

YALE NOTICES.

Notice to Graduates.

The attention of graduates in search of employment, as well as of those who have employment to offer, is directed to the work of the Committee on Business Information of the Yale Club, New York.

This Committee was organized for the purpose of assisting Yale men to obtain positions. It is not its purpose to single out a particular applicant and work to secure him a place. It does aim, however, to let men looking for places know of openings as these may come to its notice. Accordingly it invites correspondence from both those who are looking for positions and those who are looking for men.

The Committee wishes it understood that it cannot under any circumstances undertake to find "summer work" for undergraduates. To do its work well for graduate applicants will take all the time at its disposal.

Applications will be received from men seeking openings in any branch of business or in any of the professions, and graduates who have employment of any description to offer are earnestly requested to communicate with the Committee. The Committee cannot, of course, be personally responsible for the character of men it may refer to those who may have employment to offer, but it can and will take pains to refer only such applicants as may come to it well recommended.

Applicants for positions should state age, previous business training (if any), course pursued at college, what references they can furnish if required, nature of position desired, salary expected, etc. Those offering employment are requested to give the exact nature of the position offered, requirements, salary, etc.

Communications may be sent to the Committee on Business Information, Yale Club, 17 East 26th Street, New York, or to the Secretary, George P. Day, 45 Wall Street, New York.

Sixty Reunion.

The Class of Sixty have decided to celebrate their fortieth anniversary in New Haven, June 26, and a full attendance is expected. Room 25, Insurance Building, 890 Chapel Street, between Temple and Church Streets, has been engaged for the use of the Class, day and evening, June 26. Take elevator under arch on the left. A preliminary and business meeting of the Class will be held at eleven o'clock in Room 175, Lyceum. Immediately after the adjournment of this meeting a picture of the Class will be taken on the steps of the Library Building.

From there, the Class will go to the old Library, where the Class Ivy will be replanted, for which purpose Mrs. Champion has furnished a slip which is a grandchild of the original Ivy. Lunch will be served in the class room in the Insurance Building at one o'clock, and at five-thirty the Class Prayer Meeting will be held in Room 175, Lyceum. Rooms can be had for $1 per day, by applying to the Janitor of Divinity Hall, E. T. Hill. Rooms and board at the New Haven House, $4 a day; at the Tontine, rooms $1.50 and $2 per day, restaurant attached. Rooms at the Hotel Davenport (formerly the Tremont), $1.00 and $1.50, or on the American plan, $2.00 and 2.50 a day.

The Secretary will be at the New Haven House the evening of June 23, and part of the time during the day and evening of the two days following. Information as to intentions of several members in regard to this reunion are waited for with no small interest. If any one cannot come let him send a good letter, at least. One of the most interesting meetings in the history of the Class is expected. Let the spirit of Yale and Sixty move everyone who can to be present.

THE SECRETARY.

Eighty-Five Quin-Decennial.

The Quin-Decennial Committee requests all those members of the Class who have not answered the circular in regard to the celebration, kindly to do so at once. The business meeting will be held for the Academics on June 26th, at noon, in Osborn Hall, and for Sheffield at 11 A. M. in North Sheffield Hall. The dinner will be served on that day at 7 o'clock, in the Anderson Gymnasium, at 307 York Street. The amount to be paid by each one attending has been fixed at $6.00. But, as a style of entertainment has been planned including a band, admission and reserved section for the ball game, beyond $6.00, an extra fund must be raised, and each one is invited to add a liberal subscription to his remittance of $6.00. As a portion of the expenses, such as for printing, postage, stationery, etc., is incurred for the benefit of the whole class, and not confined to the use of those attending the celebration, it is requested that those who are unable to be present, remit $2.00 for general class purposes.

Remittances and replies should be sent to Emile Schultze, Jr., 141 Broadway, New York, N. Y. About sixty have thus far decided to participate.

Ninety-Six Memorial Gateway.

The Committee appointed by the Class of Ninety-Six to take charge of erecting a gateway to the memory of Gerard M. Ives and Ward Cheney, are bringing matters into final shape to begin the work. To reach such members of the Class as have not received the notices mailed to them, it was thought well to make this announcement in the WEEKLY. All those who desire to join in this project will confer a favor upon the Committee by communicating with H. J. Fisher, 135 Madison Avenue, New York City, as soon as possible.

Ninety-Seven Triennial.

The Triennial Committee takes pleasure in announcing that in response to the circular of April 10 replies have been received from nearly all of the Class. It is now confidently expected that 180 men will be back at Triennial. Although all our contracts have been closed, our arrangements have been made on a sufficiently liberal scale to enable us yet to provide accommodations for the few who have not responded, provided that they let us hear from them soon. No applications for accommodations of any kind will be received after June 23d. All of the rooms in Kent and Duncan Halls which were at the disposal of your Committee have now been engaged. Your Committee has made arrangements, however, whereby a limited number of rooms at the Hotel Davenport will be provided on direct application at any time before June 26th, the rate being $1.00 per day.

The headquarters of the Class will be at 176 Lyceum (unless otherwise announced by Campus poster), where members of the Class are requested to report and register on their arrival in New Haven. Dinner and baseball tickets will be given out at the business meeting of the Class, which will be held at the Class headquarters at 10.30 A. M. Tuesday, and which all must attend. Special Triennial coats and hats will be provided for a trifling sum, and each man is expected to secure one and also to bring white duck trousers to wear on this occasion.

The program of the occasion has already been given; any changes therein will be announced by poster.

Send remittances to Albert B. Kerr, 30 Broad Street, New York City.

Commencement Day and Other Information.

Information about class reunions or order of exercises of Commencement Day or of other matters, which alumni in New Haven desire and which they have not already secured from the WEEKLY, may be obtained in the alumni room in the ALUMNI WEEKLY offices, 1016 Chapel Street.

The Commencement procession will form in the College Square at 9.45. The official order of exercises will give the details as to order of formation and seating in chapel. This will be posted at Osborn Hall by Saturday.

The Marshal will be Prof. J. C. Schwab, and his aides Dr. L. W. Bacon, Dr. W. B. Bailey, Mr. J. P. Morton. There will follow a color guard, bearing flags of United States, Yale, and then a student chorus. Then will follow candidates for degrees as follows:

Candidates for degree of B.A., Mr. H. B. Wright, marshal; candidates for degree of Ph.B., Prof. Beach, marshal; candidates for degree of B.F.A., Mr. Langzettel, marshal; candidates for degree of LL.B., Professors Foster and Beers, marshals; candidates for degree of B.D., Mr. Hess, marshal; candidates for degree of M.A., Mr. John Swift, marshal; candidates for degree of M.S., C.E., M.E., Prof. Beach, marshal; candidates for degree of M.L., D.C.L., Professors Foster and Beers, marshals; candidates for degree of M.D., Prof. Ferris, marshal; candidates for degree of Ph.D., Mr. Nettleton, marshal.

Graduates will be drawn up in the order of graduation, and will follow the Corporation in procession, and will be seated in south and south center aisle.

The orchestra and chorus will be in west gallery as at Inauguration in October, 1899.

YALE GOLF

Is thriving, whatever critics may say about other branches of Yale athletics. It is natural for Yale to take a good place in any new branch of sport, and this time she will try to keep a lead.

The links of the New Haven Club, where the students play, are among the oldest and best in the country. Then there are the new Country Club links, although the Yale men seldom are on them. On both links the Vardon clubs are very popular. A. G. Spalding & Bros. make these, as they do about all the especially good things in athletics.
