity will be held at the Yale Club, 17 Madison Square North, Friday, May 11, at 8 o'clock P. M., to take action on the death of Joseph W. Alport of the Class of Ninety-Seven, who died in the Philippines, on March 18, from wounds sustained in the battle of Marugino.

Ninety-Seven Triennial.

The preliminary notices of the Ninety-Seven Triennial Committee have been sent out, and the Committee expects to get a reply from every member of the class before May 15th. If you are doubtful about coming, let us know it. If your notice has been misdirected or for any other reason has not been received, or has been lost since being received, let us know and we will send you another one.

Don't let this matter lag and thus destroy our organization through lack of cooperation on the part of individuals. Send us a reply of some kind at once.

A great many men, who have announced their intention to be present, have left us in the dark as to whether they intend to avail themselves of our room accommodations or not. Kindly supply this information as we must close our contracts soon. The rates which we have arranged are considerably lower than those which prevail in New Haven during Commencement Week, and they have been secured by the Committee in order that the class might be together on this occasion. We hope, therefore, that these arrangements will be properly taken advantage of.

Send all communications and remittances to Albert B. Kerr, 30 Broad St., New York City.

WILLIAM DARRACH,
ALBERT B. KERR,
KNOX MADDOX,
Triennial Committee.

YALE OBITUARIES.

EDWARD STRONG MOSELEY, '33.

Edward Strong Moseley, '33, died at his home in Newburyport, Mass., Wednesday, April 25, from an attack of the grip, which was complicated with other diseases.

Mr. Moseley was born in Newburyport, Mass., June 22, 1813, and was the son of Hon. Ebenezer Moseley, Yale 1802, and Mary Ann, daughter of Edward Oxnard, Harvard 1767. He entered Yale with the Class of Thirty-Three, but left in the latter part of his Junior year to go into business, with the importing house of B. A. Gould of Boston, when he was given a testimonial or certificate of honorable dismissal by the College. Later on he was given his degree with the Class of Thirty-Three. For the last forty years Mr. Moseley has lived in Newburyport, where he has been for many years President of the Mechanics' [Continued on page 305.]
