

Hear "The Many Sided Franklin:"

"A policy of Life Assurance is the cheapest and safest mode of making a certain provision for one's family.

It is strange that men insure their houses, and yet neglect to insure their lives, surely more important to their families and far more subject to loss."

THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA,

JOHN F. DRYDEN, President.

Home Office, NEWARK, N. J.

THE PRUDENTIAL HAS OVER
$500,000,000
INSURANCE IN FORCE.

Those who have reserved or wish to reserve rooms in Divinity Hall, should write to the Committee immediately, stating the nights for which the rooms should be reserved. Rooms can only be engaged for two nights, and at the rate of $1.00 per night.

As was announced in the first circular, every member of the Class is expected, whether he can attend the reunion or not, to subscribe $5.00 to cover the general expenses of the Class meeting, the expenses of the Class Secretary and the cost of the Sexennial record, while for those who attended the dinner an additional $5.00 will be charged.

The success of the Sexennial reunion depends on your making every effort to come yourself and persuade the men around you to come.

Frank L. Polk, Letchworth Smith, James Crosby Brown, Committee.

YALE OBITUARIES.

JOHN ROBERT MILLS, '50.

John Robert Mills, '50, of Vicksburg, Miss., died at Brazoria, Texas, September 9, 1898.

Mr. Mills was born in Vicksburg, Miss., June 13, 1829. For three years after graduation he was engaged in mercantile business in New York City, and then moved to Galveston, Texas, where he entered the firm of R. & O. G. Mills. For the past twenty years he has resided as a planter in Brazoria, Texas.

DR. MELANCTHON STORRS, '52.

Dr. Melancthon Storrs, '52, died at his home at Hartford, Conn., Saturday morning, June 9, from blood poisoning, the result of a slight scratch received in operating on a patient a week previous.

Dr. Storrs was born in Westford, Conn., October 2, 1823, and fitted for College at Worcester Academy, entering the Class of Fifty-Two at Yale in the Fall of Junior year, having previously been a member of Brown University. During the year succeeding graduation he taught at the Deaf and Dumb Institution in New York City. In 1853 he received the degree of M.D. from the Yale Medical School, and began active practice at Colchester, Conn. At the outbreak of the Civil War, Dr. Storrs enlisted as Surgeon in the Eighth Connecticut Volunteers, serving throughout a greater part of the war as a Brigade Surgeon. He was with the brigade in the battles of Antietam, Cold Harbor and Fredericksburg. For some time he was engaged as Executive Surgeon at the General Hospital at Fortress Monroe, and for his services there he was highly commended by Dr. Edward McClellan, a regular army surgeon. During his entire service he was never off duty on account of sickness. On his return from the field Dr. Storrs took up his residence in Hartford, and practiced there until his death.

In 1890 Dr. Storrs attended the International Medical Conference at Berlin, where his paper on the "Infra Orbital Nerve" attracted much attention. In 1891 he was elected President of the Connecticut State Medical Society, and for over thirty-six years was Medical Advisor of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company.

On November 29, 1853, he married Miss Jane D. Adams of Boston, who died several years ago, leaving three children.

Mercurius Politicus.

The Yale Library has recently received, as a gift from G. Clinton Williams, Yale '47, a volume of the Mercurius Politicus (1650-1660), which is next to the last in the set, being printed about a month before the return of Charles II. An interesting fact about the volume is that it was evidently at one time one of the set which has been in the possession of the Yale Library for some years. A full set of this work is now held by Yale and the British Museum together, the Yale Library having the fifty-five volumes which the Museum lacks.

Downer McCord, 1901, has been appointed Manager of the Gymnastic Association for the coming year.

NEW YORK LAW SCHOOL,

NEW YORK CITY.

"Dwight Method" of Instruction.

Day School, 35 Nassau Street.

Evening School, 9 West 18th Street.

Summer School (Eight weeks, June-August), 35 Nassau Street.

Degree of LL.B. after two years' course; of LL.M. after three years' course. Prepares for bar of all States. Number of students for the past year (1898-99), 781, of whom 294 were college graduates. The method of study pursued aims to give the student a thorough knowledge of legal principles and of the reasons upon which they rest, and to render him well equipped for the practice of his profession. The location of the School in the midst of the courts and lawyers' offices affords also an invaluable opportunity to gain a knowledge of court procedure and the practical conduct of affairs.

Send for catalogue explaining Dwight Method, courses of study, etc., to GEORGE CHASE, DEAN, 35 Nassau Street.

Clark University.

[Hartford Courant.]

It is now perfectly clear that Clark University, such as Dr. Hall and his scholarly coadjutors have made it, was to the last a puzzle and a disappointment to its founder. His pet idea, as it lay in his own mind, was to provide a place where poor boys could get a sufficient education at a cheap rate. He started out to do at Worcester what Mr. Cornell had done at Ithaca. An institution for graduates only, devoted to original research, was something he did not understand and that did not appeal to him. He died unreconciled to it.
